If Opposition Would Shut Up

Big, Sham Battle for Pensioners' Favor

BY FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The House of Commons is locked in a sham battle as the politicians compete to win the favor of the nation's needy old age pensioners.

New Democrats won't let Commons business continue until the government has promised a substantial increase to the existing $75 a month pensions.

Health Minister Allan MacEachen has such an announcement to make but he won't make it until the opposition stops calling for it because the government doesn't want to appear to be giving in to opposition pressure.

The Conservatives keep popping in between with demands for a $100 pension and their criticism of the Canada Assistance Plan, the subject of the current debate.

The stalemate could end Monday when New Democrats run out of speakers. If it does, Mr. MacEachen will announce a program to provide more money for pensioners who won't receive money under the Canada Pension Plan.

The minister plans to make a general statement of government principle, without mentioning the amounts.

However, it was learned Thursday the new program is designed to provide a guaranteed income to these old people of $105 per month.

That's $1,250 a year, the amount recommended by the Croll Senate committee on aging several months ago. This will apply to people born before Jan. 1, 1910.

These people will still be ebigible for more money under the Canada Assistance Plan if they can demonstrate they need

Timber Tycoon Collapses

VANCOUVER (CP) — Timber magnate H. R. MacMillan was rushed to hospital here Thursday after he collapsed during a tour of a new fish-packing plant in nearby Steveston.

Mr. MacMillan, 81, former chairman of the board of MacMillan, Bloedel Ltd., collapsed while on a tour of B.C. Packers' new Imperial plant.

Hospital officials said Mr. MacMillan was in "fair" condition.

Coup by Air Fails in Iraq

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqui government of President Abdel Rahman Aref announced Thursday night it had smashed an attempted coup by a group of officers supported by army and air force units.

Seven air force planes strafed and bombed the presidential palace in Baghdad, home for Aref, and killed two persons and injured six, reports said.

An announcement by the president said the ringleaders of the plot had been arrested. They included Aref Abdel Razzak, former premier and air force chief who led an unsuccessful coup against the government last September.

SUPPORT VOICED

The president's statement said all was quiet in the country, but border police were ordered to arrest any persons trying to flee the country.

Baghdad radio broadcast cables of support from the commander of the Iraqi Air Force, the commander of the presidential guard, the divisional commanders and the chiefs of military units stationed in Baghdad.

TAKE 'LEGAL ACTION'

"Legal action" has been taken against the plotters, Baghdad radio said. This appeared to be an indication that they had been swiftly court-martialled and possibly executed.

Iraq's borders and airports were closed and the government ordered a daily curfew.

The motivation of the coup remained unclear. But from brief communiques broadcast by the rebels in the early hours of the revolt it appeared to be an attempt to rush Iraq into union with the United Arab Republic and steer it on a leftist course.

Next Paper On Sunday

The Colonist staff will observe the Dominion Day holiday today, and there will be no paper Saturday morning. Next paper will appear Sunday morning.

Man Overcome

Fire Hits Menzies Suite

An elderly man was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital just after midnight suffering smoke inhalation when fire swept through his apartment at 206 Menzies.

C. G. Smith, who occupies the apartment right above Peacey's Drug Store at the corner of Menzies and Simcoe Streets, was reported in fair condition by hospital authorities.

Chief William Blair was in charge of the three-unit fire detail which managed to keep the blaze from spreading to other segments of the old frame apartment building.

WORKING LATE

The apartments are owned by John A. Peacey, who was working late in his store at the time the alarm was turned in.

"The first I knew anything was wrong was when I heard this stamping on the floor above my head," he said.

Firemen said the blaze appeared to start in a waste basket in Mr. Smith's bathroom.

"This caps the worst day of the year for me," said Mr. Peacey sardonically.

CBC Planning Announcement

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC board of governors has announced it will make public next week "certain decisions" relating to the Seven Days controversy.

Dominican Rioting Injures Six

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—At least six persons were reported wounded Thursday when police fired into a rock-throwing crowd in front of the Reformist party headquarters in the Dominican capital.

The incident marred the festive mood awaiting the inauguration Friday of President-elect Joaquin Balaguer.

Eyewitnesses said students from a nearby school engaged Reformist party partisans in an argument in front of party headquarters. The scuffle turned into a near riot and when police arrived some in the crowd hurled rocks. The police then fired one burst that dispersed the rioters.

The Reformist party is headed by Balaguer.

Birth-Rate Dive Alarms Doc

Who Will Support Aged of Future?

By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Is it the pill . . . or is it the lusher way of life?

Never has the Canadian birth rate down-thumped the way it has these last two years.

Off 15 per cent.

Cut 5.6 per cent just this May.

Sliced 7.1 per cent in the first five months of the year.

These are the official Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures.

Drastic?

Drastic enough to alarm "Big Doc" Rynard who just about everybody on Parliament Hill regards as unofficial medical adviser to the House of Commons.

P. B. Rynard, five-term Conservative MP for Simcoe East and chief opposition watchdog of medical and pharmaceutical affairs, says it's not the pill alone, nor is it just the fat life.

"It's both," he says, "and believe me, it's enough to frighten you.

More Immediate

"It's happening both here and in the States, and if we let it go unchecked, it'll mean the decay of North America."

That "decay" he sees as the long-term threat.

What's more immediate is the drastic reappraisal that will have to be made of building and expansion plans for schools and universities.

"Right now, this very day and minute," reports Big Doc Rynard, "it is compelling a quick re-thinking of hospital construction plans.

"Beds in the obstetrical wards are going unoccupied and are being assigned to other than maternity cases."

Big Drop

Look at the DBS figures:

Births in May down 5.6 per cent to 33,126.

Down 7.1 per cent to 164,385 for the first five months of the year.

Down 7.5 per cent last year to 419,000.

And this was the big drop, the start of the startling decline.

For only the year previous,

Death Blow to Body?

CITY QUITTING HEALTH BOARD

By A. H. MURPHY
Colonist City Hall Reporter

Mayor Toone announced Thursday that Victoria will withdraw from the Metropolitan Board of Health in six months.

This, in the opinion of knowledgeable City Hall observers, is the death blow to the district organization.

At the same time the mayor said that it was time a long, hard look was taken at the health services set-up with the idea that it might well be a function of the four-month-old capital region district board, formed specifically to integrate services common to the whole area.

The withdrawal was not unexpected. It culminates months of dissatisfaction on the part of the city with the whole metropolitan health board arrangement.

UNBALANCED COST

Not a little of this stems from the fact that maintenance of the service is costing Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt about $2 per capita while other participating municipalities (Saanich, Central Saanich, and Sidney) pay from 30 to 40 cents per capita.

School boards 61, 62, 63 and 64 share proportionately in the health services cost but to a much lesser degree than the urban municipalities, although they have equal voting privileges.

The board of health is about a $665,000-a-year operation of which the three urban municipalities contribute in the neighborhood of $300,000.

TACIT PACT?

Authority to give notice of withdrawal was placed in the mayor's hands at the last meeting of city council when a decision recently made in committee was ratified by aldermen.

Although no confirmation was available at City Hall Friday, it is understood that a tacit agreement for withdrawal has been made by all three urban municipalities and that action similar to that of Victoria can be expected from Esquimalt and Oak Bay.

If this takes place the metropolitan board is doomed, in the opinion of competent observers,

Polish Mob Hits U.S. Embassy

WARSAW (UPI)—More than 1,500 well-organized leftist demonstrators Thursday night stormed the U.S. embassy, smashed glass doors and windows and painted "Johnson Should Be Hanged" on an embassy display case.

The anti-Viet-Nam protest was so well planned the Polish documentary film service had a camera crew outside the modern, white stone embassy 30 minutes before the demonstration began.

U.S. Ambassador John Gronouski lodged a vigorous protest with the foreign office. Later he said, "This was a well-organized demonstration which obviously had the encouragement and sanction of certain elements of Polish authority."

* * *

VANCOUVER (UPI)—United States Consul-General Raymond Courtney ushered his staff of 25 employees through a maze of anti Viet Nam picketers outside the consulate Thursday following a bomb scare.

* * *

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve Quakers protesting against the recess taken by the U.S. Congress while North Viet Nam is under new bombing attacks were arrested Thursday when they refused to leave the Senate gallery.

More Fuel Destroyed

Bombers Renew Hanoi Oil Raids

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jet bombers smashed oil storage areas outside Hanoi Thursday for the second consecutive day, sending thousands of tons of fuel up in smoke. American ground forces in the south killed well over 300 Viet Cong with bombs, artillery, bullets and flame-throwers. (See also Pages 3, 5)

Troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division early Friday counted more than 300 bodies after one of the war's fiercest battles, a close-quarter engagement near the Cambodian border.

They chased the rest of a 1,200-man Viet Cong regiment into dense jungles.

U.S. military spokesmen said the Viet Cong body count would rise much higher as the infantrymen advanced. Only sporadic contact was made by the Americans during the night.

The fighting took place about 60 miles north of Saigon, and American pilots estimated well over 200 Viet Cong were killed in air strikes alone.

The stepped-up pace of the war was reflected in the announcement that 131 American servicemen were killed, 755 others wounded and seven listed as missing or prisoners in the week ending last Saturday. The Communists in the same week lost 1,125 men killed and 204 captured.

BACK AGAIN

While worldwide controversy continued to rage following Wednesday's massive air raids to the very edge of Hanoi and Haiphong, U.S. Air Force and navy planes returned to smash three more petroleum storage areas in the Hanoi area.

American jets also bombed a radar ground control intercept site near Hanoi Thursday, "obliterating" the installation with its five mobile radar vans, three stationary radar units and 16 buildings.

China Calls Raids Serious Escalation

HONG KONG (Reuters)—China said today U.S. bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong is a serious escalation of the Viet Nam War and warned it would lead America one step nearer the grave, Radio Peking reported.

The warning is contained in an article in the People's Daily by Observer, generally regarded as the pen-name of a high Chinese official.

He said the United States was trying to force the Vietnamese people into surrender through bombing which had the co-operation of the Soviet authorities.

But the Vietnamese people would not be forced into submission and the Chinese would support their struggle through to the end.

Big, Sham Pension Battle

It The new program could cost the federal government up to $300,000,000.

The plan will exist until 1977 when every Canadian will be eligible for payment under the Canada Pension Plan.

New Democrats and Conservatives are fighting in the Commons for $100 a month at age 65. The Liberals say that would cost too much.

They said the existing plan of $75 a month at 69 (68 next year), plus added assistance under the Canada Assistance Plan, will fill the need for most pensioners.

Under C.A.P. the federal government will pay half the cost of whatever the various provinces feel is needed for the pensioner. Opposition parties contend that senior citizens should not have to demonstrate their poverty to provincial authorities or anyone else to get the money.

New Democrat leader T. C. Douglas said: "It is an affront to human dignity to ask people because they are in bad financial circumstances to degrade and humiliate themselves by being submitted to a test.

"What the government is really saying in this legislation is: 'We are going to help the needy people of Canada provided they are on their knees'."

Tory Heath MacQuarrie said: "Not only must you be poor, you must prove you are poor before an official of the state."

"When the workers find that the cost of living is going up faster than their wages, they have in many cases trade unions and can do something about it," Mr. Douglas said.

He called the Canada Assistance Plan "the cruellest hoax that has ever been perpetrated on senior citizens of this country.

"I accuse the government of a cruel deception upon the old people of this country. I accuse the government of playing politics with the hopes and expectations which they aroused in the senior citizens of this country," he said.

The debate is expected to continue Monday. On the same day the government will also introduce its long-awaited amendments to the bank act.

And State Secretary Judy LaMarsh has announced the government's white paper on broadcasting will be tabled the same day.

So members of Parliament, who wanted to adjourn for the summer Thursday, are in for at least another four days of steady debate.

Birth Rate Falls

1964, there were 453,000 births.

The peak birth year was 1959 with 479,275.

And from there it has fallen, a few thousand a year — by 3,000 in '60, by 3,000 in '61 — until '65 when it downcrashed by 34,000.

"Nobody knows," says DBS, "how far it's going to fall, or even if it's going to stop."

The graph scares Dr. Rynad, for it shows that births are on the sharp decline while the marriage rate is up.

What, asks the Doc, is going to happen to the baby carriage and crib people, the infant food and clothing industry, if this thing isn't slowed down?

Who'll Pay?

With occupancy already down in the hospital maternity wards, who's going to fill those classrooms in the new primary and secondary schools everybody's building?

And who's going to keep the economy rolling to pay all those old age pensions in say another 20 or 30 years?

The answer to this last question — but not, certainly, to the problem of the falling birth rate — suggests Dr. Rynard, is to keep people working longer and halt the new fad — rush for early retirement.

The big birth-rate slash, coincides with the mass marketing and wide acceptance of the pill, points out the Big Doc.

Backed Up

And both DBS with its figures and Dr. William Howe, MP for Hamilton South, with his observations as a practising physician, back him up.

Dr. Rynard believes as many as 1,500,000 pills are being taken each week by young Canadian women.

And consumption, much of it entirely unregulated, steadily increases.

As a result, says Dr. Rynard, at a time when the Canadian standard of living has never been so high, fewer and fewer children are being born to support it in the years to come.

More to Controlling Ulcers Than Just Drinking Milk

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any hope for a person with ulcers who can't drink milk or cream?—MRS. H.

Why can't you drink milk or cream? Taste? Allergy? Or are you worried over your weight?

If it's a matter of flavor, some vanilla or other flavoring can be added. If you are genuinely allergic to milk, as some people are, then you will have to avoid it.

There's more to controlling ulcers than just drinking milk, although for most patients, it is good for a variety of reasons. Milk is mildly alkaline, but you can use medicated wafers or antacids in liquid form between meals. Other foods and vitamin capsules can be substituted for the nutritional content.

Yes, there certainly is plenty of hope for an ulcer patient who can't drink milk, but I suggest that you pay attention to your emotional attitude, living habits and so on.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has diverticulosis. Would he be allowed to drink milk? Also what laxative do you advise? He needs one every day.—MRS. T.K.

I see no reason why he should not drink milk unless there is some special factor — hypersensitivity, mainly — that you have not mentioned.

What laxative do I advise? I'd advise that he use none at all for a time and see what happens. When someone tells me that a person "needs a laxative every day," I want to know why he thinks so.

His normal bowel pattern may be such that there is no need for a movement every day. There are many such people, and there is no medical reason for believing that everyone needs a daily movement.

Thus this laxative habit, instead of being necessary or helpful, may instead merely be irritating the colon into abnormal activity. This alone could make the diverticulosis more annoying.

Study Released

Alaska Road Expensive For Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—It will cost the federal government $143,137,000 over the next 20 years just to maintain the Canadian portion of the Alaska Highway and to make necessary bridge repairs, says a thick public works department report tabled Thursday in the Commons.

Paving the winding, dusty 1,137-mile road, bringing it up to safe standards and keeping it that way for the same period would cost $242,212,000, say the federal engineers who prepared the report.

The study on the road is the second in two weeks to be placed before MPs.

Last week the Stanford, Calif., Research Institute in a government - commissioned report on the economic benefits to be gained by paving the road, said surfacing the wartime - built highway wasn't feasible at this time.

It said discounted benefits from paving would amount to $46,901,000 over 20 years and the net discounted costs would come to $84,051,000.

Alternative Offered

The public works report makes no recommendations on whether the paving should be done. It does offer several alternative routes which could be followed to the Alaska border, including one from Hazelton, B.C., to Mile 866 on the Alaska Highway.

The United States began building the highway shortly after the outbreak of the Second World War when the Japanese threatened the air supply route to Russia. The road was built in a hurry and minimum standards adhered to.

Canada took over the road shortly after the war and while some improvements have been made, it's still a test of driver endurance and skill.

Costs cited by the public works report are based on a paved road capable of handling 3,000 vehicles a day.

Average traffic now is less than 500 vehicles a day but potential use warrants looking forward to much heavier use, says the report.

Board Doomed?

and regional control becomes a very real possibility.

Mayor Toone pointed out Thursday that the board was never more than a temporary, year-to-year organization. It was formed, he said, as a committee to fill a need and its existence depended on annual ratification.

Pointing out that the arrangement entered into in 1961, when the board was formed, provided that any signatory might leave on six months' notice, the mayor's letter of withdrawal went on to say:

"You will be aware of the many difficulties that have arisen since 1961. Despite the sincere efforts of all concerned these difficulties still have to be resolved. I regret that I must inform you that the city cannot continue as a party to the present arrangement beyond the end of this year."

MOVE JUSTIFIED

A conference was held recently in the office of provincial minister of health Eric Martin which was attended by the mayor, the reeves of Oak Bay and Esquimalt and Reeve R. G. Lee, of Central Saanich, chairman of the Metropolitan Board of Health.

Commenting on the mayor's decision, Reeve Lee said that the move was quite justified.

"As far as the Metropolitan Board of Health is concerned," Reeve Lee said, "the time has come for a complete reorganization. This move may provide the needed impetus."

It is possible, said Reeve Lee, that the opportunity will now exist for a much better board.

Following the meeting an announcement was made from the minister's office which gave rise to speculation that Victoria might withdraw from the board. However Mayor Toone then said that no such action was contemplated at that time.

The mayor said Thursday he wasn't now prepared to enlarge on the reasons for the city's withdrawal. He recalled that there had been conflict and that a report prepared by City Manager Dennis Young, some time ago, envisaged the possibility of health services as a regional function.

Bombing Report, Pledge

We'll Keep Searching America Tells UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States notified the United Nations Security Council Thursday night of the bombing of the Hanoi and Haiphong oil facilities and said it "will continue its search for peace in Viet Nam." It suggested that the Geneva conference be reconvened to "reaffirm and revitalize" the 1954 and 1962 agreements for peace in Indochina.

Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, chief of the U.S. delegation, sent a letter on the subject to Ambassador Frank H. Corner of New Zealand, president of the 15-nation council for June.

SIMPLY REPORTING

Goldberg did not ask for a council meeting. He said the letter was only "pursuant to our policy of reporting to the Security Council periodically on the situation in Southeast Asia."

Goldberg said the United States, after consulting South Viet Nam, sent planes Wednesday to attack "the largest petroleum facilities in North Viet Nam—those located near Hanoi and Haiphong."

Cautious Reds Call Raid Reckless Step

By REUTERS

Premier Alexei Kosygin of the Soviet Union led renewed world criticism Thursday night of the U.S. bombing of oil dumps in the suburbs of Hanoi and Haiphong, terming the air raids a "reckless step."

However, despite bitter condemnation from most Communist countries, the Russians remained relatively cautious in their attack.

NOT INTERESTED

The first official reaction from Soviet leaders came during a Kremlin reception for visiting French President de Gaulle when Kosygin said the bombing had demonstrated that the United States was "not at all interested in a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam question."

The raids on Hanoi and Haiphong, Kosygin said, made the American position in Viet Nam still more complicated and would speed the defeat of the U.S.

WIDE RANGE

Elsewhere around the world, reaction to the latest U.S. moves ranged from anger to approval.

The main body of support for the U.S. action came from members of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization who have just finished a ministerial meeting in Canberra, Australia.

Government spokesmen of Australia, Thailand, the Philippines and South Korea accepted the bombings as necessary to bring an end to the conflict and stop infiltration from North Viet Nam.

TWO DENOUNCE

However, the opposition Labor parties in Australia and New Zealand denounced the step and called on their governments to join British Prime Minister Wilson in dissociating themselves from it.

Wilson himself faced a growing revolt by leftwingers of his own Labor party who want him to break completely with U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi of India expressed the hope that the people of Viet Nam would be able to determine their future free from outside interference.

The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano expressed regret and anxiety at the news.

U.S. Explains Bombing As Peace-Talk Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate debate over the bombing of North Viet Nam's major oil depots brought calls Thursday for a new U.S. peace offensive and expressions of fear that it is another step toward "the ultimate war."

Mixed in with the criticism, though, were endorsements from some who called the bombing long overdue. And State Undersecretary George W. Ball told the Senate foreign relations committee it was designed to push North Viet Nam into negotiations.

The sole purpose of the bombing, said Ball, was to raise the costs of the war to Hanoi to the point where it would have to conclude "the game is not worth the candle."

"Prudence and good sense" were behind Wednesday's initial attack on the Hanoi-Haiphong depots, Ball said, as he rejected chairman J. W. Fulbright's description of the bombing as an act of escalation.

It was neither that, Ball said, nor "was it intended as a challenge to Moscow and Peking."

But Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat, said: "I am fearful that this is but one more step toward the ultimate war."

Mirroring this concern, as the session concluded, Senator Albert Gore (Dem., Tenn.), said the United States should "immediately renew its peace offensive" with new initiatives and seek "a wider settlement" beyond the scope of Viet Nam itself.

Overseas, condemnation came from Communist sources while the Vatican expressed regret over the new phase of the war.

At the 17-country disarmament meeting in Geneva, Soviet delegate Alexei A. Roshchin said the raids prove the U.S. is aggressor in Viet Nam and delegates from other Communist countries echoed this theme.

In editorials, the Arab nationalist press applied such terms as "shocking" and "imperialist" to the U.S. air strikes.

The Vatican's view was set forth in its official paper, L'Osservatore Romano which said: "News such as this cannot be learned without regret and also without worries."

Hormones No Help To Heart

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A heart specialist has criticised golf, bowling and injections of female hormones for men as ways to reduce the possibility of heart attacks.

Dr. David Long said golf consists mainly of crawling in and out of a cart, and bowling is hardly exercise at all.

Long said giving males injections of certain female hormones might eliminate a heart attack "but the male would become feminized."

He added:

"Frankly, I'd just as soon have a heart attack."

Pearson Urges Pride in Canada

More Promotion Needed

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Thursday on the eve of the July 1 holiday that Canadians have not been vigilant enough in promoting national spirit and pride.

In a message for Canada's 99th birthday, the prime minister said:

"Above all, let us all remember this July 1 that we are Canadians.

"We have not been as vigilant as we should have been in promoting the national spirit, the national pride that our country should command in her children — the love for and dedication to a Canada second to none in the world as she nears her second century."

Mr. Pearson said Canada has passed through challenges far greater than any faced now and "our great strength as a people and as a federal state has lain not in declarations and documents but in creative, determined action."

He said it will take hard work and devotion to bequeath the country's young a strong, prosperous, independent nation.

Jury Suggests Reports On Sales of Explosives

OTTAWA (CP)—A coroner's jury inquiring into the Parliament Hill explosion that killed Paul Chartier recommended Thursday night that all sales of explosives be reported to police.

The five-man jury said Chartier was mentally unbalanced and apparently intended to kill as many MPs as possible when his home-made bomb exploded in his hands in a washroom near the Commons chamber about 2:53 p.m. May 18.

ACT PREMEDITATED

The verdict said the act of violence apparently had been premeditated for some time.

Jury foreman Norman Blackler of Ottawa read the brief verdict at 10:32 p.m., after the jury had deliberated for two hours and 18 minutes.

The cause of death was given as severe hemorrhage and shock.

Evidence given during the inquest indicated Chartier's watch had stopped at 2:53.

VERDICT REASONABLE

Dr. H. B. Cotnam, Ontario supervising coroner, commented that the verdict was a reasonable one, and based on the evidence.

The only recommendation made by the jury reads as follows:

"We recommend that in the future, all sales of explosives be reported to a police department with a view to control more effectively the uses of such products."

Dr. Cotnam said in his summation, before the jury retired to consider its verdict, that Chartier obviously was mentally unbalanced and planned to kill as many MPs as possible. He said regulations governing the sale of dynamite seemed slack to him.

Servants Getting Pay Raise

OTTAWA (CP) — Pay increases ranging from $359 to $1,192 were announced Thursday for 40,000 federal civil servants and their counterparts in some Crown corporations and agencies outside the civil service which do not have their own bargaining units.

The treasury board announcement means higher pay for civil servants employed in clerical and regulatory positions, office equipment employees, secretaries, stenographers and typists, telephone operators and those in communication work and data processing.

The increases are the result of a regular two-year review of salaries paid to those in the administrative support category of the civil service.

The pay boosts were a three-stage affair. They included an interim increase retroactive to last October which was announced earlier, a further adjustment today retroactive to the same date, and a mid-term increase effective next October for the 1965-67 salary review period.

Martin Planting Symbolic Tree

VANCOUVER (CP) — A ceremonial tree planting will take place at the University of British Columbia to mark the construction start on the $36,000,000 Health Sciences Centre on campus. Three trees will be planted by provincial Health Minister Eric Martin, federal Health Minister Allan MacEachen and Mr. P. A. Woodward.

The Railroaders

IT HAS BEEN SAID before, but it bears repeating: the House of Commons defence committee under the present Liberal administration serves little other purpose than the rubber-stamping of decisions presented to it by Mr. Paul Hellyer, minister of national defence.

Non-government members fail against the situation but are powerless to do very much about it.

Latest instance of the high-handedness of the Liberal-controlled committee is the railroading Wednesday of its report to the Commons on this year's defence estimates totalling in excess of $1,572,000,000 — "without comment."

In supporting the emasculated motion, Mr. Grant Deachman, the Liberal member for Vancouver-Quadra, contended that to attempt comment at this stage would mean the report could not be submitted before the summer recess and that delaying until the next sitting of the Commons would mean "going over cold porridge in the fall."

What has happened is that the committee has returned Mr. Hellyer's estimates to the Commons without a hint as to its members' feelings expressed during many hours of many committee sessions, or any advice, approbation or objection on any particular item of proposed spending.

When Liberal chairman of the committee Mr. David Groos, of Victoria, urged the "no comment" motion, opposition members declared they would boycott the vote, to that extent expressing their dismay and disagreement. And this, except for two of them, they did.

The committee decision does not preclude debate on the estimates when they reach the Commons, of course. In fact it can be predicted that opposition members will subject them to most careful analysis — particularly those members of the defence committee who were over-ridden when they sought to add their opinions to the report.

That does not alter the fact that the committee action was undemocratic, though certainly not unprecedented.

We have a need in this country for strong leadership, and we decry the lack, but that does not mean we are asking for a dictatorship either from the office of the prime minister or from the ministry of national defence.

Short Memories

SINCE THE END of the war Britain has twice defended the territory now known as Malaysia from foreign aggression. Since 1963 alone the United Kingdom has spent more than $60,000,000 in arms aid to that country and mounted a costly military action to protect it from ex-dictator Sukarno of Indonesia.

Indeed, if any peoples in the world owe Britain a debt of gratitude it would appear to be the Malaysians. Yet, far from expressing their thanks now the immediate danger is over they have launched wholeheartedly under the leadership of their government into a full-scale "Hate Britain" campaign.

Why? Because Britain, due partly to her own precarious economic plight, has refused to finance Malaysia's new development plan unless Malaysia enters into a trade and defence pact with Singapore.

Setting the whole tone of the Malaysian parliament were the words of one of its backbenchers, described as the prettiest woman MP in the House, who said: "To hell with British aid. We don't need them. We can stand on our own two feet."

Though she failed to mention that Malaysia's "own two feet" were well set upon a $25,000,000 loan from France, her words have caught the imagination of her countrymen to the extent that they have become almost a fighting slogan.

Thus, so much for gratitude. So much for memories of past services and sacrifices made by Britain's soldiers and taxpayers.

It is situations such as this that make British Defence Minister Dennis Healey's undiplomatic outburst against General de Gaulle a little more understandable, for there is a distinct parallel here.

It was Britain who rescued the French soldiers who became the nucleus of the Free French army from Dunkirk in 1940, it was Britain who housed them, fed them, equipped them and trained them.

It was Britain, more than any other country, which paved the way for the doughty general to lead a revitalized French army back to France in 1944.

But like the Malaysians, the French seem to have short memories and little gratitude.

Better Figures

THE COMPUTER Society of Canada wants this country to abandon its present system of weights and measures and to substitute the metric system instead.

Computers don't like pounds and ounces, gallons and pints, miles and yards any more than do schoolchildren, but unlike the scholars, the computers have a distinguished band of experts to fight their cause.

The experts, rightly or wrongly, say that Canada's export trade suffers because it does not use the metric system, now adopted by many countries and under consideration by Britain, Japan and India.

While the international system of calculation by tens is no doubt admirable, it is interesting to remember that it is still by no means the perfect solution because it is impossible when attempting to divide positively by three.

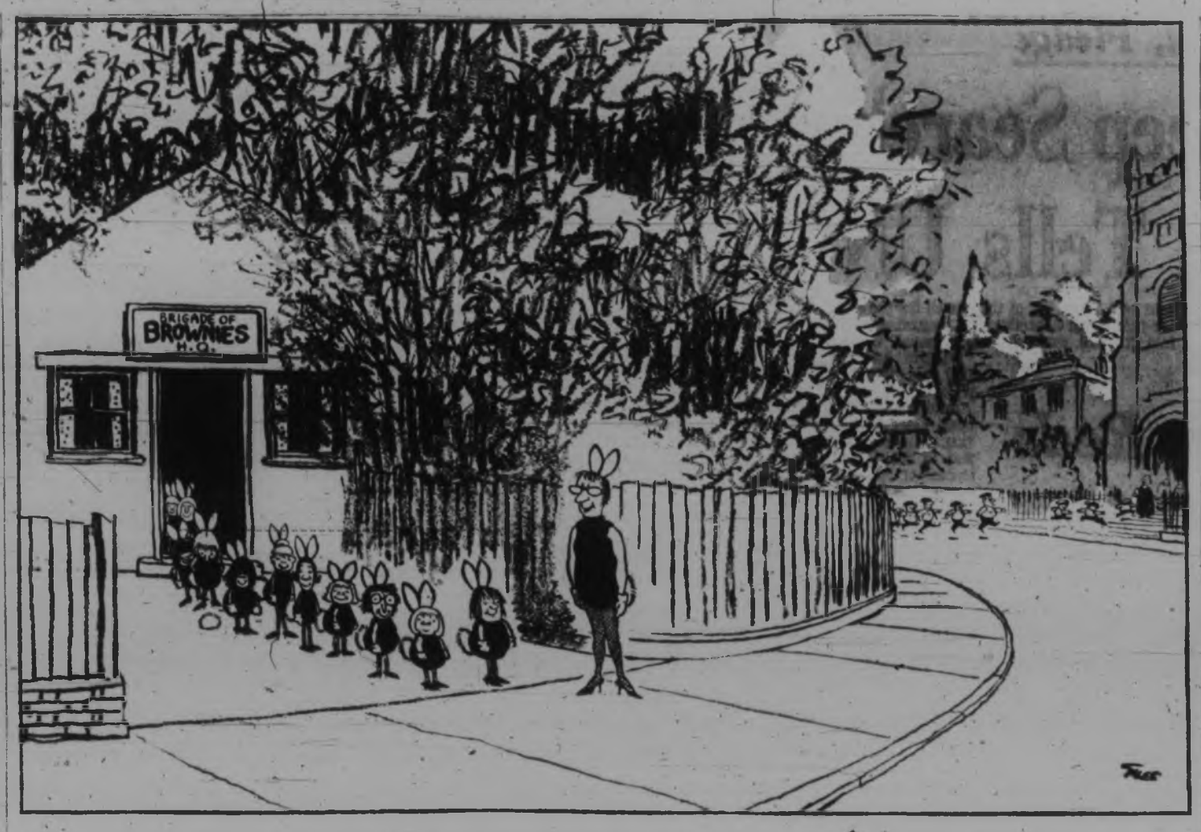

The system which removes this problem and indeed appears nearly foolproof is the one which uses 12 one-figure numbers—thus requiring new symbols for eleven and twelve.

Supporters of this system have so far met with nothing more than polite sympathy, but if a change is to be made anyway, why not go the whole hog?

Class Distinction

HON. GORDON CHURCHILL: I should like to direct a question to the Minister of National Defence based on a B and B questionnaire now being circulated, asking servicemen to declare to which class in our society they really belong, whether military, intellectual, upper, working or middle class. My question is this. Will the information derived from this questionnaire be taken into account when promotions within the service are being considered, and should servicemen protect their interests by listing themselves as really upper class, like the minister?

Ottawa Offbeat

Inequality in Bilingualism

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonist Ottawa Bureau

NOT so all of a sudden, it's become the "in" thing in federal Ottawa to take French lessons so you can become bilingual.

Any ambitious young civil service executive with his eye on his share of room-at-the-government-top realizes that what the prime minister has termed a "willingness to learn" French — if not to actually speak it as a working language — has become the next thing to a condition of employment.

You go to French class now as a sort of civil service status symbol, just as once you carried a battered old dog-eared attache case.

At cocktail parties and receptions you greet your hostess with a gallant little bow and a charming "Bonsoir, cherie, vous etes definitement eblouissante a soir."

En Anglais, before the capital went on its bilingual binge, that would be "Good evening, darling, you look positively smashing tonight."

Or, in the Rock and Sock set: "Like wow, Baby!"

Fashionably, if you still regard Britain as anything of a mother-country, you make her sound like a wayward and unwanted parent. You speak with tolerant, better still, even condescending if sympathetic understanding of her straying. Best of all, if you can manage it, you contrive to sound just a civilized bit ashamed of the tired old frump.

France, like French, is in high Ottawa fashion, and Paris rather than London the new Mecca for the national capital's new-style bureaucrat who's with it.

Proud, prickly General de Gaulle and his grandeur, and not poor, pipe-smoking Prime Minister Wilson and his unpretention, is the new international political pin-up.

Forget about the $500,000,000 Canadian taxpayers sank into those NATO bases in France that now must be abandoned, and try to understand how Le Grand Charles feels about it.

Even some of the English members of Parliament are taking French — although you don't hear much about the French MPs studying English.

French, as much, almost, as English, has become the language of Parliament, and any day now at least six MPs — Conservatives Davie Fulton of Kamloops, Bob McCleave of Halifax; New Democrats Bob Prittie of Burnaby-Richmond, Ed Schreyer of Springfield; and Liberals Stanley Haidasz and Hugh Faulkner of Peterborough — are going to start doing some of their Commons business in it.

Stars of the Commons special French class, they were streamed out of it, like so many gifted students, to work together in a special study course.

"Tell me frankly what the voters think about the war, he said."

For the Voters

Narrow Choice

By PHILIP DEANE

RUMINATING the results of all the Canadian elections that have produced indecisive results has become a national pastime among the politically concerned who are, in my view, a practically invisible minority. These results — in P.E.I., Quebec, Ottawa and now Manitoba — seem to me inevitable and natural given the nature of the country.

For most of us things are going well, exceedingly well. The very poor are few, if we accept definitions of poverty other than those now advanced by Washington's poverty warriors. The poor are poor, not because they have no cars but because they have old cars which, in any society outside North America would be a fortune to a taxi driver. But poverty is relative and those with old cars want new ones and are dissatisfied.

But it is not the degree of dissatisfaction that breeds revolutionary movements. I doubt that those who want to change our system (capitalism, free enterprise or whatever more or less accurate name you give it) could get a man elected to a provincial legislature, let alone the federal Parliament.

Of necessity, this means that our parties do not really offer the voter alternatives. This, perhaps, is what defeated Goldwater: those around him, if not he personally, wanted to offer something different. The people obviously did not really want something different and one can hardly expect politicians to offer it at the risk of losing their following. Mr. Ronald Reagan tries to sound much more liberal than Goldwater.

This, I think, explains why the NDP, so far, while scoring substantial gains, does not receive enough support to capture power. Before it does so it will have to follow Harold Wilson's example and prove it too is no different in its philosophy from the other parties.

But identical parties, as far as their attitude towards accepting the existing system, pose a problem for the dissatisfied voter. Admittedly, he is not dissatisfied enough to want revolution, (which automatically has restricted his choice) but he is nevertheless dissatisfied. There is always grass that looks greener on the other side of the fence that divides us from the United States; there is the growing complexity of our society whose members consume more and more in terms of goods, services and facilities making it all a very difficult machinery to keep tuned and moving and consequently increasing the role of government, making government more visible and thereby more annoying since the sight of authority rightly annoys free men. And the complexity seems larger than the stature of the men who must deal with it because being human beings with prejudices, ridden by the precedents of their own lives, they cannot generally grow as fast as the problems. Radical solutions are closed to them by the anti-revolutionary mood of the electorate; traditional solutions mean more taxes. Our politicians in power are trapped into unpopularity.

And the voters, exercising their rights, want to express their disapproval by throwing the rascals out but the voters know that this would not be a real change. They never have the clear choice between drinking poison or an invigorating draught. They have the choice between two cups of tea they have allowed to grow cold and stale.

Much to Offer

The Queen's Printer

From The Spectator, Hamilton

THE Queen's Printer is Canada's largest publisher. Though it has no salesmen it will, this fall, have six book stores across the country. The Halifax outlet opens in September to join those in Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Montreal.

These are intended as regional stores; Halifax to service the Maritimes, Toronto, southern Ontario and so forth. The stores make money and the regional aspect is fine as far as it goes, but it fails to serve a large segment of the population; a segment that deserves access to the information available.

If full-scale stores in many centres are impractical (and they probably are) an agency system should be established in every city and the public should be informed it exists. It could be located in a corner of a local book store with shelf space to display a selection of QP publications, and up-to-date catalogues listing everything in print.

In its Ottawa headquarters the Queen's Printer stocks some 20,000 titles, both books and pamphlets. The average store has 2,000 titles on display and another 3,000 in the warehouse. Generally speaking all have some official or quasi-official aspect. They range from "Canadian Dinosaurs" (50 cents a copy, fully illustrated) and "Certain Aspects of Taxation Relating to Investment in Canada by Non-residents", a small portion of the Gordon report on Canada's economic prospects.

Books or booklets are available on how to candle eggs, and how to cure a beaver skin plus tables of bank rates, and information on how to develop the Alberta tar sands.

That's not all. The Queen's Printer also carries pamphlets from innumerable international organizations: the United Nations, the World Health Organization and UNESCO are three.

The Queen's Printer is probably Canada's best source of current information about almost everything. The books and pamphlets are inexpensive and available by mail if you send a certified cheque or money order with the list of your requirements. Monthly and annual catalogues are available.

But nobody has a charge account at the Queen's Printer. You can open a deposit account but there is no credit.

A charge account system should be established and the public should be made better acquainted with what the Queen's Printer has to offer.

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The battle of the Somme began 50 years ago today — in 1916 — as the new recruits of "Kitchener's Army" lined up and advanced, towards the German lines, after an artillery bombardment lasting two weeks. They were met with a sheet of machine-gun bullets and 60,000 men went down on the first day — the heaviest casualties ever suffered by British troops. By contrast, the few French regiments in the battle worked their way forward from shell-hole to shell-hole, using methods learned at Verdun, and captured their objectives. The British attack went on for two months without ever achieving the big breakthrough the generals had planned.

1876 — The intercolonial railway from Halifax to Riviere du Loup, Que., opened.

1898 — Americans beat the Spanish at the battle of San Juan Hill, Cuba.

First World War: Fifty years ago today — in 1916 — the battle of the Somme began, the French taking 6,000 prisoners; Turks captured Kirmanshah, Caucasus, from the Russians.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today — in 1941 — German units captured Riga, capital of Latvia; the Axis recognized Wang Ching-wei's puppet government of Japanese-occupied China; the Finnish ship Pluto was sunk by German aircraft while under British escort.

Californian Luxury

Satellite Paris

ANDREW MULLIGAN
from Paris

IF the French are chrefui to preserve the unique historic nature of central Paris, they are equally bent on outstripping the Americans at 20th century suburban living.

For at least two years both right and left-wing glossy weekly magazines in France have carried sumptuous advertising for luxury suburban housing projects. Nothing however, has equalled the latest outburst of publicity for a new town of 5,000 inhabitants to be called Paris II. It will be situated near Versailles and linked with the city centre by 15 minutes of motorway.

The publicity says, "The idea isn't new; Louis XIV took Paris to the country at Versailles, and now, 300 years later, we are doing the same."

The brilliantly-coloured brochure is a festival of vulgarity and "Franglais" (that cross between American and French which President de Gaulle regards as a menace equal to that of American forces stationed on French territory).

The brochure highlights the "In" cult which has invaded France. At Paris II your apartment will have "standing" (class); "le planning" looks after your every need; "le shopping" can be done on "le credit" at 160 boutiques in "le shopping centre"; and for your leisure you will be able to enjoy yourself at "le bridge" at "le club." Most important of all — says the brochure — "America will visit Paris II with a drug store called "Le Drug West". Apart from eight swimming pools, riding stables and about 500 acres of gardens, all the living accommodation will be in luxury apartments designed especially for France's booming bourgeoisie.

Subtle American "buy now pay later" schemes are coaxing the thrifty French into another way of life. Housewives will do their shopping on account and will be able to hire a second car if their auto-minded husband has taken the family car to the city.

All this can be yours for a down payment of $3,000 and a monthly rent of $200 for a five room apartment. The scheme is offering 14 years' credit.

The intimate Paris of Hemingway and Scott Fitzgerald is disappearing. The middle-class Parisian craves the Californian way of life and is getting it. The only difference is that instead of living in individual houses the new schemes cater essentially for apartment living.

This type of development at a time when France is undergoing a housing crisis gives ample ammunition to the opposition who have bitterly criticised the government's economic and social policies. But the Gaullist regime continues to give the property developers a free hand demonstrating dedication to free enterprise in a state-controlled climate.

Separatist Danger

A Weakening of Links

By W. A. FERGUSON

ONE supreme political issue confronts the people of this country on the eve of the centenary of its birth; and most of them seem to be quite unaware of it. We mean the issue of national unity: because for Canada, a great and rapidly growing nation, with the increasing prospect of influence in world affairs, everything depends on this.

Many of us are so engrossed in local politics or our own affairs that we fail to take seriously far more important matters which can have momentous consequences for us and for our children. The American Civil War 100 years ago was fought to its bitter finish to settle this same question of unity; and no one can now doubt or deny that it was the successful outcome of that struggle which has been the foundation of the power and greatness of the United States and its present position in the world. People are often misled by the fact that one of the signal gains of the victory of the North was the freeing of the slaves on the southern plantations, and consequently believe that this was the main object of the war. In fact it was not so.

Lincoln himself, whose vision and tenacity of purpose maintained the long struggle and led to eventual victory, makes it plain that in his view the freeing of the slaves, though much to be desired, was quite secondary to the over-riding aim of the war—the preservation of the Union. It would be strange blindness or somnolence on our part to miss its significance for Canada today.

Ironically enough, at the very time when preparations for celebrating the centenary of Confederation are making progress everywhere, we are witnessing a serious weakening of the links devised in 1867 to bind together the diverse peoples and the immense natural resources of this magnificent country into one strong national union. For some years the insistent claims of certain provinces to assert their rights as against the federal government have been putting a severe strain on the unity of the country. In Quebec province these claims have sometimes in the past been associated with suggestions of secession—not usually taken too seriously by the rest of Canada, though an uncomfortable reminder that it was the secession of certain states which began the Civil War.

Today anyone who is still inclined to make light of the separatist danger should read carefully the election manifesto of the Union Nationale, quoted in the Colonist on June 12. Here is the program of full-blown separatism set out as the policy of the party newly in power in Quebec. That this extraordinary document and the plans which it discloses should ever have been seriously put forward is due to two main causes: Firstly, tendencies within Quebec province itself which in late years has been experiencing a certain cultural renaissance, and secondly, in no small measure to the humiliating weakness of the Liberal government over its whole term of office in handling the demands of the French-speaking province.

Over and over again, in defiance of the history of this country and the views and wishes of the majority of Canadians, has the federal government yielded to these demands, until today the leader of the favored province can openly proclaim his intention to disregard the government at Ottawa, and to set up his own independent administration.

It is no use trying to soothe our anxieties by pointing out that the separatists received only a small percentage of the votes in the election; many revolutionary leaders have begun their careers with no larger support. "Principiis obsta"—"resist the first steps"—is still sound political advice. The Canadian people should take it.

If such a disaster as the secession of a province should actually occur, and especially if this example were followed by others—which Heaven forbid—it would inevitably destroy Canada's present peace and prosperity, ruin its increasing influence in the world, and make its position as senior member of the Commonwealth impossible. As for the separated provinces, it requires no prophetic insight to forecast their fate; they would slip quietly one by one into the arms of a great and friendly neighbor.

No true citizen of this country can bear to imagine so tragic a farewell to all our greatness. And yet if we do not all agree to strengthen the weakened links we are in real danger of drifting into disunity, or open contention, and leaving to our successors only the memory of great expectations unfulfilled.

Yacht Races Start Today

Almost 100 yachts were registered for the Pacific International Yachting Association's annual three days of racing when the registration office at Royal Victoria Yacht Club closed Thursday night.

The first race from Victoria to Port Angeles will start off Brotchie Ledge at 10:55 a.m. Friday for the large class. The smaller classes will follow at 10-minute intervals.

Best place for a view of the start would be lower Dallas Road near the pilot house.

Victoria will be showing a large entry in the competition with representatives in every class. There will be six entries each in the Thunderbird and Cal-20 classes.

A four-race series will be held in U.S. waters Saturday and Sunday, as well as races for dinghies and snipes in Port Angeles Harbor waters.

'End Killing, Bombing'

Johnson Urges Hanoi Chiefs To Talk Peace

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — President Johnson, serving notice that air strikes in North Viet Nam will continue, told the Communist leaders in Hanoi Thursday night that peace talks are "one way to end the killing in the North and the bombing in the South."

Speaking directly to the leaders of North Viet Nam, the president said he is ready to send "my closest and most trusted associates" to a meeting place in a matter of hours if the Communists will only indicate they want peace.

In the meantime, though, the president left no doubt that America will keep up the pressure in the air. He had it on the line in an earlier speech in Omaha, Neb., when he said the side of battle in Viet Nam has begun to turn and U.S. bombings of military targets in the North will continue until the Communists are convinced that "agression is too costly and they cannot succeed."

ADDITION

The original text of Johnson's Des Moines speech to a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising banquet had been devoted almost entirely to farm and domestic matters. But he returned to the Viet Nam issue with even greater force in a last-minute addition to his prepared remarks.

"Let me be absolutely clear," he said. "I want the leaders of North Viet Nam to know exactly where we stand.

"As long as they persist in their aggression against South Viet Nam, we will resist that aggression. As long as they carry on, we will persevere. They cannot wear us down and they cannot escape paying a very high price for their aggression."

'ANOTHER SIDE'

Earnestly renewing his call for the Communists to come to the peace table, Johnson said "firmness is a must," but:

"There is another side of our policy. We would rather reason than fight. We are using our power in Viet Nam because the Communists have given us no other choice. We have repeated time and again our desire to discuss peace at the conference table. And I want to repeat that desire tonight."

Library Approved

The Sidney and North Saanich centennial library project has been approved by the federal government, the B.C. centennial committee announced Thursday.

Meredith Here Sept. 21

Negro civil rights fighter James Meredith will make a special trip here to speak at the University of Victoria Sept. 21, it was announced Thursday.

Gordon Pollard, chairman of the campus Political Science Forum, said only an unexpected major development in the U.S. civil rights field will prevent Mr. Meredith from appearing here.

In 1962 Mr. Meredith became the first Negro to enrol at the University of Mississippi, and in June he was shot from ambush as he made a publicized "freedom walk" through Mississippi.

Only Three of Ten Pay for Key Tags

Only three out of 10 local motorists who received miniature licence-plate tags for their car keys bothered to pay for them.

G. Roy Wilson, general manager of the TB and Chest Disabled Veterans' association, made the announcement Thursday. He went on to say city motorists contributed $13,302 for the tags in the past year.

HELP SELF-HELP

The ones who did pay sent in an average of 58 cents to help support the self-help enterprises of the disabled vets.

Provincial receipts are down $3,139 this year, Mr. Wilson noted.

CANADA GROWS FASTER

The rate of population increase in Canada is 2.1 per cent per annum, compared with 1.6 in the United States.

About 16 sets of lost keys are returned to Victoria motorists each month by the vets.

Small Logging Operators Fear New Contract

Small logging operators on Vancouver Island are looking to a black future following acceptance of the Nemetz formula by IWA and Forest Industrial Relations.

Some small operators are reported to have refused to sign the contract.

FIR spokesman John Billings said some of the small men will be forced out of business.

Jack Roach of Roxe Logging Company, Cowichan Lake area, said, "It might shut us down. It depends on a lot of things."

IT WILL HURT

He said, "It will hurt us this year, and it will be worse next year."

He said it is not so much the wage increase as other items in the new master agreement.

His company employs between 17 and 30 men.

PUSH COMES

J. W. Arden, operator of a 12-man float camp on the Alberni Canal, said, "We'll be pushed about as hard as we can be pushed. It's going to hit us real hard.

"It makes you wonder why anyone wants to go back into the hills to try to make an independent living."

OVER BRINK

In Mr. Arden's estimation, it's the problem of increased wages added to excessive stumpage rates that could force some small operations over the brink to financial ruin.

Wages in his camp are already above the new contract, as they are in many other out-of-town operations.

WE PAY MORE

"We have always paid above the usual rate to get men to come and work in rough terrain away from town."

Mike Andrews, who operated a 24-man camp on an inlet midway between Port Alberni and Colwood, agreed.

PAY MORE

However, he said, "The men earn every penny of their wage boost in the woods. I pay $2 to $3.50 a day more than set rates, plus a 2 cent a log bonus to encourage workers to stay in our isolated camp."

He said the men work 19 days on, four off, they must come in and out by plane, and "we've got to have the best men to complete."

SEASONAL

He said, "Besides that, it's seasonal work.

"We've been paying wages as high as this all along, and we'll have to boost them again.

"But in return we will certainly strive to hire the best quality men. We can't afford to put up with just anyone who calls himself a logger."

LIVE IN CAMPS

Mr. Andrews said the men earn their money because they must live in camps, pay board, and in most cases maintain a home and family elsewhere.

He said, "Today's small operators have little incentive to grow larger.

"Small operators can't spread out because they are on a quota system. The only way they can expand is by contracting to one of the big companies, who want us to work for less than the big firms are willing to work for."

Several small operators said they thought the government had highballed the contract through. They said many areas that should have been discussed were passed over.

BOARD VITAL

Board, for instance, is of prime importance to the small operator. Rates for men living in camps are usually $2.50 a day, unchanged since 1947.

This has little effect on the big companies. "They replace them with instant towns, travel time, and family quarters.

COOKHOUSE

"In our small camp it costs $3 per man, per day for kitchen labor costs without considering groceries, the cookhouse or its equipment."

Stumpage rates bother the small operators, especially those working in the smaller areas where much of what they cut is only good for pulp.

"The government sanctioned this contract, and they'll have to make some adjustment in other areas to offset it," was the feeling of many operators.

"Even MacMillan Bloedel can't afford too much government stumpage," one long-time logger explained.

PRIVATE TIMBER

"They and other large companies usually have a good deal of private timber, bought years ago. Small loggers have no private timber at all, only a quota in a Public Working Circle, on which a government assessment is made."

An operator has the right to complain if he feels the assessment is too high, but it is seldom reduced.

ACCIDENTS COSTLY

"They don't seem to realize a single accident can cost an operator thousands, or that when you're working in marginal logging shows, it is almost impossible to figure costs ahead of time."

Ken MacKenzie of Mars Contracting said, "This won't effect us directly, but it could sink operators subject to a lot of travel time.

TOUGH NEGOTIATION

"It's not portal-to-portal pay yet, but the handwriting is on the wall."

He foresaw great future difficulty negotiating profitable contracts with the big companies.

DAYLIGHT

He said eventually the travel time issue will lead to a seven-day week.

"They can't push logging except in daylight hours. They will have to push mill production around the clock to make up profits," he said.

The small operators said the public has no idea how many ways these loggers are taxed.

"Sometimes I wonder if the various government taxation departments know. They charge us stumpage, a tax on every mile of logging road, a tax on every bridge more than 20 feet long, a tax for use of water for our float camps, a tax for use of water for booming our logs," said Mr. Andrews.

He said, "For the big operator the tax on five acres of water for booming ground is not too bad, but for the man who only puts out two or three million feet of lumber a year, it can add 25 cents a thousand to his cost."

To top it off, operators claim they are not getting the same price today that they did last year.

They said a large surplus of cedar exists. The chief reasons most operators don't quit and go back working for wages is because, Mr. Arden said, "we have too much tied up to pull out."

Income Granted Ex-Curator

A woman who served more than 24 years as curator of Helmcken House on Elliott Street has been guaranteed a $50 a month income from the provincial government.

She is Mrs. Rachel A. Webster, who was curator of the historic building from Aug. 1, 1941, to March 31, 1966.

A cabinet order Wednesday stated that Mrs. Webster, who is not covered by the civil service pension fund, will receive $50 per month for life in recognition of her "long and faithful service."

Square Event

Youth Band Clicks

By BERT BINNY

Business in Centennial Square took a distinct turn for the better last night.

The occasion was the debut in public of the Victoria Police Youth Band. There's no doubt it gave a most acceptable performance but the vital point is that a large colorful organization of this type provides the shot in the arm that Centennial Square or any similar wide open space must have to click.

In such places, there must be mass and volume and color.

Thus it was quite noticeable that the crowd increased as the concert proceeded. The music was pulling them in; it could be heard up Pandora Avenue clear to Blanshard.

This is not to say the Police Youth Band is given to blaring and banging; it certainly is not.

The outstanding asset is an excellent balance; no section drowns out the others. In addition, the dynamics are unusually good and the band has what is known as a good beat.

The varied program included Hello Dolly, Gigi and Mary Poppins. Victor Herbert was saluted in march time and so was the legendary Casey Jones. Possibly somewhat more serious were such as La Cumparsita and Canadian Sunset, the latter quiet a triumph for the trumpet section.

The Police Youth Band is composed of players aged 14 to 21, and 35 of them were onstage last night; girls and boys about equally divided. The conductor is Flight - Lieutenant Wilfred Royce and the band manager is Ken Hoesmann. The band was organized in February of 1965.

Authors' Group Plans Outing

Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association will hold its annual outing Saturday at 2 p.m. at Brenta Lodge, Brentwood. A bus will leave the Vancouver Island Coach Lines depot at 2 p.m.

Mary Alexander

Native Daughter Of Victoria Dies

One of Victoria's pioneer residents died Thursday at the age of 89. Mary Louise Alexander, widow of the late Frederick Douglas Alexander.

She was born in Victoria.

Mrs. Alexander lived at 1023 Belmont.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Florence Winchester, 1446 Gladstone; a son, Harold, 1018 Collinson; two granddaughters; eight great-grandchildren; a brother, Arthur Barnswell of Victoria; two sisters, Mrs. H. Carter, Vancouver, and Mrs. William Graves, Portland, Ore. Numerous nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral service will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. in Sands Memorial Chapel of Chimes. Interment will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mines Make Better Show At Vancouver

VANCOUVER — Dynasty and Pyramid were each up 25 cents while Granisle and Brenda rose 10 cents each.

Also higher were Silverman Chieftain up 10 cents at .70, Nadian up 14 cents at 1.80 and Cariboo Bell up 10 cents at 1.85 and New Imperial up 5 cents at 1.55.

Laggards were Lornex down 15 cents at 5.10; Ocean off 6 cents at .41, Peace River Mining off 20 at 7.80, Bethlehem off 10 cents at 6.80 and Magnum off 6 cents at .40.

Western Pacific, Pacific Western Airline, Doman and MacMillan were higher among industrials but Pacific Coast Terminals and Alcan were sharply down.

Speculatives Down

TORONTO (CP) — Speculatives dominated otherwise dull dealings.

Norgold lost 5 cents to 27 cents in penny mines. Jay Exploration was off 1 cent at 87 cents and Silvermaque up 4 cents to 49½ cents.

In speculative oils, Provo advanced 8 cents to $2.49 on 10,551 shares.

Bank of Nova Scotia fell ⅛ to 70. Bank of Montreal ½ to 59 and Toronto-Dominion ¼ to 62½.

Among other industrials, Alcan was off ⅛ at 38⅞. CPR fell ½ to 63. Bell Telephone and Molson A ⅛ to 51¼ and 33¼ respectively, and Westcoast Transmission ⅜ to 29.

Golds moved ahead behind a gain of 1 to Dome, at 50½. Giant Yellowknife and Kerr-Addison advanced ¼ each to 13 and 10⅞.

In western oils, Home B and Union lost ½ each to 19½ and 29, while Scurry-Rainbow and Canadian Superior fell ⅜ each to 28⅜ and 19¼. Pacific Petroleum was down ⅛ to 11⅜.

Among metals Labrador and Pine Point were off ½ to 27¾ and 61 respectively. Cominco and Roman Corp gained ½ to 41 and 11⅝ respectively. Denison was ahead ¼ to 54 and Inco off ⅜ to 95.

Utilities Slip

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks were fractionally lower over a broad front.

Utilities were down. CPR lost ⅝ to 62⅝. Newfoundland Light and Quebec Natural Gas slipped ⅛ to 10¼ and 14¼ respectively.

Among banks, Canadian Imperial Commerce dropped one point to 62⅞ and Toronto-Dominion ⅛ to 62½.

Du Pont and Moore Corp. slid ⅛ to 42½ and 84¼ respectively. Chemcell was down ¼ to 13¾.

In metals Hudson Bay Mining declined 2 to 772 and Noranda ⅜ to 52½. Alcan added ¼ to 38¼. Dominion Bridge slipped ⅛ to 21⅛.

Atlantic Sugar climbed ¼ to 29¾.

Rally at New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied and all but erased a sharp early loss. Early nervousness was attributed to the increase in banks' prime rate to 5¾ per cent from 5½ after the closing Wednesday.

Sperry Rand was up 1⅛ at 26⅞. Douglas Aircraft declined 1¼ to 63½.

Pan American World Airways gained 1⅛, American Airlines 1⅝, United Air Lines 2¼ and Eastern Air Lines 2⅛.

Steels and motors eased.

Settlement Sequel

Lumber Boost Sure

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

The reluctant acceptance by all but a few of the smaller B.C. coastal lumber operators of the Nemetz wage settlement terms with the IWA is going to cost the industry over $40,000,000, and a local operator's opinion is that it will mean immediately higher domestic prices for lumber products.

"The $40,000,000 just cannot be produced out of a hat. It has to be paid for by somebody," he said.

LOCAL IMPACT

"Export prices can go up only so far as competition allows," it is the local consumer who will feel the impact of the settlement."

Local lumber prices have recently risen by as much as 10 per cent.

The operator said it was not known what would happen to the unidentified minor companies which had rejected the terms, although he agreed with F.I.R. spokesman Robert Billings, who said the settlement would force some of them out of business.

SPEED-UP ASKED

Trans Canada Pipe Lines has asked the U.S. Federal Power Commission to speed up consideration of its application to build a second main line to Ontario through the United States.

Trans Canada says that, unless the decision is given by mid-September, its Ontario natural gas customers will be 50,000,000 cubic feet short of natural gas requirements by Nov. 1.

BANK LOAN ARRANGED

New Imperial Mines has completed financing to bring its copper property near Whitehorse into production by next spring.

The company is reported by president Arnold Pitt as having negotiated a loan from the Toronto-Dominion Bank for $3,750,000, with the remaining $7,200,000 coming under agreement from Sumitomo Metal Mining Co. Ltd. of Japan.

Exploration has outlined 2,500,000 tons of 1.8 per cent copper of which 1,500,000 tons is proven and 1,000,000 is classed as possible.

BILL GETS SNUB

The private members bill in the House of Commons seeking permission for Interprovincial Pipe Line Company to split its stock five for one was again talked out by NDP members when it came up in the private bills session this week.

It goes back to the bottom of the list and it is unlikely that it will come up again before late this year or early in 1967.

MOLSON LOOKS AROUND

Molson Breweries Ltd. has reached the stage when it may be required to diversify its operation, according to H. de M. Molson who is succeeding his brother Tom as chairman of the board.

Mr. Molson, who was formerly president, said at the annual meeting that Canada's oldest brewing company had now expanded right across the country and had paid off its obligations in connection with the take-over of a number of companies.

BID FAILS

As an attempt to enter the U.S. beer market through a merger with Hamm Brewing Company had been vetoed by the U.S. authorities, Mr. Molson said that in its next expansion phase Molsons might have to turn to other fields of endeavor than the manufacture and distribution of beer.

He did not indicate in what direction the firm was looking, but he said that the company's progress would neither be arrested nor slowed down. The one criterion in the move toward diversification would be that it would be to the interest of the shareholders.

Bond Prices Stay Steady

Prices were generally unchanged at the close of quiet trading on the Canadian bond market this week.

Prices of short-term Canada issues closed with the 3¾-per cent Sept. 1, 1966 issue at $99.75 bid and $99.85 asked.

The long-term government of Canada bond market closed ¼ point lower than the previous week. The 4¼-per-cent September 1972 issue closed at 92⅝ bid and 92⅞ asked.

The chief feature of interest in the provincial market was a $50,000,000 Quebec Hydro issue dated July 15, 1966, in two maturities.

The corporate market was unchanged in a week of quiet trade.

Wednesday's bill tender saw 91-day bills and 182-day bills awarded average yields of 5 per cent and 5.10 per cent, down .04 and .05 per cent respectively.

Inco Accepts London Price

TORONTO (CP) — International Nickel Co. of Canada announced Thursday that effective July 1, its price for copper sold in European markets will be the same as the three-month futures-asked price for wire buyers quoted on the London Metal Exchange.

Inco's domestic price for copper remains 45 cents a pound Canadian, the announcement said.

'Even Insane Man Might Be Cunning'

Even a dangerously-insane person might be extremely cunning, Magistrate William Ostler said in central court Thursday at the trial of Leonard Bell, charged with breaking, entering and theft.

Bell has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to breaking into a service station at 3001 Douglas and stealing $8 in change.

Prosecutor Peter Eckett contended the accused broke a window in a dark area of the station, entered through the window without cutting himself, used a screwdriver taken from a locked toolbox to pry open a cigarette machine, left all doors locked.

'GOOD SENSE'

The actions, he said, showed "good sense and cunning" and were not the actions of an insane man.

Defence evidence that Bell is insane relied on isolated incidents and amnesia which, "by itself is not proof of insanity," Mr. Birkett said.

"The question is: What was the state of his mental health on the date of the offense," Jan. 11."

'INTERVIEWED'

"There is evidence he was normal" on that date.

Mr. Birkett contended that a psychiatric interview, "if you can call it that," was conducted in a jail cell Jan. 24 when Bell was "cowering in a corner muttering to himself."

Defence counsel told court Bell had been "totally amnesic for the four to five-month period surrounding the offense" and contended the Crown had only a circumstantial case regarding the charges.

The case was adjourned to July 8 for judgement.

James Wilton was fined $300 and had his driving licence suspended when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Court was told he was driving east on Fort June 23 and was involved in a collision with another vehicle as he turned east on Pemberton.

He was very vague, saying he didn't see the other car.

William H. Beaudry was also fined $300 and had his driving licence suspended when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Court was told Beaudry was seen June 29 driving north on Admirals when he ran into the rear end of a parked vehicle which was then rammed forward into the rear end of another. Total damage was estimated at $2,000.

The 23-year-old sailor was allowed by Magistrate Ostler to pay $50 a month for six months.

Walter Hanaka, 810 Esquimalt, was sentenced to three months after being found guilty earlier of possession of housebreaking tools.

Law and the Driver

SECTION 145(2) Passing when Meeting Vehicle

The driver of a vehicle upon a highway that has a width for only one line of traffic in each direction shall, when meeting another vehicle that is moving, drive the vehicle so that the other vehicle shall be able to travel in at least one-half of the main travelled portion of the highway as nearly as possible.

Comment.

This section requires that when a driver meets an oncoming vehicle he must allow him at least half the main travelled portion. This is especially so on highways with no centre line such as gravelled country roads. This also applies to private roads and logging roads which are for instance open to the public on weekends and during that part of the day when the logging trucks are not operating, etc.

Every motorist is entitled to his half of the road. This is something that should be remembered when travelling on the type of roads mentioned above.

Retarded Pupils Feted

Prize-giving day at the Sooke-Saanich Retarded Children school was held Wednesday at the Kiely farm in Sooke.

One of the principal guests of honor was Ernest Hyndman, superintendent of Sooke schools.

Book prizes were handed out to numerous pupils for their efforts on sports day.

In addition, the pupils were given Centennial medallions.

Pupil Gary was presented with a certificate of merit on completion of his school career.

A pair of ceramic cuff-links made at the school was presented to Mr. Hyndman by pupil Johnnie. Pupil Gary expressed a vote of thanks to conveners.

B.C. Hydro Blasted By McGeer

One of the worst industrial offenders in this province is the government-owned B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, says Dr. Pat McGeer, Liberal MLA for Vancouver-Point Grey.

In a speech on the development of the Vancouver area given to the Women's Canadian Club in Vancouver this week, Dr. McGeer said that while B.C. Hydro's executive offices are attractive, its backyard is a "disgraceful mess."

BLIGHT ON CITY

"The straggling rat's nest of overhead wires, strung from shabby and crooked poles blights every neighborhood in the city," he told the Vancouverites.

"The substations are stark and ugly, quite different from the neat and modern appearance of our new telephone exchanges," he said.

BURIED LINES

Dr. McGeer said power lines should all be buried underground (as they are in downtown Victoria) and that substations "should at least be dressed up with a little attractive planting and gardening."

The Liberal MLA said the public should demand more from its elected representatives because "we cannot depend on people from Ottawa, or Toronto, or Kelowna or Kamloops to recognize the potential of our city."

Fugitives Sought By Police

City police are looking for three teen-agers who escaped Wednesday from Brannan Lake young offenders unit.

They are:

Gordon Russell Ross, 14, 140 pounds, light brown hair, brown eyes;

Garry Clifford Wallace, 16, five feet, seven inches, 145 pounds;

Charlie Gerald Yon, 17, five-feet, seven inches, 135 pounds.

Topless Attire On Ban List

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) - City commission has passed an ordinance prohibiting topless entertainers or waitresses. The ordinance forbids "an entertainer, employer, patron or any other person to appear in . . . businesses, naked or in indecent attire or lewd dress or to make any indecent or obscene exposure of his or her person."

INDIANS DECLINE

The Abenaki Indians, estimated to number 3,000 in 1600, now are less than 700.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

The Buick Special Deluxe Sedan

There are few cars that can offer the same pride-of-ownership that a Buick can. Prestige, luxury, comfort, performance; Buick has them all. It's no secret that Buick is a superlative automobile. Most everybody knows it. But we'd bet that most everybody doesn't realize that there's a Buick model around that's right in competition with lower-priced cars. Buick Special!

Buick Special possesses all the traditional Buick qualities . . . tuned ride and handling, tuned performance, tuned styling. But Buick Special is just a little smaller. And remarkably easy to own.

Buick Special is practically in a class by itself. For one thing it's the only car you'll find with a standard V6 engine that achieves that elusive combination of performance and economy.

Buick Special is available with a choice of three seating styles. Standard bench, notch-back bench (buckets with the armrest down, bench with the armrest up), and honest-to-goodness buckets. So pick your Special and furnish the interior like you would your living-room.

OK. Buick Special is a little great. It's a Buick and it has a lot going-for it. It's a Buick and it's priced lower than a lot of cars that can't come close to Buick for prestige value. So what else is new?

Deals. Right now you've got a better-than-ever chance of getting the price you want along with a pretty astounding allowance on your present car. We call this a Sensational Summer Saving. You'll call it the easiest (and smartest) way to go first class you've ever seen.

So hop in your trade-in and drive on down to your Buick dealer's. And remember, do up your seat belts before you start the engine. It's a good habit.

Bishop with Headband

Hip Red Schnook Has Kronk, Will Ad Lib

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Would you believe Joey Bishop as a schnook Indian?

Well, that's what he's playing in a new movie. He is, in fact, Chief Kronk of the Kronkaway tribe. Bishop looks as much like an Indian as Elke Sommer, but it's surprising what makeup can do.

"Everybody looks like an Indian once they put on a wig and a headband," Bishop said, affronted by an insinuation that a genuine redskin should have been cast in the role.

ONE HIP INDIAN

"They wanted me to play a real schnook, but I was so believable as a Kronkaway in my Indian suit that they made me a hip Indian."

Long a nightclub comedian and television personality, Joey has made seven movies. This new one, Texas Across the River, stars his buddy, Dean Martin. Most comedians would sell their gag files to star in pictures, but Joe is indifferent.

"I don't know if I'd enjoy specializing in movies," he said.

INTERNATIONAL FLOP

"I don't think there's a place for me in films. I don't look funny enough for international audiences."

Bishop's forte has been monologue. And he is an acknowledged master of the ad lib. Neither talent lends itself to the rigid scripts of motion pictures.

He would rather ad lib from a stage or in front of a camera than anything else.

"The secret to ad libbing is to have a completely open mind," he said. "And then you must determine what your attitude will be — happy, miserable, surprised, disappointed or cynical.

TOUGH SPRINGBOARD

"I'm the only guy who walks out on a nightclub floor and hopes something goes wrong. If the mike is dead, or if the lights go out or if a waiter drops a trayful of dishes then I'm in business. Adversity is the springboard of humor.

"Some comedians even arrange a little adversity. Milton Berle has a waiter walk by him holding a chair upside down with all four legs in the air. He asks, 'Who shot the moose?'

"But to keep from offending people you have to turn the ad lib to your own stupidity. Self-deprecation is the answer."

GOOD QUESTION

At benefits and other "in" gatherings Bishop is always the funniest man in the room. Does Joey think funny or does he rely on other people feeding him straight lines?

"I'm not sure," he said. "I believe I always thought funny as a kid. It's almost not thinking at all. I find myself reacting naturally and instinctively to situations. I can't analyze myself, but it's like a line or a person or something lights a bulb for me."

The bulb will be glowing for Joey July 11 when he replaces Johnny Carson for five weeks. He'll have a live audience, an absence of Indian makeup and, thankfully, no script.

Cominco Strike Approved

TRAIL (CP) — More than 5,300 members of the Independent Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers at six British Columbia Cominco operations have voted overwhelmingly in favor of strike action in their dispute with the company. Everything now hinges on a meeting tentatively scheduled for July 4, between the union bargaining committee, government - appointed conciliation officer R. S. Raguin, and Cominco representatives.

'Return of the Gunfighter'

Western Star Back For Another Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robert Taylor is back making a movie at MGM.

That should evoke a rush of memories for the movie buff. All those wondrous old films: Camille, Waterloo Bridge, Broadway Melody, Johnny Eager, A Yank at Oxford, etc., etc.

And what about those titles: Wicked Woman, Society Doctor, Gorgeous Hussy, Her Cardboard Lover, Times Square Lady, etc., etc.

All these films and many more were made by Taylor during the longest contract ever fulfilled by a Hollywood star. He signed with MGM in 1934 when we was Spangler Arlington Brough, just out of Pomona College. His exclusive contract ended in 1958, but he remained until 1961 on a non-exclusive basis.

Now he's back playing in a western, Return of the Gunfighter.

LITTLE CHANGE

At 54, Taylor's face is a bit more seamed, but his figure remains a trim 175. The famous Taylor hairline, widow's peak and all, is the same as ever.

"I was skinny as a rail back in my early days here," he recalled. "I think I weighed 150 pounds when I made Camille. I had to sweep Garbo into my arms and carry her and I almost didn't make it. Those petticoats she was wearing must have weighed 50 pounds."

WESTERN SPECIALIST

Whereas he started his career as a romantic leading man, Taylor has specialized in westerns in recent years. He did his start in television with his Detectives series, which lasted three years. Now he prefers to stick to features.

"I just want to make enough money to pay my bills," he said. "That usually amounts to a couple of pictures a year. And I try not to plan them during the fishing season."

LOVES FISHING

Fishing is almost another profession for Taylor. Luckily his wife, the German beauty Ursula Theiss, shares his love of angling. The couple and their two children spend vacations on the Colorado River, where they keep a cabin cruiser.

"That's where we're heading as soon as this picture is over," he said.

Student Awards Presented

Class awards were presented to 26 pupils Thursday by Principal R. T. Kipling at Oak Bay Junior Secondary School awards day ceremonies.

Academic awards went to Geraldine Peet and John Caviness, Grade 8; Pamela Trythal, Grade 9, and Lynette Goff, Catherine Oliver and Robert McDougall, Grade 10.

Boy's citizenship award was won by Terry Hind and Dick Brown. Gail Gillespie won the Manning Trophy for girl's citizenship.

Long-Delayed Opera Live in B.C. at Last

VANCOUVER — The Three-penny Opera will be performed July 13 for the first time in Vancouver during the Ninth Vancouver Festival. The Playhouse Theatre Company, led by artistic director Malcolm Black, obtained the rights last year for this long sought-after show.

For many years the musical has been unavailable for production due to some legalities in the Will of composer Kurt Weill.

But at last with all avenues cleared director George Keathley and musical director Phillip Fradkin are free to present The Threepenny Opera with color and originality.

The word "originality" is the key to this fascinating show. There is no tradition to the production of "threepenny." It has never been produced or staged in the same way in its entire history, which began in Berlin in 1928.

ORIGINAL WAY

The Playhouse production will have a unique set — a series of "constructivist montages" inspired by the spirit of the piece rather than by historical research into the actual London of the period.

Brecht did not attempt an actual reproduction and each successive staging has been designed in a completely original way.

In the same way the costumes for the cast, headed by Irene Daley as Jenny and Paul Richards as Macheath, will be created to character rather than to period.

Barbara Franklyn will play Polly Peachum, Betty Phillips Mrs. Peachum and Pat Rose will be the street singer. Karl Norman, Ted Stickler, Eve Smith, Edward Greenhalgh complete the principal cast with a chorus of 12 as the street-walkers, drunks and beggars. Choreography is by Norbert Vesak.

New York Landmark

Broadway Hotel Closes Doors

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hotel Astor, which has stood along gaudy Times Square like a maiden aunt for nearly 62 years, calls it quits Thursday.

Her last 150 guests checked out, the 450 employees will leave their jobs, and the wrecking crew will take over. The Astor, a Broadway landmark, is coming down to make way for a 40-storey office building.

In the last 20 years New York has lost 33 hotels. On the same day the Astor closes, the Sheraton-East on Park Avenue also closes its doors. Nonetheless, New York has more hotel rooms now than it did in 1945 because of the new skyscraper hotels that have gone up and the emergence of motor hotels in Manhattan.

Saanich Ice Needed But Voters Decide

By RAY KERR

Saanich is heading for the Ice Age, and about time.

That was the gist of Thursday's noon luncheon meeting of the newly-formed Saanich Minor Hockey Association at Red Lion Inn.

Speakers like Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis and Coun. Ed Lum, chairman of parks and recreation, emphasized that council is cognizant of Saanich's need for an arena or a recreational complex including an arena.

Reeve Curtis said Saanich council recognizes the "urgent need" for ice facilities.

He said council will be talking to experts on arenas through this summer and fall, with a referendum expected to be put to the people in December elections.

Too Long

"We have been riding on the shoulders of other municipalities — Esquimalt, for example — for too long," the reeve said.

Lum said the recreation department recognizes the need, and not only for ice, "but for facilities which will be useful to older citizens."

He agreed with Reeve Curtis about the December referendum aim, and pointed out that work has to be done on two levels before the referendum is ready.

- Parks and recreation officials will be interviewing all interested parties and organizations.
- Council will be pursuing the engineering aspects of the project, contacting people in charge of community centres in other B.C. municipalities, and correlating all information.

Lum said he favors a major facility which would cater to every age group.

He said he would support any move that would have such a facility provided in Saanich, but again emphasized that the needs of senior citizens "have to be recognized."

Or Complex

The choice, he said, is between an arena and a sports complex which would include ice facilities.

Lum said he had no doubt these facilities would be filled.

Keith Lawrence, president of the minor hockey association, said the Saanich group was formed so the league will be able to function as soon as an ice surface is built in Saanich.

"Until then we don't plan to register any players, but we know there are about 500 Saanich boys playing in the Victoria and Esquimalt leagues."

Lawrence figures the league will have about 700 minor hockey players for the start.

"We'll try to raise funds for the association to be used for equipping the boys and get them playing as soon as possible after a rink is built," said Lawrence in explaining the purpose of Thursday's luncheon, which turned out to be a financial success.

Lawrence was "very pleased" and pointed out there were a lot of people who bought tickets but didn't attend.

New Arenas

Ivan Temple, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Hockey Association, appeared pleased at the new development, but pointed out that "Saanich should've had ice long ago."

He said there are six new arenas being built on the mainland this year, to bring the mainland total to 25. He also reminded that Cowichan has voted overwhelmingly in favor of an arena, to be built soon.

"We have 17,000 minor hockey players registered in British Columbia, and we hope to add Saanich to this total," he said.

Andy Hebenton, starry right winger with Victoria Maple Leafs, said he'd been away from Garden City for a few years and hadn't been able to do much here on the hockey front.

"But I have to try and help — my wife is getting tired of getting up at 5 or 6 in the morning."

Hebenton, one of pro hockey's "ironmen," urged everyone to support not only one ice surface for Saanich, "because we'll need more than one."

Joe Iannarelli, manager of Esquimalt sports centre, said he's ready to give any help required.

Joe recalled how he came to Victoria in 1961 and helped open the Esquimalt centre.

"At that time I commented that it would be nice to have one in Saanich and another in Oak Bay," he recalled.

"And everyone looked at me like I had holes in my head.

"I'm remembering that now," he said.

Iannarelli cautioned those interested in minor hockey to avoid "pampering the kids. Unfortunately, there's a lot of this going on in our area."

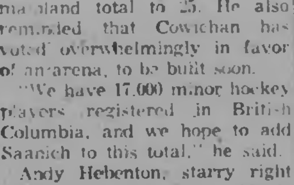

He said boys should be taking care of equipment, and doing other chores, instead of having coaches and managers saddled with the work.

"We should place more responsibility on players' shoulders," he said.

Jack Morgan, manager of Memorial Arena, said he was glad Saanich council recognizes the need for ice facilities.

"You've established the need. Now it's important to try and speed up the work on what sort of facilities will be built and where to put the building.

"The quicker the site is decided on the better it will be."

According to the Solunar Tables calculated for this area, the best times for hunting and fishing today and tomorrow will be as follows (Times shown are Pacific Daylight Time):

	A.M. Minor	A.M. Major	P.M. Minor	P.M. Major
TODAY	4:00	10:30	7:45	11:10
TOMORROW	4:45	11:30	8:40	11:55

Cassius Knows No Bounds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay solemnly revealed in a press conference Wednesday that he was not only the World Champion but the Universal Champion.

After announcing that 560,000 people would watch his next two fights "in person" and on television, Clay added that he was not counting visitors from outer space who buzz down to watch him in action.

"Don't laugh," Clay said with a serious expression. "I know they're out there, and I know who they are. They come to see me when I had my fight in Toronto and the trouble in Chicago. There was even one seen in Lewiston, Maine, at the exact time I was fighting. Check the reports, and you'll see that I'm right."

"Some people think it's swamp fire or something, but it's flying saucers."

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A two-goal effort in the second half by Wayne Shuttleworth propelled New Westminster Salmonbellies to a tight, 8-7, upset over league-leading Coquitlam Thursday night in an Inter-city Lacrosse League game.

New Westminster now is six points behind Coquitlam. The teams meet again Saturday in Coquitlam.

Coquitlam trailed through much of the first half but rallied to a 4-4 halftime draw only to see New Westminster pull ahead again in the second half.

Salmonbellies held an 8-4 lead going into the final 15 minutes and only some brilliant goal work by Les Norman gave New Westminster the win.

Mike Gates scored three of the Coquitlam goals. Marty Jordan, with two, and Bill Bradley and Ron Bodner scored the others. Dave Tory, Mac Tyler, Ron Loftus, Bill Wilkes, Ron Flaten and Jack Bionda scored the other New Westminster goals.

Nobody bets against top-weighted Arkle

Irish Wonder Horse Wows Europe

DUBLIN (CNS) — "Philosophers and theologians tell us that man is a superior being, but sometimes when you think of a horse like Arkle, and then you think of some of the people you know, you begin to wonder."

Charles Haughey, The Irish minister for agriculture and fisheries, was speaking in London recently when the owner of Arkle, Ireland's "wonder horse" and possibly the greatest steeplechaser ever, again received the trophy for "Racehorse of the Year."

Arkle was bought for a mere $3,500 in August 1960 by Anne, Duchess of Westminster. Twenty-three wins in 25 races has resulted in $200,000 in prize money, more than any of her horse in Europe.

The result of his races is such a foregone conclusion that the odds make betting on him pointless. He always carries the maximum weight.

Arkle's success is Ireland's pride. Bloodstock exports now are worth about $12 million a year. Ireland's racing and breeding prestige is going up in every country with the help of horses like Arkle.

NO PROBLEM

Arkle is trained by Tom Dreaper at Kilsallaghan, County Dublin. The stables are a place of pilgrimage for thousands of Arkle fans. Foreign letters to "Arkle, Ireland" reach there with ease.

The Dreapers have had to curtail visiting to fixed hours because it upsets the day-to-day work in the stables and disturbs Arkle's training.

STOUT AND EGGS

Arkle meets the visitors himself. If several lumps of sugar are not produced at once, he sniffs at the visitor's pockets until he finds them. Arkle has no special diet but likes a few bottles of stout and four or five eggs a day.

Pat Taaffe, 36, a slim six-footer, is Arkle's jockey in all the big races. Taaffe believes that Arkle, still only nine years old and not yet past his peak, will continue to dominate the racing world. His only fear is that the winning will become monotonous and other horses will not compete.

GOES FOR SIX

Arkle has won the Cheltenham Gold Cup three years in a row, and barring accidents, he should make it a record six.

Arkle-mania runs high, even among the nonracing public. His successes, often by as much as 30 lengths, make a front-page story in all newspapers.

Enthusiasts are urging that a permanent memorial be erected to the horse at the end of his career, and that he be honored by a special postage stamp. In 1965 some newsmen wanted to name Arkle "sports personality" of the year.

It is unlikely that Arkle will ever run in the Liverpool Grand National. The risk of injury from loose or falling horses in such a big field would be too great, and the loss to Ireland too serious.

But Arkle is not the only Dreaper attraction. His stable companion, Flyingbolt, two years younger, is mirroring his successes with equally predictable regularity. It is even suggested by some that Flyingbolt is the better horse. They have never raced together and Flyingbolt has not yet run in the Cheltenham Gold Cup.

Taaffe also rides Flyingbolt. He says that he will retire with him.

Junior Tennis Tourney Starts

The annual Pacific junior tennis championships will be held this weekend at Victoria Racquet Club.

Some 50 young tennis players from the Mainland are scheduled to play in the tourney.

Also competing in the tournament, which starts at 11 a.m. today, will be youthful players from Victoria and other Island centres, and a group of Alberta guests.

The local contingent will be led by Theodora Booker and Roger Skillings, who won under-16 Canadian titles last year.

Play will continue Saturday and Sunday, starting at 9 a.m. Finals are scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Baltimore Finds Missing Muscle

Baltimore Orioles used to be known as one of those all-pitch, no-hit clubs.

But that was before Frank Robinson joined Brooks Robinson, creating the most murderous slugging combination in the American League.

The two have done their share to keep Baltimore on top, but others are beginning to join in as well.

Like shortstop Luis Aparicio, who already has 14 home runs and is hitting the ball as if he was Willie Mays' No. 1 pupil.

Aparicio, who hit only eight homers all last season, had another feast Thursday as Baltimore bombed Kansas City Athletics, 11-3.

The Orioles gave an indication of things to come in the opening inning, when they scored three runs on five hits off starting pitcher Ralph Terry.

Included in the barrage were doubles by Aparicio and Frank Robinson.

Aparicio's single drove in two more runs in the fourth inning.

And in the eighth inning, another five-run uprising featured a double by Aparicio.

TWINS BLANKED

Cleveland Indians remained 5½ games behind, in third place, by blanking the hot-and-cold Minnesota Twins, 4-0.

Cleveland's stars were Fred Whitfield, who drove in three runs with a two-run homer and single, and Steve Hargan, who pitched a seven-hitter.

While the weak-hitting Orioles suddenly have found muscle, the opposite is true of the San Francisco Giants, National League leaders.

PITCHING FOUND

They have found the pitching. Some of it has been provided by Juan Marichal, who has a 13-3 record.

But his performances was more or less expected.

Gaylord Perry's wasn't, not after he posted an 8-12 record last season.

After he beat Atlanta Braves, 3-1, Thursday, Perry's 1966 record stood at 11-1.

And that's merely tops in the majors, percentage-wise.

SIX STRAIGHT

The triumph was Perry's sixth straight and the first of his career against the Braves. He had 12 strikeouts — and allowed seven hits.

The Giants failed to gain, however. The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates remained three games behind by walloping Houston Astros, 9-0. Vernon Law pitched a six-hitter.

B. W. Cheeks Given Chop

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Lions of the Western Football Conference have released B. W. Cheeks, a highly touted offensive halfback from Texas.

Cheeks, a free agent, was signed in February. Last year he led the North American Football League in rushing and was named to the all-star team.

Lions' coach Dave Skrien, after watching Cheeks during the past three days of the Lions' rookie camp, said simply:

"We have better backs on the team."

A three-run home run by Ron Provan climaxed a six-run fifth inning as Dormans beat Nelson's, 7-3, at Central Park Thursday in an Independent Athletic Association game.

The victory solidified Dormans' hold on second place. They now trail leading William Head by one game and have a game and a half margin on third-place King's Hotel.

Nelson's 000 200 0— 3 8 5
Dormans 010 060 x— 7 4 0
K. Purer and J. Pringle; P. Plotnikoff, J. Johnson (4) and B. Bourke. Home runs: Dormans—R. Provan.

One-Hit Win

Bill Polz pitched a one-hitter at Central Park Thursday as Stubbs' Construction beat Newstead Realty, 3-1, in a Junior Men's Softball League game.

Victoria's Best Invited

Youth Canada's Soccer Hope

By ROBIN JEFFREY

A soccer practice at Victoria High School Saturday, July 9, could be the first step on a road which would take some young Victoria players to the Pan-American Games, the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, and ultimately the 1970 World Cup.

It's all part of the Dominion Football Association's plan to see that Canada has a strong soccer team in the 1967 Pan-American Games in Winnipeg, an entry in the 1968 Olympics, and a chance at the 1970 World Cup.

The DFA has scheduled a provincial play-off for Winnipeg at the end of this August. Each province has been invited to send an all-star under-23 team, and from these provincial teams, the Canadian national side will be selected.

The chosen players will be brought together for a two-to-three-week training session in Toronto prior to the 1967 Pan-Am Games.

Len Burkinshaw of Vancouver is the man behind the B.C. team. The big, forceful Englishman is B.C.'s director of coaching, and for the past few months, he's been putting together an under-23 team on the mainland.

He started with 100 players, but the number is now down to about 24. It's a good 24.

Burkinshaw's youngsters beat the B.C. senior all-stars (the team which lost 3-0, to Tottenham June 8) 2-1 in an exhibition game June 5.

Burkinshaw feels confident his B.C. team can form the nucleus of a Canadian team. And, "He's got good reason to be," says Victoria United's Dave Stothard who captained the senior B.C. all-stars this season.

"They play control soccer from the word go, but it looks very nice. He used a lot of players in the game against us, but they all seemed capable and very fit," Stothard says.

About his visit to Victoria, Burkinshaw says, "We want to look at some of the lads over there to see if any conform to the provincial pattern. I think we have a very good chance to form the nucleus of the Canadian team from the lads we coach and train in the B.C. area.

"My job is to get as many boys as possible onto the national team."

And if B.C. does dominate the Canadian side, Burkinshaw would almost have to be asked to coach the team.

About 70 invitations have been issued to young players in the Victoria area, and players will also come down from up-Island points. But they'll have to show a lot in Burkinshaw's 2½-hour session to earn the free trips to Vancouver to work out with the provincial team.

The reason for the under-23 stipulation for the national side is two-fold. Officials want to avoid any question of professionalism, and it's assumed that young players won't have had any professional dealings.

Secondly, players must be young enough to be able to profit from an intensive training program which will continue to stress soccer fundamentals.

"I think we can get together a bunch of lads who can give them all a run for their money in Winnipeg next year," Burkinshaw says of the amateur soccer teams which will come to the Pan-Am Games from South America.

The session July 9 begins at 10 a.m. Players have received individual invitations in the mail. Coaches holding B.C. certificates are asked also to attend.

Defending Champ Beaten By Determined U.S. Netter

LONDON (CP) — The United States' Billie Jean Moffitt King crushed defending - champion Margaret Smith of Australia and Maria Bueno of Brazil defeated Britain's Ann Haydon Jones in a tense cliffhanger Thursday to qualify for the women's singles final of the Wimbledon lawn tennis championships.

Mrs. King took only 47 minutes to defeat Miss Smith 6-3, 6-3, and Miss Bueno beat Mrs. Haydon Jones 6-3, 9-11, 7-5.

The American, seeded fourth, and the Brazilian, seeded second, decide the title Saturday.

MEN'S FINAL

Today, Manuel Santana of Spain and Dennis Ralston of the United States battle it out for the men's singles title.

For Billie Jean, Thursday's result was a repeat of her victory over Miss Smith in the South African finals earlier this year, and sweet revenge for the beating the Australian girl gave her in the finals here three years ago. And for Maria, a Wimbledon winner in 1959, 1960, and 1964, it was a triumph over her own mercurial temperament.

HIGH SPOT

Her match against Mrs. Haydon Jones, five times a Wimbledon semi-finalist and never a finalist, was the high spot of the day for the centre court crowd. Eight times Mrs. Haydon Jones, No. 3 seed, teetered on the brink of defeat with match points against her, and each time she held on until eventually she had to give in.

The capacity crowd of 16,000 fans showed their partiality for the British woman by cheering every point gained by Mrs. Haydon Jones, whether it was a winner or an error by the Brazilian.

FIGHTS BACK

But the Brazilian, now in her fourth Wimbledon final, showed her champion qualities.

In the final set, Maria saw a 5-0 lead whittled away to nothing but she kept command of herself through the match, which lasted almost two hours, and never once cracked under the strain.

The semi-final between Mrs. King and Miss Smith, No. 1 seed here, never reached the heights of the Bueno - Jones match.

LOB STRATEGY

Billie Jean, who before Thursday had played Miss Smith 14 times and won only twice, drew on experience learned in the South African final and lobbed the big Australian girl to prevent her taking control at the net. As well, Billie Jean, one of the best volleyers in the game, was in tip-top form with her volleys.

New Football League Set Up as Corporation

CHICAGO (AP) — A new professional football league, with $24,000,000 in its kicker to outbid the National and American Leagues for player talent, has been announced by Frank Leahy, the former Notre Dame coach.

It is a unique corporation program consisting of 12 franchises in metropolitan centres with Anaheim, Calif., and its new stadium, the only member so far identified.

Bruce Erlhof of Santa Ana, Calif., an attorney named executive vice-president of the United States Football League, said the $24,000,000 includes the price of franchises.

Leahy, who will serve as chairman of the board with broad powers, said Wednesday: "We are willing and adequately prepared to spend money for outstanding players — and can go to $500,000 to get any one of them."

The recently-announced NFL-AFL merger touched off the USFL.

"We will have a common player draft based on a central scouting system as soon as the regular intercollegiate football season is completed in November and will be ready to start business in the fall of 1967," said Leahy.

The USFL will be programmed like this:

- Incorporated in Delaware with headquarters in New York.
- The first six franchises will be announced July 20, the next three Aug. 15 and the last three Sept. 1. Among cities suggested were Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, Memphis, New Orleans, Seattle, Phoenix, Cincinnati.
- Players and coaches will have rights to buy stock in teams they represent.
- Intra-league exhibition games will be played, and perhaps televised by Telstar, in Europe, South America and the Orient during the first three years.
- Each franchise owner will assure satisfactory off-season employment for players.
- Each team will have a president, who will sit on a board of directors that will set policy in business matters.
- A coaches' board will schedule games and handle a central annual draft.
- The league will have a chairman of the board (Leahy) who will have jurisdiction over two separate divisions of the league.

There was no comment from NFL or AFL officials.

West Indies Held Then Wickets Fall

NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuters) — Any elation England felt after dismissing the West Indies for 235 when the third test began here Thursday vanished quickly as they lost three wickets with only 13 runs scored.

By the close Colin Cowdrey and Tom Graveney had taken England to 33 for 3 to complete an enthralling day's cricket.

There did not seem to be any particular life in the pitch to explain 13 wickets tumbling on the first day of a test. The pace bowlers were always able to move the ball about in the atmosphere but the majority of deliveries came off the turf in orthodox fashion.

West Indies, one up in the series, batted unevenly and the culmination of their relative collapse came when fast bowler John Snow dismissed Peter Lashley (49) and Gary Sobers (30) in the same over. The score was then 144 for 5.

Seymour Nurse batted with commendable aggression and made 93 with 11 fours before being caught at mid-off against the new ball. Otherwise England's accurate bowling proved too good.

Garden Notes

Spit and Polish

By M. V. CHESNUT

At this time of the year, with most of the strenuous work out-of the way, gardening settles down to a rather pleasant pottering, doing the little jobs of maintenance, none of them particularly pressing or important, but in the aggregate putting the spit and polish on the garden's appearance.

A profitable hour or two, for instance, can be spent in removing the faded blossoms from the early-flowering shrubs. This makes a big difference to their appearance; lilacs in particular look disreputable when covered with faded brown blooms. By preventing the shrub from setting seed in this way, not only is its appearance improved, but you keep it from overtaxing its strength making useless seeds when all its vigor should be directed into preparing for next year's crop of bloom.

Removing the spent bloom is a bit tricky, for if you snip off too much stem you are cutting away next year's flowers along with your prunings. With some varieties, the easiest way of cleaning up the bush is to bend the spent flower truss upward and toward the north, away from the sunward side, whereupon it should snap off cleanly at the correct point.

This is a very good time, too, to get in a few licks around the bedding-out plants in the flower beds. After recovering from the shock of being planted out, the plants settled down into a nice spurt of growth, but the rate of growth is slowing down a bit now, and a mild shot in the arm is indicated.

For my money, just about the most satisfying job in the garden is feeding these plants with liquid fertilizer. They seem so grateful for this little attention, and perk up so cheerfully, rather like a puppy who has been patted on the head and called a good dog. Besides, it is such a delightfully lazy way to garden.

All you need is a bucket of liquid fertilizer, an old tin cup and a hand trowel. For your fertilizer, dissolve one tablespoonful per gallon of water, using any of the high-test soluble kinds such as Liqui-Life, Hyponex, Rapid-Gro, Instant Vigoro, Old Gardener, Alaska Fish, Alginure Liquid Seaweed or Liquid Blue Whale.

Sprawl out on the grass alongside your plants, making yourself thoroughly comfortable. With the hand trowel, scratch a little basin around each plant and, give a couple of cupsful of the mixture, pouring it very slowly into the depression. After it sinks in, scratch a little dry soil up around the base of the plant to cover the wet spot and delay evaporation. While you're at it, stir the soil between the plants and pull up any weeds which might have sprung up.

Working right down close to the plants in this way, you spot a lot of things you never would have noticed from the far end of a hoe handle. You see the slimy trail of a slug across the soil, for instance, and the nibbled edges of some leaves, reminding you to tuck a few slug pellets under the spread of the foliage.

You see the puckered or down-curled leaf which indicates the presence of sap-sucking aphids on the undersides, and you make a mental note to get out the spray gun or duster. You spot a broken shoot on that prize double petunia, a casualty when the children's ball went out of bounds, and you are inspired to try your hand at a bit of surgical repair, using match sticks or toothpicks as splints and clay or mud for a cast.

In this close-up gardening, too, you see the true beauty of the leaf, the manner in which a bud forms and unfolds, and the delicate charm of the individual floret in a way you would never know from just a casual stroll through the garden.

ART BUCHWALD Changes Gear

Bathroom People Hit Back

The bathroom industry has struck back at Ralph Draino for his attack on bathtub safety in his best-selling book, Unsafe At Any Faucet.

Ever since Mr. Draino pointed out that bathtubs were unsafe, wash bowls were too low, and glass shower doors collapsed when someone started singing, the industry has been waging an all-out campaign to save sagging bathroom sales.

Mr. Henry Cord in an address to the National Bathers Safety Council reported that bathtub sales were off 3 per cent because of Mr. Draino's attacks. "If people start taking less baths, this country could go right into a recession," he said.

"Ever since Mr. Draino's scurrilous book came out, children have refused to brush their teeth in present day wash bowls as they claim they're too low. I tell you it's not our bathrooms that are unsafe, but the nut behind the fixtures.

"Most people do not know how to take a bath properly, and all the government control in the world will not prevent an accident when an inexperienced person turns on the hot and cold water."

Mr. Cord said that he believed that bathing licences should only be issued to those persons who had taken lessons from professional bathers. "Bathers need 'up to date' bathing skills, rather than shift the responsibility to the 'bathroom people.'

"What with increased washrooms, showers, and bathtubs, we have added congestion, changing conditions, and situations that no bather had to contend with 10 years ago.

"Bathroom users must realize that all the unbreakable soap dishes, vertical safety bars, and eight-ply rubber mats won't help if the bather has been drinking or taking a shower faster than the legal 'speed limits.'"

Mr. Cord said, although he considered our bathrooms the best and safest in the world, his company would continue to work on making them even safer and more solid. But he called for more defensive bathing on the part of the public.

"Bathtub users must look to right and to the left before getting into the tub. They must slow down when reaching for a washcloth or a bar of soap, and they must learn to be ready for the unexpected when they are rinsing off.

"Our studies have shown that more accidents in the bathroom are caused by shampooing one's hair than by any structural weaknesses in the wash bowl. The best bathroom lights cannot help someone when he gets soap in his eyes."

Mr. Cord announced that he was giving $100,000 to the Bathroom Foundation, which would send qualified bathroom instructors around the country to teach men and women how to avoid the hazards of bathroom bathing.

"They will be equipped with visual aids," he said, "including old Brigitte Bardot movies to show how to bath the right and wrong way.

"Playboy magazine has also offered to help us in any way they can."

After Mr. Cord made his speech, I contacted Mr. Draino for a reaction. He scoffed at Mr. Cord's statements. "It's typical of the bathroom people to attack the bather instead of the tub. I will be very interested in studying their films. Brigitte Bardot has always been a big favorite of mine."

SYDNEY HARRIS

Answers Critics

Quite a few indignant letters have arrived from 'chilbren of all ages (mostly in their 60s, I suspect), who resent my recent column on The Sound of Music winning an Oscar as the best film of the year.

Most of these wrathful folk want to know why I'm opposed "to good clean wholesome family entertainment," and ask challengingly whether I would prefer to have seen the award given to a film that featured depravity and disillusionment.

In the first place, I'm not opposed to good clean wholesome family entertainment. The film my whole family enjoyed the most this year was Those Magnificent Men In Their Flying Machines, and I haven't a word to say against it — except that it didn't deserve an Oscar award.

What disqualified The Sound of Music in my eyes (and ears) was its cheap and obvious effort to combine a pleasant and feather-brained musical with a Message.

What I found offensive was not the loose vulgarization of the Trapp Family story so much as the ham-handed attempt to Say Something Significant about the Nazis and liberty and democracy and the religious spirit and all the other shallow clichés of Broadway and Hollywood.

If it had contented itself — as Those Magnificent Men did — with simply telling an amiable tale in a beautiful Alpine setting, nobody could have faulted it for not pretending to be what it wasn't.

But when it laboriously interlineates such a fable with third-rate sermonizing about religious and spiritual truths (not to mention its political baby-talk), then the film asks to be judged by more severe standards of criticism.

Moreover, even these objections to the falsity of the picture do not cut to the heart of my original comment. I suggested that if the Oscar is to have any meaning, it should be awarded to a film of some stature, significance and bold handling of a mature theme.

If it is merely given to a popular and commercial success, then we might as well have the theatre owners choose and give the award among themselves on closed TV.

As to presenting an award to a film that "features depravity and disillusionment," I don't think the content of a story determines its inner worth. Some stories of depravity are themselves depraved, and some are illuminating, moving, and even ennobling. As Dostoyevsky said to Gogol, "it depends on which bail you put into which pocket."

A "wholesome" story can be sickening if it ignores, distorts or falsifies the truths of history and the imperatives of depth-psychology. There is certainly a place for wholesome entertainment, but why does that word always have to mean brainless, infantile, and sentimental?

Pat Neal to Go Back to Work

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

LONDON (NANA) — Pat Neal, the hard-luck kid, is returning to work in the fall. The Oscar-winning actress will star—live—in the BBC-TV production of Strindberg's one-act play, The Stronger—an apt title for the woman whose life was almost snuffed out 18 months ago in Hollywood after a series of massive strokes. She is now, according to her husband, Roald Dahl, "almost 100 per cent well, and she wants to work." There will be pleasures before business. In a few weeks Pat will accompany Roald to Tokyo where he will write dialogue for the new James Bond picture, You Only Live Twice. (Says Pat, fervently, "You can say that again!")

Peter Sellers, now playing the king of hearts in Jonathan Miller's Alice in Wonderland, for television, will speed to Spain when he finishes, to direct The Bo Bo, in which Marlon Brando was to have starred before he became ill and decided to rest instead . . . James Mason gets Geraldine Chaplin for his leading lady in Strangers in the House.

Tips You Off

PARIS — For me, driving is the most rewarding way of seeing Europe. Freedom of time and movement. A close look at the countryside. Leisure when you want it — a picnic lunch beside a Spanish mountain stream, an old Roman road and a meadow full of tiny daisies stays with me in vivid detail. (Many an air flight I've forgotten.)

Plan a circular tour — that car has to end up in the town where you rented it, or you pay to have it driven back. Few exceptions.

In the excitement of getting away, don't forget to have them show you the tools. On a rainy day in France, I looked in the back of the Dauphine and found everything but the jack. So I levered the car up with slippery fence posts and changed the tire.

Later I found that they stow the jack in a bracket alongside the engine. (Who would think of looking there?)

Yellow line (secondary) roads are more scenic than red line (highway) routes.

Safer, too. Continental drivers become racing types once behind the wheel and gallantly murder each other at about twice the rate we do in North America.

"In August we will be driving from Madrid to Portugal and back to Madrid. We would appreciate any advice . . ."

At that hot time of the year, stay north. I would head straight up to Santander on the Cantabrican coast. From Burgos north it's majestic country of cracked-brown villages and long yellow plains.

In the north, dip off the coast into the cool mountains — the Picos de Europa. You can fish the Esla here — they use a 15-foot rod and catch a trout that has a pink salmon flesh.

The people are Asturians — a Celtic people with blue eyes and red cheeks. You return to the coast and follow the pilgrims' road to Compostella and the shrine of St. James. Follow the coast into Portugal. Return through the pine hills at Guarda in the north. To Salamanca and the walled city of Avila and to Madrid.

"We would like to drive in England but worry about the driving on the left hand side of the road . . ."

I really have to keep my mind on it for the first 24 hours — there's a tendency to slide over to the right if you daydream. Particularly if the road is empty. But after a day, left-hand driving seems quite normal.

Stay on back roads and England is the liveliest of all countries to drive in. It seems so uncrowded. All hedgerows and a thatched roof village with a leaded window pub just around the turn. A run of 150 miles a day is enough on these roads.

". . . driving in Italy½"

The big, new autostrada are straight, antiseptic, divided speedways completely lacking in color. They bypass off the beautiful towns. Take the older highways that follow the Roman consular roads.

". . . driving in France and speed limits?"

The few speed limit signs I've seen list the limits only for certain months of summer. The French pay little attention to these and gun past you usually shaking their fists. Wild driving country but very pretty back roads.

". . . and in Germany½"

Well-marked autobahns, good cars, very correct drivers insisting on such things as right-of-way — and, for some reason, one of the highest accident rates per mile in Europe.

"We have been in Mexico but have never driven there and wonder what you think."

Many highways down to Mexico City now. You get stretches of potholes without warning. Burros wander onto the road. Most bridges are narrow — marked "puerto angosto." Don't crowd the man coming or your luck.

Most truck drivers are swingers at the wheel. Several flashes of the headlights means, "I'm coming through the bridge FIRST!" Or it may mean, "I have no brakes." But I love to drive in Mexico.

As French Leave NATO

U.S. Takes Over Warhead Control

PARIS (UPI) — The U.S. told France Thursday it is taking over sole control of the jointly-owned nuclear warheads used by French troops in Western Germany. It said the move was a result of France's decision to pull its troops out of the NATO integrated command.

U.S. ambassador Charles Bohlen handed a memorandum announcing the decision to Herve Alphand, secretary-general of the French foreign office.

FORMALLY TODAY

France formally pulls its troops out of the organization today.

The pullout began unofficially Thursday when French Gen. Jean Crepin handed over command of NATO's forces in central Europe to German Gen. Johann Adolf Von Kielmansegg.

The U.S. move to take over sole control of the warheads was explained as a move to keep them in NATO, had abrogated the bilateral agreements governing the supply of U.S. nuclear warheads for French rockets.

The warheads are fitted to French Rockets in the southern part of West Germany, not far from the Iron Curtain. Hitherto they have been operated on the "two key" system — whereby the nuclear warheads could not be fired until both a French and an American officer had turned a special key in their mechanism.

This is the system followed in other NATO forces stationed in Germany and equipped with U.S. nuclear warheads. The warheads now on French bases will be returned to U.S. bases.

When Charles de Gaulle first announced he was quitting NATO, French officials expressed the hope the warheads might be allowed to remain.

Vancouver Mercury Takes Dip

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver residents grumbling about the January - in - June weather aren't kidding.

The temperature plunged to 42.8 Wednesday, and it was 43.8 this morning — record lows for June 29 and 30.

A check with the weather office showed that four days in January had minimums of 40 or higher, including Jan. 29 at 42.

Delta Workers Call Strike Vote

DELTA (CP) — Municipal workers in this Vancouver-area community Thursday called for a government-supervised strike vote in their contract dispute with the municipality. They seek a 47-cent-an-hour increase in a one-year contract on a basic wage of $2.03. A conciliation report, rejected by the 75 workers, recommended 30 cents in two years.

Clerk Unable to Identify Accused

VANCOUVER (CP) — The clerk held up last year in the celebrated mutilated money case was unable Thursday to identify three men charged with the crime as the holdup trio.

Clerk Douglas Kuzmicky gave evidence at the preliminary hearing of Joseph Percival, 37, James McDougall, 32, and David Louis Harrison, 32, all charged with conspiracy, armed robbery and possession of stolen money.

Kuzmicky was on duty at Canadian Pacific Merchandise Services in Vancouver on Feb. 11, 1965, when the firm was robbed of $1,200,000 in mutilated money from the Bank of Canada.

He was asked Thursday if he could identify the accused as the men who held him up.

"I cannot identify them," he answered.

De Gaulle, Russia Agree on Europe

MOSCOW (AP)—French President de Gaulle joined his Soviet hosts Thursday in calling for an end to all foreign intervention in Viet Nam and for the solving of European problems by the European countries themselves.

The mildly-worded Vietnamese section of a 2,000-word joint declaration seemed to indicate no change of position by either side, but the section on Europe was in line with the Soviet contention that the United States should not be a party to solving European problems.

It said such problems "should first of all be discussed within European limits."

De Gaulle did not mention Viet Nam in a Kremlin toast pledging "friendship and co-operation between France and the Soviet Union."

He said the importance of his trip was that it accorded with the world's desire for an end to the cold war, which, he maintained, had led only to an "unstable, deceptive and futile balance" in the world.

SKIRTED AROUND

The declaration skirted around the heart of the East-West problem in Europe, the division of Germany, by saying only that views were exchanged on the German question.

Concerning Viet Nam, both sides said the war there was a menace to world peace and the only possible solution was a strict application of the Geneva agreements of 1954.

The declaration summed up de Gaulle's visit by saying it provided "a fundamental contribution to the development of accord between the Soviet Union and France" and strengthened "the incipient feeling of trust in Europe."

Polynesia A-Test Imminent

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI)—French scientists Thursday were reported ready to trigger an atomic device, but natives in this sleepy port 700 miles from the blast site appeared unconcerned.

The test was described by informed sources as imminent.

Gen. Pierre Billotte, French minister of overseas territories, flew to the Gambier Islands atoll of Rikitea, where he planned to watch the blast from a distance of 300 miles.

"I want to be close to the native population at the time of the explosion," said Billotte as he left Papeete. He said he planned to stay at Rikitea until wind conditions were perfect for the blast.

The minister apparently hoped to quiet protests from critics who said the test would spread radioactive fallout over Polynesia.

Ferries Face Big Weekend

Washington's state ferry system is getting prepared for the long July 4 weekend — adding extra ferries where past years have indicated most need.

Extra services will be in effect on all major routes by this afternoon.

The extra ferries will continue to operate through Tuesday morning, as traffic requires.

Re: THE SPIRITUAL AND MORAL ASPECTS OF VIVISECTION

I cannot stress too strongly my abhorrance of vivisection as practised all over the world today.

All vivisection, in afflicting fear, torment, prolonged suffering and the increasing of disease and death in God's living creatures, is evil and immoral, and instead of helping us, will destroy us, because it is against God.

What profit to prolong human life beyond the purpose of God.

Eccles: 3:2—"There is a time to be born and a time to die." And to relive (in many cases) our self-wrought afflictions by the evil practice of vivisection. It will never be right and unless repented of, and abolished by law, by the will of the people, will bring about a reaping of the very sufferings inflicted on these helpless creatures, if not in this life, throughout all eternity, in all who practice and condone it.

Gal. 6:7—"Be not deceived God is not mocked. Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Particularly terrible is the involvement of children and youth by educational systems in this evil practice and we shall have to answer for it.

Mark 9:42—"Whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and he were cast into the sea."

There is no excuse for us to plead ignorance of what vivisection really is. In our Public Library is the book "A Century of Vivisection and Anti-Vivisection" by E. Westacott, it gives factual evidence of our spiritual and moral accountability to same, particularly stressing vivisection as a WELL PAID occupation, steeped in commercial interests.

Luke 16:13—"No servant can serve two masters for either he hate the one and love the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

God is still and always will be the Ruler of the universe despite what man may think or do.

What we need is God-fearing physicians and surgeons, who minister to the body, soul and spirit of the individual, and we, the people, need more faith in God, and courage to co-operate with them.

A noted American psychiatrist has said, "It is essential for the health of our society that we prevent cruelty. Especially important is the prevention of mental attitudes which gloss over and justify cruelty, while in fact encouraging the spread of same."

sincerely,
(Mrs.) Sybil Blyth.

New Command

New Commanding officer of the destroyer escort HMCS St. Croix will be Lt.-Cmdr. Stanley W. Riddell, 1028 Verrinder Avenue. He served aboard the St. Croix as executive officer since 1965. He will succeed Commander John S. Hertzberg.

Victoria Host To Pupils

The Canadian youth travel program starts again July 5, and Victoria will play host to 24 senior high school students from Yellowknife, N.W.T.

By the end of 1967, it is hoped that 12,000 youngsters from all parts of Canada will be shuttled back and forth across the country to spend a week abroad in another province.

The youngsters travel in groups of 24 (12 boys, 12 girls), and range in age from 15 to 18 years.

The program is sponsored jointly by the federal and provincial governments through the Centennial Commission in Ottawa.

Guns Salute Canada Day

Canada Day will be observed July 1 with a 21-gun salute being fired from Macaulay Point at noon by the 5th (B.C.) Field Battery Royal Canadian Artillery.

Thirty-Five Fires Still Burn

The B.C. Forest Service reported Thursday that 59 forest fires were extinguished this week and that 35 fires were still burning.

Fire hazard was low to moderate throughout most parts of the province although drying conditions were expected to continue in the southern interior, where 26 of the 53 new fires occurring this week were reported.

Some $38,500 spent on fire fighting costs during the week brought the cost of the current forest fire season to $186,900, compared with a cost of $456,400 at this time last year.

South Tip of Island Marks Dominion Day

The long weekend entertainment calendar points to a heavy agenda for Southern Vancouver Island fun seekers.

There will be parades, a baby crawling contest, and a Hawaiian style dance with real orchids for the ladies, a building inspector riding a live steer through Langford, folk singing and various athletic events all planned for Dominion Day Celebrations.

Sidney Day starts at 9 a.m. today with a Lions Club pancake breakfast at the corner of Fifth and Beacon.

A 42-entry parade with at least five bands will leave Sidney Elementary School at 11 a.m. and wind through the village to Sanscha Hall.

The rest of the events will be held on the hall grounds. There will be games of chance, baseball games, tug-o-wars, a strawberry tea, and a teen-age dance during the afternoon.

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes will lay the cornerstone for the Sidney and North Saanich Centennial Library at 4:30 p.m.

Sidney festivities will wind up with Sanscha's Tropicana dance at 9 p.m. where 300 mauve baby Vanda orchids will be given to the women. The flowers have arrived from Hawaii.

Centennial Square will be an integral part of Victoria's celebrations. At 2 p.m. today there will be folksinging, at 7 p.m. there will be music by the Talismen, and at 8 p.m. it will be excerpts from the Smile Show.

The Twilight Singers, a mixed group whose ages range from 60 to 84 will perform in the square at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Colwood's champion baby crawler will be chosen at 2:30 p.m. today during the community's Dominion Day carnival which starts at 1 p.m. at the Colwood Community Hall.

The crawling race is open to all babies under 12 months who cannot walk.

The carnival will also feature games of chance, a horseshoe competition, and a costume parade at 3 p.m.

Langford's Fun Day starts at 1 p.m. Saturday with a parade through the community.

Somewhere, between the drill team and the drum majorettes, there will be a live steer ridden by Langford building inspector Clem Cunningham. John Williams, Langford's regional board representative, and owner of the steer, will lead the animal.

A dunking machine has been set up for the celebrations where Langford residents can dunk the community's businessmen into a tank of water by throwing a baseball at a target which triggers the perch where the man will be seated.

The Saturna Island lamb barbecue will be held at 2:30 p.m. today, and the Island's school children will help.

Part of the profits from the Dominion Day barbecue will help the students finance a centennial cross-Canada train trip in September, 1967.

Eagle Scores Points

"Eeeyow!" screams 18-year-old Lutz Bauersachs as seven-week-old bald eagle at left unexpectedly sinks talons into his arm. Lutz, son of zoo-keeper Rudy Bauersachs, was showing off eagles to visitors Thursday when bird took him by surprise. He escaped with cut arm. — (Jim Ryan)

More Money Needed For New Stadium

A low bid of $549,700 for Centennial Stadium at the University of Victoria was opened Thursday by the Stadium Joint Committee.

The bid makes it likely that the four major Greater Victoria municipalities will have to chip in more money in addition to the $519,967 already promised in government grants and per capita sharing.

NO CONTRACT

No contract was awarded Thursday. University architect Robert Siddall and planning director Arthur Webb will examine tenders and make a recommendation to the Stadium Joint Committee.

The committee is composed of representatives of the university and Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich.

BIDS LISTED

Low bid was submitted by R. A. Hill Ltd. of Victoria. Other bids: Farmer Construction Co. Ltd., $562,767; Burns and Dutton Ltd., $576,000; G. H. Wheaton Ltd., $584,000.

From its $519,000 the Stadium Joint Committee must spend about $8,000 for sewer relocation at the site, east of Gordon Head Road in the vicinity of Ruby Road.

TRACK RESERVE

It must also reserve about $25,000 for finishing of the stadium field and track.

R. A. Hall's bid allowed reductions of $27,300 for a cheaper type of grandstand, and another reduction of $39,725 without a track.

Ferries' Staff Expected To File for New Union

The Canadian Labor Congress is expecting unlicensed personnel on B.C. ferries to file application for a charter of affiliation.

The CLC's regional director of organization, Tom Gooderham, said the unlicensed workers are in the process of forming their own union and expects that their application will come under study by the CLC in Ottawa shortly.

Goal of the new union would be to represent about 500 deck and catering workers and oilers employed on government ferries.

Meanwhile, ferry management conferred with representatives of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild (CLC), which has signed a majority of the authority's mates, masters and engineers.

OWN CHOICE

Considered at the meeting were the rights of ferry employees to join a labor organization of their own choice and to have collective bargaining rights.

No decisions were reached at the meeting.

The question first arose when the B.C. Government Employees' Association — another CLC affiliate — claimed its membership was being raided.

Most of the association's ferry employee membership of 600 quit the group and the branch was scrapped.

The demand for full bargaining rights continues to be pressed by the unlicensed personnel.

Cyclist Hurt

Jacques Langejarr of 1621 Island Highway sustained a broken wrist Thursday evening after his motorcycle and a car were involved in an accident on Highway 1-A. Driver of the car was Frank Hamilton Neel, of 391 Kinver.

Bapco Says

Tower 'Fire Hazard'

British America Paint Company, 201 Belleville Street, is unhappy about the fact that a 325-foot observation tower is to be erected next door.

City council last week "approved in principle" the plans of promoter A. L. Bristowe to build a space needle on the Net Loft Restaurant property adjacent to the paint company. Mr. Bristowe announced subsequently that the work would go ahead at once and that tenders would be called in about three months.

TANK FARM

"Since our tank farm, storing many flammable solvents, is located at the south end of Bapco's property and next to the Net Loft, we feel that a very real fire hazard would exist of this tower is located here," says a letter from the paint company to the mayor and city council.

"Cigarette and cigar butts dropped from that height would almost certainly be carried by the prevailing summer southwest wind directly into our tank farm."

The city fire department concurs in this belief, said Mr. L. R. Davis, who signed the letter, and he wished to go on record as being strongly opposed to the plan.

Skull Fractures Cause of Death

Oliver Goldsmith, 52, 1139 Balmoral, suffered massive skull fractures, a coroner's jury was told Thursday by a St. Joseph's Hospital pathologist.

Mr. Goldsmith was reported dead on arrival at hospital after he was involved in a crane accident at Victoria Machinery Depot Tuesday.

The inquest continues July 7.

Mr. Goldsmith's funeral is to be held at 10:15 a.m. Saturday at McCall Brothers Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Goldsmith is survived by his wife, Georgina; two sons, Oliver Jr., and Bruce; a daughter, Ruth, and two grandchildren.

Whirlwind Trip

Soviet Deputy In City Today

The deputy premier of the Soviet Union, Dmitri Polyansky, arrives on Vancouver Island from the mainland at noon today.

Travelling with an entourage of about 40 parliamentarians and interpreters, the deputy premier will go directly from the airport to Government House where he and his party will have lunch with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Premier Bennett is expected to be a guest at the luncheon.

Shortly afterward, the party leaves for the Fisheries Research Laboratory in Nanaimo. Following an intensive tour and reception they will head back to Victoria in preparation for their return.

During his whirlwind tour of Canada, Mr. Polyansky has impressed observers with his vivacity and drive. Despite crushing schedules, he has remained deeply interested and quick-witted.

Tourists Wonder

Island Losing Courtly Grace Of Old Days?

By TED PULFORD

Poised though it may be on the brink of the greatest tourist boom in its history, is Vancouver Island in danger of losing the very qualities that made it famous in the first place?

Echoing discordantly amidst the chorus of praises sung by visitors, sounds the occasional doubt, the occasional qualification, the occasional frank complaint.

One such comment, from Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Jewkes of Santa Barbara, Calif., appeared to have particular relevance in view of the record-breaking season which is believed to be ahead.

Mr. Jewkes said he and his wife had been to Victoria on two occasions — this trip, and on a holiday 10 years ago.

And unless something happens to change his mind, he said, they won't be back.

His reasons are complex but nevertheless distrubing to Vancouver Island's experts on tourism — particularly since they may be symptomatic.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

Even 10 years ago, Mr. Jewkes remembers, there was something very special about the Island — something he and his wife had looked for without success, in many places throughout North America.

"I suppose the experts would call it atmosphere," Mr. Jewkes said. He found an easy courtesy and an almost instinctive grace in the men and women with whom he dealt.

The courtesy is still there, but the spontaneity is missing. Mr. Jewkes and his wife are sensitive, intelligent people who now get the feeling they are being put through some sort of a process rather than being sincerely entertained.

PROFESSIONALISM

The easy, relaxed attitude of residential and business communities alike is fading beneath a veneer of polished professionalism, they said, which is depriving the Island of the qualities that have made it famous.

Victoria Visitors' Bureau Commissioner Mike Heppell was concerned with the reservations expressed by Mr. and Mrs. Jewkes but produced his own anecdotes to refute them.

"The cheapest — and the nicest — thing we have to offer our visitors is courtesy and kindness," Mr. Heppell said. "For the most part, I believe that our people continue to offer it.

Heppell

North

"A Texan who has come here every 10 years or so since 1940 says the very reason he continues to come here is that Victoria simply has not changed that much."

Mr. Heppell said he believed people continued to come to Victoria for the same basic reasons as always — and that they generally were not disappointed.

"People still come here to relax and enjoy an easy time," he said. "We don't get five requests a year for the location of nightclubs."

TREND LESS MARKED

Imperial Hotel Manager Nick North understood the problem, but wasn't sure that anything could — or should — be done about it.

"Everywhere you go," he added, "the delightful little places of the world are becoming big places. I like to think the trend isn't so marked here."

Two Have Irish Chance

The final list of starters for Saturday's Irish Derby in Dublin, published last night, shows only two Vancouver Islanders have a chance at the $150,000 first prize in the Irish sweepstakes.

Both are unidentified. A Victorian using the nom-de-plume Mencdy holds ticket JKD 04393 on the horse Alciglide and a Ladysmith cowboy known only as Cowboy has ticket JCM 07319 on Drumlane.

Fishboat Ebie didn't quite make it to shore

Boat Capsizes In Harbor

A 37-foot fishing boat capsized and sank in Victoria Harbor Thursday — its two occupants scrambling dry-footed to safety before it went down off McKay-Cormack wharves.

The fishing boat Ebie was being taken by owner Edward Brownlee, 25, of Ontario, from the Fisherman's wharf to Torville's Pakers to collect a load of ice.

Aboard the boat with Mr. Brownlee was deckhand David McKay.

Mr. Brownlee told police he made a sharp turn when he was about half-way to the packers — and the boat sprang a leak.

* * *

Mr. Brownlee called for help, and a boat set out from McKay-Cormack to take them in tow.

The two boats made it to the shallower water near McKay-Cormack before the Ebie finally heeled over and sank.

Public Assistance

Influences Children

TORONTO (CP) — Children in families on public assistance perform poorly in schools compared with children in unassisted families at the same economic level, says a Canadian Welfare Council study just released.

The findings of Dr. Mukhtar A. M. Malik of the council's research staff were revealed in a paper to the fourth Canadian conference on educational research at the University of Toronto.

Dr. Malik's year-long study was conducted in Montreal, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver. He interviewed 399 families receiving public assistance, and 181 families not receiving assistance.

The children in the study were in the seventh grade and up.

"Our findings support the hypothesis that children on assistance do indeed perform poorly, and boys do even worse than girls. Clearly, the goals of families on assistance are different from those of non-recipients and these limited goals are passed on to the children."

About 47 per cent of parents in the assisted families hoped their boys would go beyond high school, but only 24 per cent expected that their sons would actually do so. The corresponding figures for girls are 37 per cent and 21 per cent.

QUIT SCHOOL TO WORK

In almost twice as many assisted families as control families, the oldest child left school below the age of 16—chiefly because of the necessity of earning money to help support the family.

In 96 per cent of families in the study, the father was either absent or unemployed. Dr. Malik said schools must pay more attention to motivating boys who spend most of their time in homes where the male is absent or ineffectual, and in schools where there are few male teachers.

Other recommendations:

- Public welfare departments should modify policies toward families with children of school age, since lack of proper clothes and other material goods is cited by many families as a reason for the poor performance of their children.
- School social service should be organized in all metropolitan and industrial cities, with social workers attached to school systems to help them overcome obstacles to a child's learning.
- Schools should provide supplementary cultural programs for deprived children.
- Schools should arrange special classes or tutoring for children whose aspirations and rate of learning are limited.

Father Main Factor

TORONTO (CP) — Inadequate fathers are part of the background of many delinquent girls, a study in Ontario has shown.

Dr. Tadeusz Grygier, director of research for the department of reform institutions and a member of the staff of the University of Toronto School of Social Work, investigated the backgrounds of 105 girls at the Ontario Training School at Galt. He found that failure of the father to fulfil his role is far more common than failure on the part of the mother.

Dr. Grygier, a criminologist, said appointment of a great number of men to the staffs of girls' training schools, to provide father-figures, is in accord with the findings of the research project.

The department announced the appointment of D. H. Williams, former superintendent of the Ontario Training School for Girls at Lindsay, 20 miles west of Peterborough.

Since completion of the report, Glenn Thompson has been appointed superintendent of Mercer Reformatory for women, Toronto, and Rev. Kenneth MacDonald has been named superintendent of the Ontario School at Galt, succeeding Rev. H. L. Wilson.

Dr. Grygier said the study was important because previous investigations had concentrated on parental deprivations as applied to boys and their mothers.

He said another study of 165 boys in training schools in Cobourg, Bowmanville and Guelph, showed that a missing or inadequate father was a more frequent factor than a missing or inadequate mother.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Why do you keep recommending hearing aids for everyone who has a hearing problem? Would you recommend glasses for everyone who has a sight problem? A hearing aid makes about as much sense for the near or totally deaf as glasses would make for the blind.

I happen to be about 90 per cent deaf and I tried a hearing aid 10 years ago. It did absolutely no good. I now manage, through lip-reading, to lead a fairly normal life. But whenever a letter appears in your column about hearing aids I am nagged anew by my children and friends to try again.

Please set the record straight. Unless, of course, you own a hearing aid company. Thank you. — R.D.

Dear R. D.: I received hundreds of letters from irate readers who expressed the same point of view, and I DO want to set the record straight. You complainers are right. I am enthusiastic about hearing aids — perhaps TOO enthusiastic — because I have known several people whose lives have been brightened up considerably by a hearing aid. I tend to forget there are folks who may with hearing problems. Let HIM tell them what to do.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old kid who thought it would be smart to use a phony I.D. card. I don't think that way any more.

I bought a phony I.D. card for five bucks from a creepy looking character who hangs around the hamburger joint. I won't go into detail but I really did get myself into a peck of trouble. But it didn't end there. I also got the bartender into trouble, and the man who owns the tavern. The cop said they should have known better than to serve me liquor because the card looked like a clunker and I didn't look like I was of age.

I embarrassed my family and my girl isn't speaking to me anymore. Please tell all kids everywhere that it isn't worth it. — SORRY.

Dear Sorry: YOU told them — and well. The traffic in phony I.D. cards has been a serious problem to authorities who are trying to keep teen-agers out of trouble.

You can do society a big favor by co-operating with the authorities and telling them all you can about the creep who sold you the card. Everyone will be better off if he (and other such crumbs) is put where he can't prey on kids like you.

Dear Ann Landers: At first I thought I was imagining things but now I'm sure my brother's wife is too darned interested in my husband.

The girl is 23 and oozes sex appeal from every pore. She calls my husband "Big Daddy" and he eats it up. Last night six of us went to dinner and she maneuvered it so she could sit on my husband's lap. When we arrived at the restaurant he didn't want to get out of the car.

My husband has never been a woman chaser but it's awfully flattering for a 45-year-old man to be fussed over by a 23-year-old siren.

How does a smart wife handle such a problem? — NO VENUS

Dear No: You are in a position to give Big Daddy a lot more attention than your sexy sister-in-law. A smart wife takes a page out of the siren's book. Fuss over him. Keep him happy — and tired.

On Wedding Day

Bride Receives Message From Brother in Ghana

A surprise telephone call from Accra, Ghana, was received by Donna Rose Timbres just before she left for St. Patrick's Catholic Church for her marriage to Mr. Maurice Gilles Poirier. The call, extending best wishes on her wedding day, was from her brother, Mr. Bruce Timbres, who is presently serving with CUSO in Ghana.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart A. Timbres, 1551 Pear Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Poirier, Coteau Station, Que.

White gladiolus and yellow sprays for flowers decorated the church for the double-ring ceremony. Rev. A. E. Leonard officiated at the morning wedding.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white peau de soie featuring a lace over-jacket with round neckline and ruffled elbow-length sleeves. The lovely gown was styled with a full train sweeping from the waistline in back. The bride's veil misted to her shoulders from a floral headdress and yellow roses were in her cascade bouquet.

Miss Pat Flemming, maid of honor, and the Misses Susan and Bev Timbres, bridesmaids, wore floor-length gowns of yellow floral silk, styled with ruffles at neckline and sleeves. They wore matching floral headdresses and cultured pearl earrings, gift of the bride. Yellow and white daisies were in their bouquets.

Mr. Earl Ham was best man. Ushering guests to their pews were Mr. George Pinnington and Mr. Roger Ledrew.

A buffet reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Poirier chose a mint green suit and beige accessories for her going-away ensemble.

The newlyweds will make their home at 1164 Meares Street.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. S. Timbres, Edmonton; Mr. Gordon Timbres, Fort William; Mrs. G. Deeton, Calgary; Mrs. and Mrs. K. Timbres and Miss K. Kelly, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Timbres, Mission, B.C. Mr. and Mrs. N. Kelly, Cobble Hill, B.C.; Mrs. L. Poirier and Mrs. A. Mongeau, Coteau-Station, Que.

Umbrella Holds Gifts

Several parties have been held to honor Miss Helen Small whose marriage takes place this Saturday.

Her chosen senior bridesmaids, the Misses Lois Jaques and Sheila Smirl, and her sister, Mrs. Robert Story gave a shower in the Jutland Road home of Mrs. J. Smirl. The honor guest received a novel mending-kit corsage while ribbon and wool corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. Lester Small and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Robert Jaques.

The gifts were concealed by a decorated umbrella and were presented by the chosen junior bridesmaids, Eileen Holman and Marion Yole.

Guests included Mrs. C. Risebrow, Mrs. R. W. J. Story, Mrs. J. Boyd, Mrs. V. A. Williams, Mrs. M. McDougall, Mrs. H. Yole, Mrs. J. Smirl, Mrs. R. Smirl, Mrs. F. Holman, Mrs J. Stillwell, Mrs. G. Beese, Mrs. H. McKay, Mrs. D. Galey, Mrs. L. Britton, the Misses Etta Evans, Sharon McDougall, Marion and Carol Yole, Marjorie Britton, Adele and Arlene Smirl, Eileen Holman, Gwen Risebrow and Betty-Ann Story.

Members of St. John's Anglican Church Junior Auxiliary, of which Miss Small is assistant leader, presented her with an electric kettle when the group held its Family Night in the church hall.

Attending were the Misses Carol Alexander, Karen Barber, Sara Blake, Alice, Diane, Jean and Helen Daoust; Janet and Shelley Dong, Linda Chan, Ann, Joyce and Sheila Drew; Joyce Fairbrother, Beverley Griffiths, Theressa Haywood, Eileen Holman, Cindy and Sharon Kerrigan, Joyce Lang, Louise and Yvonne LeBel, Cheryl Macdonald, Margaret and Sandra Metcalfe, Susan Mader, Lynn Normandeau, Kathryn O'Connor, Heather Pidcock, Cathy Prior, Gwen Risebrow, Janice, Joanne and Ruby Rymer; Donna Rawlings, Catherine Sapsford, Shirley Simms, Marina Tom, Elaine Whitmore, Catherine Williams, Carol and Marion Yole, Carol and Beverley Gee, Marilyn Cyr, Cheryl-Ann Shore, Karen Mason, Kristine Middleton, Helen Nicholson and Debby Halbert.

That same evening, members of St. John's Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, of which the bride-elect is a member, presented her with a decorated laundry basket containing many gifts for her kitchen.

The bride-elect's class of grades three and four at Honeymoon Bay School surprised her with a shower. Corsages of red roses and white carnations were presented to the honor guest, her mother and Mrs. A. Schroyen with whom she's been boarding.

A miniature red school-house contained the many gifts. A cake showing a replica of the school and grounds centred the refreshment table. Mothers of the pupils acted as serviteurs.

Re-Elected President

Miss Bea Hamilton was re-elected president of the Vancouver Island Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club at the annual meeting held at the Golf Club, Ganges, Salt Spring Island. Other executive members re-elected for a second term are Miss Dorothy Tupper, Victoria, vice-president; Mrs. Dorothy Fraser, Victoria, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Butler, Errington, treasurer. Mrs. Rosalie Heywood, Victoria, was appointed historian. Guest at luncheon which preceded the annual meeting included Mrs. Rae Williams of New Westminster, CWPC regional director, and Mrs. Arlene Ward, Ganges, editor of Driftwood.

The Explorer group from Centennial entertained the visitors with a comic fashion show. Proving that they still know how, Mrs. Murrie and Mrs. Gorse, with help from most of the other residents showed that they had not forgotten how to organize a successful party.

Prize-Giving Day

Graduates Honored at St. Margaret's

It was annual prize-giving day at St. Margaret's School Wednesday evening and 24 graduating students marked the end of their school life.

There were proud smiles and cheers from parents and students alike as each girl received her special award.

Guest speaker was Prof. A. E. Loft of University of Victoria history department. He spoke on the need for education, especially for women, in the world today.

Prof. Loft pointed out that motivation or trying to obtain an objective was the "key to a happier life."

He said that it was a fallacy that those without a university degree are considered "second-class citizens," but that a high school diploma was of major importance in the business and professional world today. He suggested, and illustrated through personal anecdotes, the advantages increased knowledge could give, listing "a better understanding in life, enjoyment, curiosity and excitement."

Following the invocation and benediction by Canon C. H. Butler, headmistress Mrs. D. W. Cobbett gave the annual school report and introduced the award winners. President of the board of governors R. R. Wilde was chairman and Prof. Loft presented the prizes.

Awarded the Robertson Salver for the girl in her matriculation year who is considered to have given the most of herself to the school was Dorothy Lane. Jill McGillivray was presented with the 1961 graduating class cup for the girl in senior year who has shown the most effort in her studies. Miss McGillivray, games captain, was also presented with the sportsmanship cup.

Winner of the Molson Cup, given to the girl who leads her matriculation class, was Catherine Butler, who was also given book prizes for excellence in chemistry and English, and the music cup. Runner-up Sally Barraclough was given the Flett cup and spoon. Miss Barraclough was also given book prizes for French and Latin.

The winner of a scholarship to La Maison Francaise, University of Victoria, senior Dorothea Jackh was awarded the French book prize from the government of France and junior winner was Elizabeth Hess.

Geraldine French, Sharon Jones, Gillian Lockyer were all given librarian awards, Katherine Alexis was awarded the Bible knowledge cup, and Jo'Anne Glenn, the public speaking cup.

Sandra Howell, a certificate winner in the speech arts division of the Victoria music festival was presented with a speech arts award. Also receiving book prizes for excellence in terminating courses were Linda Dial, Canadiana; Suzanne Jennings, history, and Lindsay Jones, mathematics.

School pins were presented to the leaving prefects, house captains, form captain and graduating girls, and special gifts were given to those in the graduating class who had attended the school since kindergarten or grade one.

Turgot House was named winner of the majority of sports cups, but Canmore House was awarded the Margaret Barton Inter-House scholastic cup, with Malcolm House as runner-up.

Also receiving prizes for first and second in form proficiency were Linda Dial, Jamella Saied, Faith Graham, Katharine Jennings, Sandra Howell, Angela Plasterer, Clare Petley-Jones and Elizabeth Hess. Linda Dial was also given the Margaret Barton shield and pin.

Canmore House was presented with the junior inter-house cup, awarded to the house attaining the highest standing in academic achievement and athletic endeavor.

Duncan-Stallybrass

Lace Appliques Enhance Organza Wedding Gown

A nuptial mass ceremony celebrated in St. Andrew's Cathedral recently united in marriage Joan Stallybrass and John Bernard Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Duncan, Stanley Avenue, are parents of the bride and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Duncan of Port Alberni.

Father William Kennedy officiated and Rosetta Boyle sang Ave Maria during the signing of the register.

The bride chose a gown of organza and chantilly lace, styled with lily point sleeves and lace appliques on the skirt. Her four-tiered, waist-length veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses and ivy.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father.

Marilyn Duncan, maid of honor and bridesmaids, Loraine Hugh and Sheila de Burgh were in gowns of frosted green fabric, featuring softly pleated skirts. Their headpieces were of green tulle and flowers and they carried cascades of peach colored gladiolus.

Elaine and Carol Duncan were flower girls in white. A line dresses with green trim. They carried baskets of yellow daisies.

Mr. Brian Duncan, the groom's cousin was best man and Mr. David Barker and Mr. Philip Barker were ushers.

The reception was held at Holyrood House. Mr. C. E. Price proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling, the new Mrs. Duncan changed to a green suit with beige accessories. Her corsage contained talisman roses. Following their honeymoon in Seattle the newlyweds will return to make their home in Victoria.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. de Burgh and family; Mr. and Mrs. M. Stallybrass, Prevost Island; Mr. and Mrs. B. Stallybrass, Galiano Island; Miss Adelaide Price, Mrs. J. Tillyer, Vancouver; Mr. R. Pollock, Mrs. J. Pollock, Miss Harriet Bell, Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. D. McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. L. McKinnon, Miss Suzanne Watson, Port Alberni and Mr. and Mrs. R. Duncan of Chemainus.

Church Tea Nets $205

The sum of $205 was realized at the strawberry and rose tea held recently in the George Gardner Hall, Oak Bay United Church. Mrs. P. A. Gibbs, president, opened the affair and Mrs. A. Calder assisted Mrs. Gibbs in welcoming guests at the door.

Mrs. P. Bugslag was general convener. Mrs. I. Dawson and Mrs. E. Showers were in charge of the tea tables; Mrs. F. Jewkes, home baking; Mrs. C. Burnip, French room and Mrs. N. Chapman, decorations.

Victoria decorator, Mr. E. G. Stevens, gave a talk on the latest ideas in home decorating.

New Setting for Eucharist Music

An exciting new setting for the Eucharist music will be used at the Family Communion service at 9:30 a.m. Sunday in Christ Church Cathedral.

The music will be sung by a group of young people from the cathedral choir with guitar accompaniment.

Entitled Rejoice, the music was composed by men in training for the ministry in the American Episcopal Church and draws upon the folk music of North America.

The music is an attempt to provide a singable and modern setting of a different kind, said Dean Brian Whitlow, for the central act of the church's worship.

Guest speaker at Victoria Truth Centre for the first four Sundays in July will be Rev. Lionel C. Kenworthy of Church of Truth in Atascadero, Calif. His subject at 11 a.m. Sunday will be The Mystery of Life. His evening messages will take for their general subject, Emerson, The Man and his Philosophy. At 7:30 p.m. Sunday he will discuss Emerson's journals.

The choir of Emmanuel Baptist Church will sing only for two broadcasts during July and August. Music at Sunday services will be supplied by soloists and quartets. This Sunday Mrs. A. Phymm will sing at the 11 a.m. service and Mrs. J. Pedlow will be soloist at the 7:30 p.m. service. Guest preacher, at both services is Rev. W. P. Morton. His morning topic will be The Lord's Breakfast Table. In the evening he will speak on A Man Shall Be A Hiding Place.

Dominion Day and Independence Day will be remembered at First Baptist Church Sunday morning. Guest preacher, Dr. W. C. Smalley, will speak on The Lord God Omnipotent Reigneth. The service will be broadcast over CKDA and at the close, the Lord's Supper will be observed.

Mr. Smalley will speak on Songs of Zion at the evening service, a choral service at which some of the great hymns of the church will be described and sung. Guest soloist at both services will be Margaret Christison.

Morning and evening worship will be conducted by the assistant minister, Rev. R. B. Salters, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church this Sunday.

Mr. Salters will preach at the morning service. At the evening service, to be broadcast over CJVI, Elder T. S. Cowan will preach.

Choirmaster C. C. Warren will direct a quartet composed of Carol Hayward, soprano; Marjorie Sturgeon, contralto; Robert Husband, tenor and Kenneth Oliphant, bass, at both services.

The principal of Berean Bible Institute, Calgary will be guest speaker at 7 p.m. Sunday in Central Baptist Church. He is Rev. Cyril Hutchison who is heard over station KARI, Blaine, Wash. His sermon is entitled Goody, Goody Religion.

At the 11 a.m. service the pastor, Rev. R. D. Holmes, will preach.

"Look unto me, and be ye saved, all ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else." This will be the Golden Text for the lesson-sermon on the subject of God at First Church of Christ Scientist this Sunday.

Related readings from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, include these lines: "God is the infinite, and infinity never began, will never end, and includes nothing unlike God."

Communion Service at the Seventh-day Adventist Church today will be conducted by Pastor A. M. Spenst. He will speak on A Thorough Christian, taking his sermon from the text in Joel 2:13. "And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God."

The Ordinance of Humility will be conducted at the 11 a.m. service at the church on Pandora at Vancouver.

King Fisherman

New Bass, Lake Leaders Both Big, But Beatable

There are two new leaders in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest.

Alan Coles, 2843 Austin, has taken the bass lead with a 5.4-pounder from Elk Lake and Bob Kennedy, 3015 Admirals, has the leading lake trout with a 9-pound cutthroat from Buttle Lake.

Both are Colonist subscribers and in line for the merchandise prizes that go with the big fish in each division—a cabin tent from Jeune Bros. for the lake trout and a $100 value Imperial Esso prize for bass.

NEITHER UNBEATABLE

Both fish are big enough that they just might retain the lead to the end of the Colonist, but neither is unbeatable.

Mr. Coles won the bass division last year with a six-pounder he caught Aug. 5 in Prospect Lake.

He caught this year's big one Wednesday evening on the far side of Elk Lake, midway between the pumphouse and the entrance to Beaver Lake. He was fishing with his partner Larry Kennedy and was using an old Devon minnow he found in his tackle box.

CRAZY CRAWLERS

"Mostly we use worms and then about now we start switching over to poppers, crazy crawlers and the like," he said.

He weighed his fish in at Burnside Esso.

Like Mr. Coles, Bob Kennedy has been deliberately fishing for the King Fisherman lead and has been catching a lot of fish in the three to five-pound class while fishing with his wife Joan on Buttle Lake.

"I thought I had hit bottom. Then it saw the boat and went down like a spring salmon," Mr. Kennedy said. "He never came out of the water."

LAKE MIDDLE

He got his nine-pounder Sunday fishing in the middle of the lake off Wolf Creek with 15-pound test line, a flasher, four ounces of weight and a big orange Flatfish with black dots.

His wife caught 5.4 and 2.8-pounders among others. In May Mr. Kennedy had the biggest coho of the month and won a Gold Prince Button.

His trout is one of the biggest lake trout ever weighed into the King Fisherman Contest, but his friends are going to make a desperate effort to try to beat it and this weekend will spread their efforts between Buttle, Muchalat and Woss lakes.

SPIRITED RIVALRY

There has been spirited rivalry between Fish and Game Club members Elwood Smith, Howard Zaccarelli, Wayne Zaccarelli, Mark Smith, Vern Palliser, Roy Smith and Mr. Kennedy and between them, some pretty big fish have been weighed into the King Fisherman Contest this year.

Dolphin Beach Estates, Near Nanoose, now is operating a full-time marina with launching ramp, float and boat rentals, including a King Fisherman weigh-in station. Under construction is a place for trailers and campers.

Value of Sale Can Fluctuate

OTTAWA (CP) — What is the actual value of Canada's latest wheat sale to Russia?

It all depends on how you base your estimates, a trade department source said Thursday.

Finance Minister Sharp's June 20 announcement of the sale in the Commons estimated the cash value of the 336,000,000-bushel sale at $800,000,000. The same figure came from Moscow and from the Canadian wheat board in Winnipeg.

Since then, figures ranging as low as $730,000,000 have been suggested by other sources.

"There are a lot of variable factors that can influence the final price over the next three years," the trade department official said.

"The price of wheat could rise during the three-year agreement or the price of flour — included as part of the sale — could change.

Even the 336,000,000 bushel figure could increase, as much as five per cent. This, he added, was due to a clause in the contract allowing an optional five-per-cent extra cargo in each individual shipload.

"In the past, experience with the Russians show they usually take the extra five per cent."

The $800,000,000 estimate might be optimistic, but the lower estimates are pessimistic, he said.

"It just depends which figures you want to base the estimate on. It's almost impossible to quarrel with any of them."

Prayers, Hymns Of All Faiths Project for 1967

Prayers and hymns of all faiths are being considered for a multi-faith anthology which the Canadian Interfaith Conference will publish as a nation-wide Centennial project.

Submissions should be sent to Mrs. Eve Gilstorf, executive director, Canadian Interfaith Conference, 227 Laurier Avenue West, Suite 204, Ottawa 4, Ont. Deadline is Aug. 31.

ISLAMIC COMMUNITY

Among prayers already submitted is one from the Islamic community of Canada.

The anthology is to contain both traditional and modern prayers representative of 31 religious faith groups and is one of seven major Centennial activities planned by the conference for 1967.

The conference was established through a grant from the Centennial commission to promote and co-ordinate religious activities during Centennial year.

INTO VERNACULAR

"There is a renewal of interest in religion across the country," said Rev. Frank Morgan of Kitchener, Ont., who represents the United Church on the conference's 19-man board of directors.

"We are hoping to find some way of translating the wide divergence of 31 faiths into the vernacular."

SEVEN THEMES

The committee planning the anthology has agreed prayers should be between 50 and 75 words long with themes of thanksgiving, guidance, confession, understanding, adoration, brotherhood and dedication.

One section is to be allotted to the Centennial hymn, an officially commissioned opus being composed by Dr. Healey Willan, dean of Canadian composers, with French and English lyrics by French Canadian poet-diplomat Robert Choquette.

Church Takes New Name

The recently - amalgamated congregation of St. Paul's-Gorge - Erskine Presbyterian Church has chosen a new name — Trinity Presbyterian.

The name was formally adopted at a meeting of the Session. There is only one other Presbyterian Church in Canada with this name — in Toronto.

The new name was decided by ballot. Every member and adherent of the amalgamated congregations took part.

Of these suggested names, Trinity was the name most favored. The others were Grace and United Presbyterian. The church is at Tillicum Road and Walter Avenue.

Traditional Church Parade

Two Badges Awarded By St. John Brigade

Grand Prior badges were presented to two St. John Ambulance cadets at the recent church parade held by the brigade's Victoria branch at St. Matthias Church.

The traditional church parade is held on the Sunday nearest to St. John the Baptist Day, which this year fell on June 24. St. John is the patron saint of The Most Venerable Order of The Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem.

About 50 active members and cadets formed up outside the church last Sunday morning at 11 a.m. and then marched in for the service.

The colors, consisting of the the Canadian flag and the St. John flag, were placed by the altar for the duration of the service.

The service was taken by the rector, Rev. Canon J. Rogers, assisted by the former rector, Rev. Angus Cameron of Lundavra, who gave a special St. John sermon.

The first lesson was read by J. G. Taggart, provincial commissioner who came from Vancouver for the service.

The second lesson was read by E. J. Harwood. The color party was directed by R. M. Barnes, a former superintendent of No. 65 Ambulance Division.

Mr. Taggart presented the Grand Prior badges to Cadets Heather Croll, 240 Nicola, and Diane Wilson, 107 Bushby.

To win these awards the girls were required to do a minimum of three years' work to earn 12 proficiency certificates covering a wide range of subjects including citizenship, sewing, cooking, camping and signalling.

Pentecostal Camp Opening

The Nanoose Bay Pentecostal Camp will begin Monday and will continue until July 24.

The first camp, from next Monday to the following Saturday is for boys and girls. Mrs. C. Fawcett, 662 Canterbury, has information.

The youth camp will be held from July 9 to 15. Mrs. Garnet Rivière, 1004 Fenn Road, is registrar.

The adult camp will be held from July 16 to 24. Mrs. W. C. Irvine, 107 Milton, Nanaimo, is registrar.

Victorian Wins Poetry Prize

A member of Oak Bay United Church has won third prize in a poetry and song-writing contest held by the Salvation Army's official publication, The War Cry.

Mrs. Olive O. Lockhart, 2176 Pentland, first read of the contest in The Daily Colonist.

A member of the Canadian Authors Association, she has been writing poetry for years and has had her work published in the United Church's Onward; Western Producer, a Saskatchewan farm paper; the Saanich Star and the Oak Bay Leader. She has also had poems published in The War Cry.

HERE 16 YEARS

Born in Norwood Green, Middlesex, she is the wife of C. H. Lockhart. The Lockharts retired to Victoria 16 years ago after farming in Margo, Sask.

Mrs. Lockhart submitted three poems to the paper. Here is the prize winner:

A KINGDOM FAIR

Eternal Ruler, by whose power
Our earthly leaders rise and fall,
Draw near in this decisive hour,
Hear Thou our plea and heed our call.
We know we must our sins confess,
Then trust in Thee to cleanse
and bless.
Give to us strength and wisdom, Lord,
To teach our fellow men of Thee,
To find, within Thy sacred
Word,
The truth by which all may be free
From sin and anger, war and hate.
Our lives and spirits recreate.
Call many to Thy service,
Lord,
As by the Galilean Lake;
May they, responsive to that call,
Give up their all for Thy
dear sake.
Devote their lives, their gifts to prove
The saving power of Jesus' love.
Stir up the people everywhere,
Imbue them with a fervent love
That they may build a Kingdom fair,
Reflection of Thy world
above.
May there rise up a mighty host
To serve our God from coast to coast!

Seven Win In German

Seven book prizes for top performance in German studies were awarded recently by the University of Victoria.

Winners were Nancy Chapman, Daniel Richard Worsley, Aveline Margaret Bricknell, Luiza Luise Rausch, Martin Vanderpol, Gunter Enrik Mundschutz and Alice Caroly Wootton.

United Churches Combine Evening Services

Two Victoria United Churches — First and Metropolitan — will combine their evening services throughout July and August and including the first Sunday in September.

There will be no Sunday evening service in Metropolitan in July. The evening service will be held in First United with both congregations uniting.

AUGUST SERVICES

In August and the first Sunday in September, the 7:30 p.m. service will be held in Metropolitan again with both congregations uniting.

The churches will hold their own services on Sunday mornings during the summer.

In First United this Sunday and next, Dr. John H. Garden will be guest preacher at both services. At 11 a.m. Sunday he will speak on Do You Know? At 7:30 p.m. in the Sanctuary his subject will be Jesus Challenges You. There will be an open discussion period on the day's sermons, with Dr. Garden in the Youth Room, after the evening service.

W. Donald Oliver will share in the conduct of the 11 a.m. service. Soloist for the day is Lorraine Ker. Guest organist is Kenneth Ansdell.

BABY CRECHE

The Baby Creche will be available to parents with infants at the 11 a.m. service.

At Metropolitan Church, Rev. E. Laura Butler will speak on I Wonder As I Wander at the 11 a.m. service. Soloist will be Miss Jill Paver.

18 Children Win Awards

Proficiency awards and progress certificates were presented to 18 Uplands School children Thursday. Prizes went to children in Grades 1 through 7.

Stephen Morris was named leading boy and the leading girl was Becky Brigham.

Surprise for Padre

Retiring as Protestant padre for navy command is Rev. Dr. Andrew Mowatt, right, who was entertained at special ceremony given by Optimists. As surprise, club asked padre's son Donald to be on hand to serve his father. Donald is well-known Vancouver producer for CBC. Padre is moving to Clinton, Ont., to become minister at Wesley-Willis United Church. — (William A. Boucher)

Summer Season Starts Sunday

Gospel in the Park

The 24th season of open air summer gospel services in Beacon Hill Park will start at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Cameron bandshell.

The services will be held, rain or shine, at 7 p.m. on each of the nine Sundays in July and August. The interdenominational services are sponsored by the local committee of the Christian Business Men's Committee International.

JUST ENJOYING

"They are designed to appeal to those who like to worship in the open air during the warm summer evenings and to people just enjoying the beauty and peace of the park," committee president George Inrig said Thursday.

Each service will be conducted by a different church or assembly. This Sunday's will be in charge of Glad Tidings Tabernacle under pastor Rev. A. E. Hornby supported by orchestra and choir.

Here is the schedule for the season:

July 3 — Glad Tidings Tabernacle, Rev. A. E. Hornby.

July 10 — Victoria Brethren, Stanley Hutchman.

July 17 — Central Baptist Church, Rev. R. D. Holmes.

July 24 — Centennial United Assemblies, George Inrig and Church, Rev. Dr. S. J. Parsons.

July 31 — Church of the Nazarene, Rev. William Bahan.

Aug. 7 — Salvation Army, Citadel Corps, Maj. Robert McKerracher.

Aug. 14 — Gorge Presbyterian Church, Dr. W. J. Klempa.

Aug. 21 — Alliance Church, Rev. Ted Chapman.

Aug. 28 — Royal Canadian Navy night, Chaplain William Taylor.

Africa Crusader To Tell Story of Stoning

A former associate evangelist of Billy Graham will speak in Glad Tidings Pentecostal Church at 8 p.m. today.

Rev. Watson Argue of Santa Monica, Calif., has just returned from missionary crusades in Kenya, Uganda and Nigeria. Services were held in football stadiums and open fields and were attended by as many as 9,000 people at one time.

At the conclusion of one of his sermons, Mr. Argue was stoned by the crowd. The experience has given him the title of his subject for tonight — I Was Stoned In Africa.

While conducting a crusade in Berlin, Germany, Mr. Argue and his wife made a trip behind the Berlin wall to visit friends who had attended a previous crusade 12 years before but were not able to attend because of the wall.

GIVEN FILM

They reported their experiences to the West German government and were given a documentary sound film entitled The Wall of Shame.

This film and another, The Headhunters of the Philippines, will be shown at tonight's meeting.

Porpoise Pool Phone Project

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Telephone Company says it will pay for the outdoor porpoise pool at the Vancouver Public Aquarium as a centennial project. BCTC president Ernest Richardson presented a $90,000 cheque to aquarium curator Murray Newman.

Students Accept Compromise

VANCOUVER (CP) — Students of Simon Fraser University will accept a compromise deal offered by Shell Oil to modify its plans for a campus service station which students said would block a view. The company and university have agreed to make several changes in the proposed station which will then comply with student requests.

8 CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Victoria Sunday and son Edmund wish to express their heartfelt thanks to their many friends for their tokens of sympathy during their recent bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. Dr. Emma Smiley for her comforting words, to the pallbearers, Dr. J. Patterson and to the City Police for their very efficient help to us.

I wish to express my appreciation to the nurses and staff on 3N at the St. Joseph's Hospital for the kindness and care given to my late wife [illegible]. Thanks also to all our friends who [illegible].

9 IN MEMORIAM

[illegible] — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, James A. [illegible], who passed away July 2, 1958.

We miss him because we loved him,
More precious than wealth untold;
No treasure on earth can replace him,
His memory will never grow old;
Always willing and content,
Loved and respected wherever he went;
To a beautiful life came a sudden end,
He died as he lived, everyone's friend.

Always remembered, wife, [illegible] and [illegible].

Opening lead: Heart three

Psychic bids can misfire in more than one way. In the 1966 World Championship, the Italians sidestepped a losing slam because they had been warned that the cards lay badly.

When Italian experts Belladonna and Avarelli held the N-S cards, West opened with a third-hand psychic. North doubled for takeout and East made the standard redouble to show that his pair held as he thought the balance of points. Since the Italians knew that not both of their opponents' bids could be genuine, they knew West had psyched, for no one makes a bluff redouble in East's situation.

Consequently, when the Romans, by their highly systematized bidding methods, got to a position where they could judge that the right contract was either five diamonds or six, they settled for the safe game, for they expected any missing high cards to be badly placed in East's hand.

Playing in five diamonds, Avarelli charted an ultra-safe course. He won the heart opening with the ace and finessed dummy's diamond jack, losing to East's king. Declarer took the diamond return in dummy and played ace and another club, ruffing in his hand. He led the spade seven to dummy's ace and ruffed the last club. Next the spade jack rode to East's queen. The rest was easy and Avarelli was able to pull East's last trump and claim the rest, dummy being high.

Play at the other table salted the wound. Against silent opponents, the North American pair bid well to reach a diamond slam that appeared to be an odds-on chance. But with both key cards offside, declarer had no chance and North America lost 12 IMPs.

DEAR HOMEOWNER
I NEED YOUR UNDIVIDED ATTENTION:

I KEEP GROWING LARGER LARGER and LARGER

But nobody does anything about me. I [illegible] things I could be doing to MAKE MY OWNER FINANCIALLY HAPPY.

Could it be possible he doesn't know of my potential? Once a month he decreases my size with another mortgage payment, or perhaps even two mortgage payments.

I'm worth quite a lot now and need a change. Who am I? What am I? I am the equity of invested money tied up in your property. You've probably thought about it [illegible] use part or all of me. Then you hesitate.

You've been making the mortgage payments [illegible]. You've saved a lot of equity [illegible] just knew how simple it really is.

My realtor told me three ways he assists people every day.
ONE. By helping them to finance or raise a new mortgage.
TWO. By trading the equity in their home into a larger or smaller home.
THREE. By professionally selling their property for them.

If I am reaching your very thoughts or have raised a question in your mind, pick up the telephone and call my realtor 477-6749 or office 385-7761.

Mine Deaths Bring Safety Call

ELSA, Y.T. (CP) — A coroner's jury ruled Wednesday four men killed June 23 in a fire at the No Cash silver mine near here died of asphyxiation.

The six-member jury heard 15 of a scheduled 21 witnesses before deliberating for an hour.

The jury recommended new, adequate safety equipment and more extensive and regular training in safety practices for new men and rescue teams.

The jury also called for a complete investigation of circumstances by a team composed of members of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union and officials of United Keno Hill Mines.

Safety rules should be properly interpreted to new miners, the jury said particularly employees to whom the English language is not familiar.

Pigeon Club Names Winners

The Capital City Racing Pigeon Club held three races over the weekend. Winner of the 310-mile race from Blue River, northeast of Kamloops, was a pigeon owned by Ken Mawdsley, with a time of seven hours, 51 minutes. He was also nominated for and winner of the J. Bell memorial trophy.

Winner of the 260-mile race from Birch Island, 50 miles west of Blue Lake, was a bird of John Lawrence, with a time of six hours, 31 seconds. Among the junior members, best time was held by Steve Mawdsley.

'She Couldn't Resist A Bargain'

NEW ORLEANS — Mrs. Maurice Bowler has given birth to her 17th child, all of them born at Southern Baptist Hospital, and No. 17 was "on the house."

Raymond C. Wilson, hospital administrator, had told Mrs. Bowler when No. 16 was born, 2½ years ago, that if she had another one the hospital would make no charge.

"She never could resist a bargain," said her husband.

PORT ORCHARD, Wash. — Superior Judge Henry Clay Agnew of Seattle has denied a restraining order asked by Dr. Robert E. Boehme against trustees of Harrison Memorial Hospital in Bremerton. Dr. Boehme, 46-year-old Port Orchard physician, asked the court to prevent the trustees from revoking his hospital privileges. The doctor was convicted in February of trying to kill his wife, Mary, and later his license to practice medicine in the state was ordered revoked. He has appealed both actions.

KINSHASA, The Congo. — President Joseph Mobutu celebrated his nation's sixth birthday by proclaiming Patrice Lumumba a national hero because of his fight for economic independence of the Congo — a goal Mobutu pledged to achieve.

TOKYO — The Beatles said at a press conference they oppose the Viet Nam war. Said John Lennon: "We think about it every day. We don't like it. We don't agree with it. We think it is wrong. But there is not much we can do about it. All we can do is say we don't like it."

OTTAWA — Health Minister MacEachen said in the Commons he will consider an emergency situation at Manning, Alta., where a new hospital canot open because of the lack of doctors. Heward Grafftey (PC-Brome-Missisquoi) asked for a crash program of doctor-training to meet the emergency.

BRIGHTON, Colo — Charles Brett Lange, a 14-year-old freckled, sandy-haired boy described as "such a nice kid," has been charged with first-degree murder and held without bond in a windowless cell for the slaying of Paula Sue Steinbach, a frail, friendly 9-year-old playmate.

LONDON — The late Sir Winston Churchill's actress daughter, Sarah, appears in a new role next week as poetess, when her first book of verse, The Empty Spaces, goes on sale.

EAST BERLIN — Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader, has celebrated his 73rd birthday. Ulbricht is head of state as chairman of the state council as well as first secretary of the ruling Socialist unity Communist party.

BERN, Switzerland — Artistobulo Raul Illia, brother of Argentine President Arturo Illia who was ousted by a military coup, has resigned as ambassador to Switzerland. Illia took up his appointment Oct. 27, 1964. Argentine ambassadors to Washington and Moscow also resigned as an expression of protest against the coup.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — A young mother of four has died in hospital after she apparently saturated her body with gasoline and set it afire, authorities said. Mrs. Carol Fisher, 27, of nearby Tyler Mountain, died 18 hours after a neighbor went to her aid in the back yard of the Fisher home. No reason was given by officials.

* * *

WASHINGTON — Richard M. Helms, 53, has been sworn in as director of the top-secret U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. He succeeds Admiral William F. Raborn. President Johnson appointed Raborn to the CIA command about 14 months ago and at the same time made Helms his deputy.

LONDON — Lord Thompson will fly to Yugoslavia to be the guest of President Tito on the president's island of Brioni. The Canadian-born publisher said he will be accompanied by an editor to prepare a report on discussions which will be published in Thomson's Sunday Times.

* * *

MOSCOW — Mrs. Boris Pasternak, 69, widow of the Nobel Prize-winning author of the novel Dr. Zhivago, has been cremated. She died of lung cancer in hospital. Pasternak was awarded the Nobel prize in 1958 but had to reject it under pressure of Soviet authorities, who denounced the view of Soviet life given in the book.

Gentle Missionary

Papal Decree To Honor 'Lousy Bishop'

By ANNE MASON

ST. ALBERT, Alta. (CP)—In his lifetime, Vital Justin Grandin was known and loved throughout Western Canada as "the lousy bishop."

The gentle Roman Catholic missionary, whose virtues were approved in May by the Vatican, Congregation of Rites, earned the nickname when he slept on the floors of native tents or huts during a three-year trip into the Mackenzie Valley to organize the vicariate of Athabasca-Mackenzie.

The bishop, who died in this Edmonton suburb in 1902 at the age of 73, will shortly be declared venerable by papal decree. If two miracles can be officially credited to him, he may be beatified.

HUGE DIOCESE

Born into a large, poor family in the French village of St. Pierre-sur Orthe, Bishop Grandin never enjoyed good health from his childhood although he grew to a height of six-foot-two and was ruggedly built.

He joined the Oblate Missionaries of Mary Immaculate and was ordained at Marseille in 1854. He arrived at St. Boniface, Man., a few months later to minister to a diocese that stretched from the Arctic to the United States border and from the Lakehead to the Rockies.

For the next half century, Bishop Grandin travelled ceaselessly, establishing missions, schools and hospitals and preaching to the Indians and Eskimos.

OFTEN SLEPT OUTDOORS

"You just don't realize what it was like," says Rev. Emile Tardif, archivist of the order.

The most comfortable modes of travel were by primitive Red River cart, on horseback or by dogsled. But some journeys of hundreds of miles were on foot, or by snowshoes in winter, with a native guide.

If no shelter was available, they would sleep in the bush or a snowbank, wrapped tightly in animal skins. Canoes were used where possible but the frail craft frequently capsized in rough water.

BISHOP AT 28

At 28, when he had been in the field three years, the young missionary was created bishop of Satala and coadjutor to the bishop of St. Boniface.

When the news reached him by slow prairie mail six months later, he was overwhelmed and wrote his superiors that he was unworthy of the honor. But he was ordered back to Marseille and consecrated in 1859. Two years later, he began his trip into the Mackenzie and became l'eveque pouilleux — the bishop covered with vermin.

In 1871 he was created bishop of St. Albert, responsible for Alberta and much of Saskatchewan.

CONVERTED CHIEFS

He encouraged the nomadic Indians and Metis to settle and farm the land and converted some of the hostile Blackfoot tribe, including two chiefs, to Christianity after building the tribe a hospital and three schools, including the first industrial school in the West.

The bishop made several trips to France to recruit missionaries, church workers and settler and to raise funds. Many missionaries died by massacre, were drowned in floods or were frozen to death. Supplies were lost in swollen rivers, posts were destroyed by fire and frequent crop failures caused food shortages.

ALL VIRTUES

But the diocese eventually prospered. During Bishop Grandin's 31 years in St. Albert, he established 30 parishes with priests, 25 missions, two seminaries, 31 elementary schools, eight boarding schools, five hospitals and two orphanages, of the settlers from nearby Fort Fifty-two priests, 24 lay brothers and 136 nuns came to the diocese.

During the Riel rebellion of 1884-5, the bishop sheltered most Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan. St. Albert itself was not attacked.

First steps toward Bishop Grandin's canonization were taken in 1930, 28 years after his death, when a diocesan tribunal appointed by the bishop of Edmonton found that he practised all the virtues to a heroic degree. His cause was officially accepted in Rome in 1938.

Human Valves Best

Aortic Transplant 'Most Promising' Field of Surgery

By CARMAN CUMMING

TORONTO (CP) Frances Simon, 57, walked to the front of the lecture hall in Toronto General Hospital, sat down and looked around curiously.

The audience of the Ontario Heart Foundation looked back curiously. They saw an ordinary middle-aged woman; ordinary except that her heart beats because of a valve transplanted from another human being.

Dr. Wilfred G. Bigelow, who performed the operation, outlined Mrs. Simon's case history. He told how her heart had stopped beating, and had been massaged back to life, just before her operation last July 13.

'YES, HAPPY'

Then he turned to his patient and asked how she was feeling.

Mrs. Simon, who speaks little English, hesitated.

Dr. Bigelow repeated the question and then added: "Are you happy about it?"

Mrs. Simon understood suddenly and seized the doctor's left hand, kissing it. "Happy, yes, happy," she said.

Mrs. Simon is one of 12 patients who have received human aortic valves at the hands of Dr. Bigelow, head of the hospital's division of cardiovascular surgery.

Not all have lived. Dr. Bigelow declines to say exactly how many survived but he finds the new technique promising and hopes for a survival rate of more than 90 per cent in future.

PREFER HUMAN VALVES

At present only three North American centres are known to be performing the difficult operation: a Seattle clinic, the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and Toronto General.

Dr. Bigelow explained that human valves, if successfully implanted, have a longer lifetime than the plastic valves more widely used.

The plastic valves have a tendency to harden and to produce blood clots. Human valves remain pliable.

The technique of "homograft" valve transplantation actually was pioneered in Toronto a dozen years ago by Dr. Gordon Murray. Other leaders in the field have been Dr. Donald Ross of Britain and Dr. Brian Barratt-Boyce of New Zealand, who performed two operations here last November.

Dr. Bigelow, who has been performing the operation for more than a year, called it one aspect of the great advances being made in heart surgery.

"I don't think there's any area of biological studies that has expanded so fast," he said.

Sea-Peace Fight Growing

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of British seamen Thursday tackled mounting opposition to their back-to-work order, while shipping companies worked nonstop to sort out their schedules.

Officials of the National Union of Seamen travelled to the country's most militant ports to explain why the union executive Wednesday called off the strike from midnight Friday night.

Several branches refused to wait for the official explanation and passed angry resolutions condemning the executive's decision as a sell-out.

Harold Shepheard

Rites Saturday For Sportsman

Ottawa Post

Former commanding officer of destroyer escort HMCS St. Croix, Commander John Hertzberg, 750 Richmond, has been transferred to Ottawa to administrative staff of director general plans. He will be employed in section devoted to NATO European planning. He served as captain of St. Croix for two years.

Funeral service will be held Saturday for Harold Shepheard, 52, well-known sportsman in Victoria all his life.

Mr. Shepheard, who died Wednesday in Royal Jubilee Hospital, had been a printer for the Queen's Printers from 1942 up to the time of his death.

TIMES PRINTER

His first job had been as a printer for The Daily Times.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Shepheard was well-known in local bowling circles, was a keen golfer and basketball coach.

He was a member of the International Typographical Union and the Caledonian Society.

SURVIVORS

He is survived by his wife, Mae, 3921 Scolton; two sons, Gary and Richard, at home, and two daughters, Gayle, at home, and Lynne, a nurse in New Westminster; his mother, Mrs. Martha Shepheard, and two sisters, Mrs. Elaine Meddaford and Mrs. Dorothy Rodd, all of Victoria.

Arrangements are being made for the funeral by Thompson and Irving Funeral Chapel.

Updated Thinking Needed

Priests, Sisters Warned Of Unnecessary Barriers

Roman Catholic priests and sisters need to get rid of many unnecessary barriers that separate them from lay Catholics and even from diocesan clergy, Bishop Remi J. De Roo told a gathering of them in Victoria on Wednesday.

Some Catholics have difficulty in understanding the role of religion in the church, he said. It accounts, in part, for the shortage of candidates for the religious life.

A Jesuit from Toronto, Rev. Elliott Mac Guigan, told the group that the church's superiors should update their thinking and renew their community way of life.

SYMPTOMATIC

He said too many sisters identify their way of life with "false peace . . . nice people . . . yes-women . . . playing for safety . . . a cosy community life." He said such ideas are symptomatic of much that is wrong today in the life of religious communities.

A French-Canadian priest told the gathering of superiors of Roman Catholic priests and sisters from Western Canada that the Catholic Church is not a museum. "When we live in the Church we do not need to be a century behind," he said.

Father Jean Tillard, a Dominican from Ottawa, summed up the purpose for which the superiors gathered.

NEW THINKING

Their purpose is to bring about a renewal of religious life in their different communities, he said, in line with the new thinking of the Roman Catholic Church.

The meeting was held in French and English. Discussions and talks switched from one language to the other but anyone deficient in the language being spoken could plug in a tiny earphone that carried simultaneous translation of the proceedings.

At the end of the day's sessions, one priest read the Epistle in French, another read the Gospel in English and, while celebrating Mass, Bishop De Roo prayed in Latin.

Bible School Next Week

A two-week vacation Bible school at Hill Memorial Seventh-day Adventist School, 1462 Hillside, begins Monday and will continue through July 14.

Supervised games, craft and nature study will be included in the classes from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each weekday. Bible study will be held on the topic God's Noble Heroes.

Primary and junior students will have a special work-book made up of puzzles, completion tests and other exercises. Certificates of achievement will be awarded to all youngsters completing the course.

ADDED FEATURE

Children between the ages of five and 13 are eligible and no charge will be made for instruction or handicraft materials. An added feature will be a choir of girls and boys aged seven to 14.

Mrs. Phyllis Berry and Mrs. Dorothy Spenst will conduct the choir and supervise the course.

If Opposition Would Shut Up

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The House of Commons is locked in a sham battle as the politicians compete to win the favor of the nation's needy old age pensioners.

New Democrats won't let Commons business continue until the government has promised a substantial increase to the existing $75 a month pensions.

Health Minister Allan MacEachen has such an announcement to make but he won't make it until the opposition stops calling for it because the government doesn't want to appear to be giving in to opposition pressure.

The Conservatives keep popping in between with demands for a $100 pension and their criticism of the Canada Assistance Plan, the subject of the current debate.

The stalemate could end Monday when New Democrats run out of speakers. If it does, Mr. MacEachen will announce a program to provide more money for pensioners who won't receive money under the Canada Pension Plan.

The minister plans to make a general statement of government principle, without mentioning the amounts.

However, it was learned Thursday the new program is designed to provide a guaranteed income to these old people of $105 per month.

That's $1,250 a year, the amount recommended by the Croll Senate committee on aging several months ago. This will apply to people born before Jan. 1, 1910.

These people will still be eligible for more money under the Canada Assistance Plan if they can demonstrate they need

MacMillan

Timber Tycoon Collapses

VANCOUVER (CP) — Timber magnate H. R. MacMillan was rushed to hospital here Thursday after he collapsed during a tour of a new fish-packing plant in nearby Steveston.

Mr. MacMillan, 81, former chairman of the board of MacMillan, Bloedel Ltd., collapsed while on a tour of B.C. Packers' new Imperial plant.

Hospital officials said Mr. MacMillan was in "fair" condition.

Coup by Air Fails in Iraq

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqui government of President Abdel Rahman Aref announced Thursday night it had smashed an attempted coup by a group of officers supported by army and air force units.

Seven air force planes strafed and bombed the presidential palace in Baghdad, home for Aref, and killed two persons and injured six, reports said.

An announcement by the president said the ringleaders of the plot had been arrested. They included Aref Abdel Razzak, former premier and air force chief who led an unsuccessful coup against the government last September.

SUPPORT VOICED

The president's statement said all was quiet in the country, but border police were ordered to arrest any persons trying to flee the country.

Baghdad radio broadcast cables of support from the commander of the Iraqi Air Force, the commander of the presidential guard, the divisional commanders and the chiefs of military units stationed in Baghdad.

TAKE 'LEGAL ACTION'

"Legal action" has been taken against the plotters, Baghdad radio said. This appeared to be an indication that they had been swiftly court-martialled and possibly executed.

Iraq's borders and airports were closed and the government ordered a daily curfew.

The motivation of the coup remained unclear. But from brief communiques broadcast by the rebels in the early hours of the revolt it appeared to be an attempt to rush Iraq into union with the United Arab Republic and steer it on a leftist course.

Next Paper On Sunday

The Colonist staff will observe the Dominion Day holiday today, and there will be no paper Saturday morning. Next paper will appear Sunday morning.

Argentina

'Great Hope' Begins

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania declared Thursday night in his first public address as president that military rule in Argentina marked "the end of a degenerative process and the beginning of a great hope."

Ongania, dressed in a civilian suit, made an eight-minute speech to the nation in which he said:

"It is not possible for immediate solutions. But we shall build for those who will come after we have gone, and for ourselves."

TWO ARRESTED

Police earlier in the day arrested the brother of ousted president Arturo Illia along with the mayor of Buenos Aires. Illia, overturned by the military last Tuesday, remained at his brother's home in suburban Martinez while mounted police patrolled outside.

Ongania, who once served as army commander-in-chief, promised to disclose the program of the new military regime "soon."

CBC Planning Announcement

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC board of governors has announced it will make public next week "certain decisions" relating to the Seven Days controversy.

Dominican Rioting Injures Six

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — At least six persons were reported wounded Thursday when police fired into a rock-throwing crowd in front of the Reformist party headquarters in the Dominican capital.

The incident marred the festive mood awaiting the inauguration Friday of President-elect Joaquin Balaguer.

Eyewitnesses said students from a nearby school engaged Reformist party partisans in an argument in front of party headquarters. The scuffle turned into a near riot and when police arrived some in the crowd hurled rocks. The police then fired one burst that dispersed the rioters.

The Reformist party is headed by Balaguer.

Birth-Rate Dive Alarms Doc

Who Will Support Aged of Future?

By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Is it the pill . . . or is it the lusher way of life?

Never has the Canadian birth rate down-thumped the way it has these last two years.

Off 15 per cent.

Cut 5.6 per cent just this May.

Sliced 7.1 per cent in the first five months of the year.

These are the official Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures.

Drastic?

Drastic enough to alarm birth rate down-thumped the way it has these last two years.

Off 15 per cent.

Cut 5.6 per cent just this May.

Sliced 7.1 per cent in the first five months of the year.

These are the official Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures.

Drastic?

Drastic enough to alarm "Big Doc" Rynard who just about everybody on Parliament Hill regards as unofficial medical adviser to the House of Commons.

P. B. Rynard, five-term Conservative MP for Simcoe East and chief opposition watchdog of medical and pharmaceutical affairs, says it's not the pill alone, nor is it just the fat life.

"It's both," he says, "and believe me, it's enough to frighten you.

More Immediate

"It's happening both here and in the States, and if we let it go unchecked, it'll mean the decay of North America."

That "decay" he sees as the long-term threat.

What's more immediate is the drastic reappraisal that will have to be made of building and expansion plans for schools and universities.

"Right now, this very day and minute," reports Big Doc Rynard, "It is compelling a quick re-thinking of hospital construction plans.

"Beds in the obstetrical wards are going unoccupied and are being assigned to other than maternity cases."

Big Drop

Look at the DBS figures:

Births in May down 5.6 per cent to 33,126.

Down 7.1 per cent to 164,385 for the first five months of the year.

Down 7.5 per cent last year to 419,000.

And this was the big drop, the start of the startling decline.

For only the year previous,

Death Blow to Body?

CITY QUITTING HEALTH BOARD

By A. H. MURPHY
Colonist City Hall Reporter

Mayor Toone announced Thursday that Victoria will withdraw from the Metropolitan Board of Health in six months.

This, in the opinion of knowledgeable City Hall observers, is the death blow to the district organization.

At the same time the mayor said that it was time a long, hard look was taken at the health services set-up with the idea that it might well be a function of the four-month-old capital region district board, formed specifically to integrate services common to the whole area.

The withdrawal was not unexpected. It culminates months of dissatisfaction on the part of the city with the whole metropolitan health board arrangement.

UNBALANCED COST

Not a little of this stems from the fact that maintenance of the service is costing Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt about $2 per capita while other participating municipalities (Saanich, Central Saanich, and Sidney) pay from 30 to 40 cents per capita.

School boards 61, 62, 63 and 64 share proportionately in the health services cost but to a much lesser degree than the urban municipalities, although they have equal voting privileges.

The board of health is about a $665,000-a-year operation of which the three urban municipalities contribute in the neighborhood of $300,000.

TACIT PACT?

Authority to give notice of withdrawal was placed in the mayor's hands at the last meeting of city council when a decision recently made in committee was ratified by aldermen.

Although no confirmation was available at City Hall Friday, it is understood that a tacit agreement for withdrawal has been made by all three urban municipalities and that action similar to that of Victoria can be expected from Esquimalt and Oak Bay.

If this takes place the metropolitan board is doomed, in the opinion of competent observers.

Polish Mob Hits U.S. Embassy

WARSAW (UPI)—More than 1,500 well-organized leftist demonstrators Thursday night stormed the U.S. embassy, smashed glass doors and windows and painted "Johnson Should Be Hanged" on an embassy display case.

The anti-Viet-Nam protest was so well planned the Polish documentary film service had a camera crew outside the modern, white stone embassy 30 minutes before the demonstration began.

U.S. Ambassador John Gronouski lodged a vigorous protest with the foreign office. Later he said, "This was a well-organized demonstration which obviously had the encouragement and sanction of certain elements of Polish authority."

VANCOUVER (UPI)—United States Consul-General Raymond Courtney ushered his staff of 25 employees through a maze of anti Viet Nam picketers outside the consulate Thursday following a bomb scare.

* * *

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve Quakers protesting against the recess taken by the U.S. Congress while North Viet Nam is under new bombing attacks were arrested Thursday when they refused to leave the Senate gallery.

More Fuel Destroyed

Bombers Renew Hanoi Oil Raids

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jet bombers smashed oil storage areas outside Hanoi Thursday for the second consecutive day, sending thousands of tons of fuel up in smoke. American ground forces in the south killed well over 300 Viet Cong with bombs, artillery, bullets and flame-throwers. (See story, Page 3.)

Troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division early Friday counted more than 300 bodies after one of the war's fiercest battles, a close-quarter engagement near the Cambodian border.

They chased the rest of a 1,200-man Viet Cong regiment into dense jungles.

U.S. military spokesmen said the Viet Cong body count would rise much higher as the infantrymen advanced. Only sporadic contact was made by the Americans during the night.

The fighting took place about 60 miles north of Saigon, and American pilots estimated well over 200 Viet Cong were killed in air strikes alone.

The stepped-up pace of the war was reflected in the announcement that 131 American servicemen were killed, 755 others wounded and seven listed as missing or prisoners in the week ending last Saturday. The Communists in the same week lost 1,125 men killed and 204 captured.

BACK AGAIN

While worldwide controversy continued to rage following Wednesday's massive air raids to the very edge of Hanoi and Haiphong, U.S. Air Force and navy planes returned to smash three more petroleum storage areas in the Hanoi area.

American jets also bombed a radar ground control intercept site near Hanoi Thursday, "obliterating" the installation with its five mobile radar vans, three stationary radar units and 16 buildings.

China Calls Raids Serious Escalation

HONG KONG (Reuters)—China said today U.S. bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong is a serious escalation of the Viet Nam War and warned it would lead America one step nearer the grave, Radio Peking reported.

The warning was contained in an article in the People's Daily by Observer, generally regarded as the pen-name of a high Chinese official.

He said the United States was trying to force the Vietnamese people into surrender through bombing which had the co-operation of the Soviet authorities.

But the Vietnamese people would not be forced into submission and the Chinese would support their struggle through to the end.

Paving May Be Done in Summer

PORT ALBERNI — Long-awaited reconstruction of the city's main traffic stem, along Third Ave. from Dunbar to Redford, and on Redford from 10th to 17th, may be undertaken this summer, according to a letter received by city council from the district superintendent of highways in Nanaimo.

A letter will be sent off confirming the city's intention of sharing the cost of curbs and gutters with the provincial highways department on a 50-50 basis so that work may begin as soon as highways department men and machines are available.

At the council meeting, Mayor Les Hammer also reported that the band of the HMCS Naden will be on hand for the opening of the fall fair and it is hoped a navy vessel will also be in port for the event.

Congratulations were extended by the Mayor and council to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whipp, 203 6th Ave. South. The elderly couple, now in their 80s, will celebrate their 63rd wedding anniversary July 4.

Another old-timer, Mah Fat, who has operated a store in Port Alberni since the 1930s, left the city last week to make his home in Edmonton. Prior to leaving, the old gentleman, now 91, was driven to the city hall by Mayor Hammer to sign his name in the official guest book. "Henry," as he was known to hundreds, came to Vancouver Island in 1895 and became known to white men, native Indians and his fellow Orientals for his help to those down on their luck, whether or not he had any hope of repayment.

The good wishes of his fellow citizens were expressed "by Mayor Hammer for Henry's continuing good health in his new home.

Commissioners Honor Reid

PORT ALBERNI — Waterfront workers, businessmen, civic officials, members of the Harbor Commission staff and commissioners recently joined in a tribute to H. K. Hughie Reid at a reception in the Beaufort Hotel's Chandelier Room.

Mr. Reid, who has lived in the valley since the early 1920s is retiring from the Port Alberni Harbor Commission on which he has served for several years.

The other two commissioners, Chairman Dennis O'Brien, and Bryce Blake, of Alberni Engineering, both paid tribute to Mr. Reid's long and helpful service to the harbor and those who use it.

Mr. Reid, was termed "A specialist in marine construction whose sound advise and technical knowledge had been ine-timable value to the Harbor Commission."

An enviable war record in both 1914-1918 and in the Second World War, plus a long pattern of interest in civic, youth and sports affairs, have made a host of friends both young and old for Mr. Reid.

Commenting on achievements of the Harbor Commission during the time of Mr. Reid's service Bryce Blake outlined the work of a commission, and pointed to the tremendous growth of the Port Alberni facilities since formation of the Harbor Commission in 1947.

"In that year, 97 ships loaded in the harbor here. In 1966, we are already pushing the 400 mark, in the first half of the year."

In addition, ships today are bigger than those of 19 years ago. Mr. Blake commented, citing as an example the Robert Stove, huge lumber carrier in port recently, which can take 17,000,000 board feet of packed lumber at one time.

Reviewing the past three years of work by the Harbor Commissioners, Mr. Blake showed $395,000 had been spent from monies collected by the commission, to improve the waterfront here.

These projects, all undertaken during Mr. Reid's last three year term, included improvements to local floats, parking lots and ramps, at a cost of $11,900. Making necessary extensions to the assembly dock to a length of 1,050 feet, at a cost of $125,000. Creating a small marina at the assembly dock, $17,000. The breakwater at the fisherman's floats $3,000. A new storage shed, with 6,000 square feet of storage, $10,000. New shed at the assembly dock, which includes a lunch-room for dock workers, a watchman shed, machine shed, at a cost of $47,000. New approach to the assembly dock, including a large amount of fill required, $60,000. Scow berth and facilities for tying up, $30,000 on general maintenance of the harbor, repairs, lighting and other continuing needs.

And there's more still to come, Mr. Bryce stated. In conjunction with the Twin Cities, public boat-launching facilities will be increased from one slip to three. The China Creek boat basin will be dredged and a float and mooring facilities built at a cost of about $30,000, so the park area there may be fully opened up.

Work on the fishermen's floats and dredging in front of the assembly wharf are two more jobs that must be done.

The dredging to a depth of 25 feet would make it possible for even larger vessels to use the busy harbor, Mr. Blake stated, and with ships getting continually longer and deeper, the commissioners were very pleased with this development of harbor facilities.

"I can only see progress in this harbor" Mr. Blake concluded. Mr. Reid was presented with an electric shaver by his friends in the harbor commissioners office, and said he plans to spend his retirement in the Alberni Valley.

He hopes to enjoy fishing in the trout pools which will become more readily accessible when the dredging and mooring facilities, promised by the Harbor Commissioners at China Creek Delta are completed.

Small Fish Costly

NANAIMO — Two Nanaimo men were fined $60 in magistrate's court Thursday for possessing undersized spring salmon.

Gordon Ainsworth, 43, and Allan McKenzie, 24, were checked by fisheries officer Jack Ellis at the dock, where they admitted ownership of six fish under the two and a half pound limit.

Magistrate Eric Winch fined the men $10 for each fish.

John Doucette Gellant, 45, of New Westminster, was given a six-month suspended sentence for fraudulently obtaining lodging.

He was ordered to make restitution of $70.90 to the Malaspina Hotel, the Tideview Motel and Nanaimo Travelodge.

Gellant was also ordered to post a $100 recognizance bond.

Wallace Earl Mathias, 20, of Nanaimo, was fined $35 for being a minor in possession of beer.

Nature Class Planned

COURTENAY — Courtenay Recreation Association is to inaugurate a nature painting class July 12 which will feature nature appreciation, instruction on drawing and painting flora, recognition of plants and to help young artists in techniques of recording nature in art.

The course will be for the beginner as well as more advanced artists and will begin with black and white progressing through oilettes and water colors to oil painting for those interested.

The CFA Hall is to be used in the event of bad weather but otherwise trips will be planned for the beach, the river bank and possibly into the hills.

The classes will be taught painting by commercial artist Bob Gibson.

Clinic Needs Donors

Population Increase Brings New Quota

NANAIMO — The Red Cross blood donor clinic here is looking for 750 new donors to meet Nanaimo's new quota of 1,500 pints.

A clinic will be held at the Legion Auditorium on Wallace Street on July 6, 7 and 8.

Fred Cooper, chairman of the blood donor committee, said Wednesday "increased population of our area, coupled with the increasing use of blood in life saving techniques, continues to call for a greater number of blood donors."

Anyone 18 and over up to age 65 is eligible to donate blood, providing they haven't a history of jaundice, cancer, heart trouble, TB or rheumatic fever. There are two trophies up for competition among organization with 20 or more on staff.

The Nanaimo Realty trophy is presented for greatest number of people attending the clinic in any one organization. While the Junior Chamber of Commerce trophy goes to the greatest percentage attendance when compared to those eligible.

Mr. Cooper pointed out its easier for the large organization to win the Realty Trophy, but the smaller one have a better chance of winning the Jaycee Trophy because it is easier for them to ensure a high percentage of their staff turns out.

Lake Request Brings Action

LAKE COWICHAN — Chamber of Commerce members heard Tuesday their request to B.C. Forest Products, Crofton, for a speed up in passing boats through the lock gates at the foot of the lake, had been successful.

A letter stated company engineers agreed it could be done in half the time, but necessary mechanical changes may take some time to put into effect.

Since the Crofton pulp mill has been using water from Cowichan River, the outflow from the lake has been controlled by a dam, with a lock provided for boats passing from river to lake when the water is low.

The superintendent for highways thanked the chamber for drawing attention to the need for a road sign indicating Cowichan Lake at the junction of Sherman Road and Trans-Canada Highway. It will be installed forthwith.

Teacher R. Richardson spoke to the meeting on the junior achievement scheme of business procedure training in some high schools with success.

Many Attend Jack Farewell

NANAIMO — More than 150 people attended a farewell party for Rev. Chris Jack and his family Monday night at St. Andrew's United Church Hall.

Rev. Jack, after many years as minister at St. Andrew's left this week for a new charge at New Westminster.

Among those paying tribute to Rev. Jack were Mayor Pete Maffeo, Dave Stupich, MLA for Nanaimo and the Islands; Rev. Don Lewis, Ladysmith, president of the Nanaimo-Comox Presbytery, Rev. Harry Emery, president of the Nanaimo Ministerial Association, and Ron MacIsaac on behalf of the Roman Catholic Church and local service clubs.

'Parents Need Details'

NANAIMO — A Foster Parent's Association is now in operation for the area from Nanaimo to Ladysmith, Mrs. Grace Wilkinson of Cedar told a group of foster parents and members of the public.

She said the association was formed three months ago and is one of 15 that have been formed in the province during the past year.

"Until recently foster parents had worked alone, never meeting others.

"Now we can get a broader understanding of work that is being done, and instead of the social worker explaining something 15 times to 15 different parents, it can be explained once."

Mrs. Wilkinson, the Association's president, said she believed the association was proving a success, but "it's one of those things people have to think about first. They're springing up all over the province though."

Most of the meeting at the health unit was spent on delegates reporting on the first Foster Parent's Conference held in B.C. which took place recently in Vancouver.

Mrs. Margaret McGougan, a social worker who attended the conference, said social workers were asked to stay in the background.

She listed two points brought home to workers by the foster parents.

Many problems could be avoided if more details of the children are given to the foster parents, she said, and regular visits from the welfare worker are needed especially with older children.

Chairman for the meeting was Mrs. Alma Weston.

Drill Hall Bought

ALBERNI — The Army Drill Hall, long sought by both city councils for the use of various groups, including cadets and the Fall Fair committee, will soon belong to the Twin Cities.

It has been decided the two cities will take up their right to purchase at a price equal to the highest bid received for the property by Crown Assets. The Drill Hall and two adjacent buildings will be bought for the sum of $10,100.

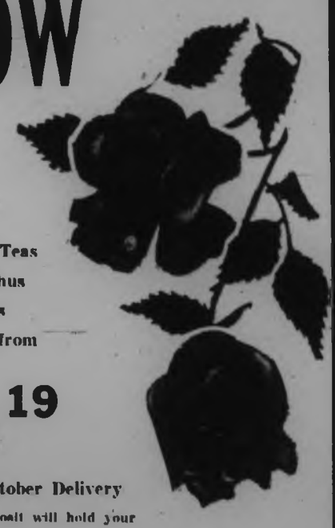

Cost of the hall, which is used annually for the valley's Fall Fair, as well as for Army Cadets, various sporting events, displays and exhibitions, will be split 50-50 between the two cities.

Saanich Ice Needed But Voters Decide

By RAY KERR

Saanich is heading for the Ice Age, and about time.

That was the gist of Thursday's noon luncheon meeting of the newly-formed Saanich Minor Hockey Association at Red Lion Inn.

Speakers like Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis and Coun. Ed Lum, chairman of parks and recreation, emphasized that council is convinced of Saanich's need for an arena ... or a recreational complex including an arena.

Reeve Curtis said Saanich council recognizes the "urgent need" for ice facilities.

He said council will be talking to experts on arenas through this summer and fall, with a referendum expected to be put to the people in December elections.

Too Long

"We have been riding on the shoulders of other municipalities ... Esquimalt, for example ... for too long," the reeve said.

Lum said the recreation department recognizes the need, and not only for ice, "but for facilities which will be useful to older citizens."

He agreed with Reeve Curtis about the December referendum aim, and pointed out that work has to be done on two levels before the referendum is ready.

● Parks and recreation officials will be interviewing all interested parties and organizations.

● Council will be pursuing the engineering aspects of the project, contacting people in charge of community centres in other B.C. municipalities, and correlating all information.

Lum said he favors a major facility which would cater to every age group.

He said he would support any move that would have such a facility provided in Saanich, but again emphasized that the needs of senior citizens "have to be recognized."

Or Complex

The choice, he said, is between an arena and a sports complex, which would include ice facilities.

Lum said he had no doubt these facilities would be filled.

Keith Lawrence, president of the minor hockey association, said the Saanich group was formed so the league will be able to function as soon as an ice surface is built in Saanich.

"Until then we don't plan to register any players, but we know there are about 500 Saanich boys playing in the Victoria and Esquimalt leagues."

Lawrence figures the league will have about 700 minor hockey players for the start.

"We'll try to raise funds for the association to be used for equipping the boys and get them playing as soon as possible after a rink is built," said Lawrence in explaining the purpose of Thursday's luncheon, which turned out to be a financial success.

Lawrence was "very pleased," and pointed out there were a lot of people who bought tickets but didn't attend.

New Arenas

Ivan Temple, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Hockey Association, appeared pleased at the new development, but pointed out that "Saanich should've had ice long ago."

He said there are six new arenas being built on the mainland this year, to bring the mainland total to 25. He also reminded that Cowichan has voted overwhelmingly in favor of an arena, to be built soon.

"We have 17,000 minor hockey players registered in British Columbia, and we hope to add Saanich to this total," he said.

Andy Hebenton, starry right winger with Victoria Maple Leafs, said he'd been away from Garden City for a few years and hadn't been able to do much here on the hockey front.

"But I have to try and help — my wife is getting tired of getting up at 5 or 6 in the morning."

Hebenton, one of pro hockey's "ironmen," urged everyone to support not only one ice surface for Saanich, "because we'll need more than one."

Joe Iannarelli, manager of Esquimalt sports centre, said he's ready to give any help required.

Joe recalled how he came to Victoria in 1961 and helped open the Esquimalt centre.

"At that time I commented that it would be nice to have one in Saanich and another in Oak Bay," he recalled.

"And everyone looked at me like I had holes in my head.

"I'm remembering that now," he said.

Iannarelli cautioned those interested in minor hockey to avoid "pampering the kids. Unfortunately, there's a lot of this going on in our area."

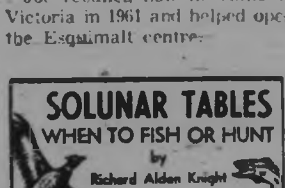

He said boys should be taking care of equipment, and doing other chores, instead of having coaches and managers saddled with the work.

"We should place more responsibility on players' shoulders," he said.

Jack Morgan, manager of Memorial Arena, said he was glad Saanich council recognizes the need for ice facilities.

"You've established the need. Now it's important to try and speed up the work on what sort of facilities will be built and where to put the building.

"The quicker the site is decided on the better it will be."

Cassius Knows No Bounds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay solemnly revealed in a press conference Wednesday that he was not only the World Champion but the Universal Champion.

After announcing that 560,000 people would watch his next two fights in person and on television, Clay added that he was not counting visitors from outer space who buzz down to watch him in action.

"Don't laugh," Clay said with a serious expression. "I know they're out there, and I know who they are. They come to see me when I had my fight in Toronto and the trouble in Chicago. There was even one seen in Lewiston, Maine, at the exact time I was fighting. Check the reports, and you'll see that I'm right."

"Some people think it's swamp fire or something, but it's flying saucers."

Nobody bets against top-weighted Arkle

Irish Wonder Horse Wows Europe

DUBLIN (CNS) — "Philosophers and theologians tell us that man is a superior being, but sometimes when you think of a horse like Arkle, and then you think of some of the people you know, you begin to wonder."

Charles Haughey, The Irish minister for agriculture and fisheries, was speaking in London recently when the owner of Arkle, Ireland's "wonder horse" and possibly the greatest steeplechaser ever, again received the trophy for "Racehorse of the Year."

Arkle was bought for a mere $3,500 in August 1960 by Anne, Duchess of Westminster. Twenty-three wins in 25 races has resulted in $200,000 in prize money, more than any other horse in Europe.

The result of his races is such a foregone conclusion that the odds make betting on him pointless. He always carries the maximum weight.

Arkle's success is Ireland's pride. Bloodstock exports now are worth about $12 million a year. Ireland's racing and breeding prestige is going up in every country with the help of horses like Arkle.

NO PROBLEM

Arkle is trained by Tom Dreaper at Kilsallaghan, County Dublin. The stables are a place of pilgrimage for thousands of Arkle fans. Foreign letters to "Arkle, Ireland" reach there with ease.

The Dreapers have had to curtail visiting to fixed hours because it upsets the day-to-day work in the stables and disturbs Arkle's training.

STOUT AND EGGS

Arkle meets the visitors himself. If several lumps of sugar are not produced at once, he sniffs at the visitor's pockets until he finds them. Arkle has no special diet but likes a few bottles of stout and four or five eggs a day.

Pat Taaffe, 36, a slim six-footer, is Arkle's jockey in all the big races. Taaffe believes that Arkle, still only nine years old and not yet past his peak, will continue to dominate the racing world. His only fear is that the winning will become monotonous and other horses will not compete.

GOES FOR SIX

Arkle has won the Cheltenham Gold Cup three years in a row, and barring accidents, he should make it a record six.

Arkle-mania runs high, even among the nonracing public. His successes, often by as much as 30 lengths, make a front-page story in all newspapers.

Enthusiasts are urging that a permanent memorial be erected to the horse at the end of his career, and that he be honored by a special postage stamp. In 1965 some newsmen wanted to name Arkle "sports personality" of the year.

It is unlikely that Arkle will ever run in the Liverpool Grand National. The risk of injury from loose or falling horses in such a big field would be too great, and the loss to Ireland too serious.

But Arkle is not the only Dreaper attraction. His stable companion, Flyingbolt, two years younger, is mirroring his successes with equally predictable regularity. It is even suggested by some that Flyingbolt is the better horse. They have never raced together and Flyingbolt has not yet run in the Cheltenham Gold Cup.

Taaffe also rides Flyingbolt. He says that he will retire with him.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A two-goal effort in the second half by Wayne Shuttleworth propelled New Westminster Salmonbellies to a tight, 8-7, upset over league-leading Coquitlam Thursday night in an Inter-city Lacrosse League game.

New Westminster now is six points behind Coquitlam. The teams meet again Saturday in Coquitlam.

Coquitlam trailed through much of the first half but rallied to a 4-4 halftime draw only to see New Westminster pull ahead again in the second half.

Salmonbellies held an 8-4 lead going into the final 15 minutes and only some brilliant goal work by Les Norman gave New Westminster the win.

Mike Gates scored three of the Coquitlam goals. Marty Jordan, with two, and Bill Bradley and Ron Bodner scored the others. Dave Tory, Mac Tyler, Ron Loftus, Bill Wilkes, Ron Flaten and Jack Bionda scored the other New Westminster goals.

Look at Little Luis

Baltimore Finds Missing Muscle

Baltimore Orioles used to be known as one of those all-pitch, no-hit clubs.

But that was before Frank Robinson joined Brooks Robinson, creating the most murderous slugging combination in the American League.

The two have done their share to keep Baltimore on top, but others are beginning to join in as well.

Like shortstop Luis Aparicio, who already has 14 home runs and is hitting the ball as if he was Willie Mays' No. 1 pupil.

Aparicio, who hit only eight homers all last season, had another feast Thursday as Baltimore bombed Kansas City Athletics, 11-3.

The Orioles gave an indication of things to come in the opening inning, when they scored three runs on five hits off starting pitcher Ralph Terry.

Included in the barrage were doubles by Aparicio and Frank Robinson.

Aparicio's single drove in two more runs in the fourth inning.

And in the eighth inning, another five-run uprising featured a double by Aparicio.

TWINS BLANKED

Cleveland Indians remained 5½ games behind, in third place, by blanking the hot-and-cold Minnesota Twins, 4-0.

Cleveland's stars were Fred Whitfield, who drove in three runs with a two-run homer and single, and Steve Hargan, who pitched a seven-hitter.

While the weak-hitting Orioles suddenly have found muscle, the opposite is true of the San Francisco Giants, National League leaders.

PITCHING FOUND

They have found the pitching. Some of it has been provided by Juan Marichal, who has a 13-3 record.

But his performance was more or less expected.

Gaylord Perry's wasn't, not after he posted an 8-12 record last season.

After he beat Atlanta Braves, 3-1, Thursday, Perry's 1966 record stood at 11-1.

And that's merely tops in the majors, percentage-wise.

SIX STRAIGHT

The triumph was Perry's sixth straight and the first of his career against the Braves. He had 12 strikeouts and allowed seven hits.

The Giants failed to gain, however. The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates remained three games behind by walloping Houston Astros, 9-0. Vernon Law pitched a six-hitter.

B. W. Cheeks Given Chop

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Lions of the Western Football Conference have released B. W. Cheeks, a highly touted offensive halfback from Texas.

Cheeks, a free agent, was signed in February. Last year he led the North American Football League in rushing and was named to the all-star team.

Lions' coach Dave Skrien, after watching Cheeks during the past three days of the Lions' rookie camp, said simply:

"We have better backs on the team."

Junior Tennis Tourney Starts

The annual Pacific junior tennis championships will be held this weekend at Victoria Racquet Club.

Some 50 young tennis players from the Mainland are scheduled to play in the tourney.

Also competing in the tournament, which starts at 11 a.m. today, will be youthful players from Victoria and other Island centres, and a group of Alberta guests.

The local contingent will be led by Theodora Booker and Roger Skillings, who won under-16 Canadian titles last year.

Play will continue Saturday and Sunday, starting at 9 a.m. Finals are scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Thursday's scores: Victoria Juniors 10 at Alberni 7, Nanaimo Seniors 8 at Red Lions 6.
Next games: Saturday, Red Lions vs. Victoria Juniors at Memorial Arena; Nanaimo Seniors vs. Nanaimo Juniors at Nanaimo.

The two Victoria teams in the Island Senior "B" softball league split Thursday.

While Nanaimo Seniors were defeating Red Lion Inn, 8-6, at Memorial Arena, Victoria Junior Shamrocks were handing last-place Alberni its seventh consecutive loss in Alberni, 10-7.

The win left the Baby Rocks and Nanaimo Seniors tied for first place, with the Juniors having a game in hand. They face Red Lions at Memorial Arena Saturday night.

Vern Black, Tom Churchill, Jindy Johl and Muzz Bryant had two goals each to pace the Baby Shamrocks. Alberni's top snipers were B. Gilmore with three goals and B. Van Horne with two.

Small Loggers View Bleak Future:

'Sure They Earn It, But We Can't Pay It!'

H. F. Rea

Locomotive crosses track on low-bed

Small logging operators on Vancouver Island are looking to a black future following acceptance of the Nemetz formula by IWA and Forest Industrial Relations.

Some small operators are reported to have refused to sign the contract.

FIR spokesman John Billings said some of the small men will be forced out of business.

Jack Roach of Roac Logging Company, Cowichan Lake area, said, "It might shut us down. It depends on a lot of things."

IT WILL HURT

He said, "It will hurt us this year, and it will be worse next year."

He said it is not so much the wage increase as other items in the new master agreement.

His company employs between 17 and 30 men.

PUSH COMES

J. W. Arden, operator of a 12-man float camp on the Alberni Canal, said, "We'll be pushed about as hard as we can be pushed. It's going to hit us real hard.

"It makes you wonder why anyone wants to go back into the hills to try to make an independent living."

OVER BRINK

In Mr. Arden's estimation, it's the problem of increased wages added to excessive stumpage rates that could force some small operations over the brink financial ruin.

Wages in his camp are already above the new contract, as they are in many other out-of-town operations.

WE PAY MORE

"We have always paid above the usual rate to get men to come and work in rough terrain away from town."

Mike Andrews, who operated a 24-man camp on an inlet midway between Port Alberni and Ucluelet, agreed.

PAY MORE

However, he said, "The men earn every penny of their wage boost in the woods. I pay $2 to $2.50 a day more than set rates, plus a 2 cent a log bonus to encourage workers to stay in our isolated camp."

He said the men work 19 days on, four off, they must come in and out by plane, and "we've got to have the best men to compete."

SEASONAL

He said, "Besides that, it's seasonal work.

"We've been paying wages as high as this all along, and we'll have to boost them again.

"But in return we will certainly strive to hire the best quality men. We can't afford to put up with just anyone who calls himself a logger."

LIVE IN CAMPS

Mr. Andrews said the men earn their money because they must live in camps, pay board, and in most cases maintain a home and family elsewhere.

He said, "Today's small operators have little incentive to grow larger.

"Small operators can't spread out because they are on a quota system. The only way they can expand is by contracting to one of the big companies, who want us to work for less than the big firms are willing to work for."

Several small operators said they thought the government had highballed the contract through. They said many areas that should have been discussed were passed over.

BOARD VITAL

Board, for instance, is of prime importance to the small operator. Rates for men living in camps are usually $2.50 a day; unchanged since 1947.

This has little effect on the big companies. "They replace them with instant towns, travel time, and family quarters.

COOKHOUSE

"In our small camp it costs $3 per man, per day for kitchen labor costs without considering groceries, the cookhouse or its equipment."

Stumpage rates, bother the small operators, especially those working in the smaller areas where much of what they cut is only good for pulp.

The government sanctioned this contract, and they'll have to make some adjustment in other areas to offset it," was the feeling of many operators.

"Even MacMillan Bloedel can't afford too much government stumpage," one long-time logger explained.

PRIVATE TIMBER

"They and other large companies usually have a good deal of private timber, bought years ago. Small loggers have no private timber at all, only a quota in a Public Working Circle, on which a government assessment is made."

An operator has the right to complain if he feels the assessment is too high, but it is seldom reduced.

ACCIDENTS COSTLY

"They don't seem to realize a single accident can cost an operator thousands, or that when you're working in marginal logging shows, it is almost impossible to figure costs ahead of time."

Ken MacKenzie of Mars Contracting, said, "This won't effect us directly, but it could shut operators subject to a lot of travel time.

TOUGH NEGOTIATION

"It's not portal-to-portal-pay yet, but the handwriting is on the wall."

He foresaw great future difficulty negotiating profitable contracts with the big companies.

DAYLIGHT

He said eventually the travel time issue will lead to a seven-day week.

"They can't push logging except in daylight hours. They will have to push mill production around the clock to make up profits," he said.

The small operators said the public has no idea how many ways these loggers are taxed.

"Sometimes I wonder if the various government taxation departments know. They charge us stumpage, a tax on every mile of logging road, a tax on every bridge more than 30 feet long, a tax for use of water for our float camps, a tax for use of water for booming our logs," said Mr. Andrews.

He said, "For the big operator the tax on five acres of water for booming ground is not too bad, but for the man who only puts out two or three million feet of lumber a year, it can add 25 cents a thousand to his cost."

To top it off, operators claim they are not getting the same price today that they did last year.

They said a large surplus of cedar exists. The chief reasons most operators don't quit and go back working for wages is because, Mr. Arden said, "we have too much tied up to pull out."

Locic Takes Jaunt

DEERHOLME — Last of the locomotives at the Gerald Welburn home lot for the Cowichan Forest Museum, Tuesday.

Mr. Welburn supervised the move and his family was on hand to see the old favorite leave.

W. A. Brown and his crew transported the 40-ton engine on a low-bed truck.

Old One Spot, as it was known, was the first logging locomotive brought to Vancouver Island by Bloedel Logging Company.

Built in the United States, it is a wood-burning, three-cylinder, gear-driven engine, capable of tremendous power on the grades.

It has been operating on Mr. Welburn's railway until recent years.

At the Forest Museum it will be on display at the entrance, alongside the Trans-Canada Highway north of Duncan.

Starters' List Shows Two Have Irish Chance

The final list of starters for Saturday's Irish Derby in Dublin, published last night, shows only two Vancouver Islanders have a chance at the $150,000 first prize in the Irish sweepstakes.

Both are unidentified. A Victorian using the nom-de-plume Menedy holds ticket JKD 04393 on the horse Aleiglide and a Ladysmith cowboy known only as Cowboy has ticket JCM 07319 on Drumlane.

Horses drawn by Wilma Tashdjian of 1726 Kingsberry in Saanich, "Lucky Jim" of Victoria and "Third Time Charm" of Wellington were not on the list. These ticket holders will receive consolation prizes of $1,300 each.

Celebration Spirit Marks Dominion Day

July 1 weekend will be coupled with centennial celebrations to produce fun for Island residents.

Starting today a series of sports, water shows and parades will highlight weekend activities.

Here are some events:

● Festivities at Chemainus start 9 a.m. today with junior sports at the ball park, closing July 3 with a western horsemen's show and gymkhana at the horsemen's corral on River Road.

Friday — parade 11 a.m.; crowning of the queen, 1:30 p.m. and various activities on Willow Street at 7 p.m.

Saturday — junior fishing derby at Fuller's Lake, 9 a.m. and big western dance at the horsemen's corral, 8 p.m.

Sunday — western breakfast at Bob Lee's River Road ranch at 7:10 a.m. and western horsemen show from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

● In Duncan, the Art Mann Kin Park, Quamichan Lake will be the scene of a Kinanza Jamboree following a parade through downtown Duncan which will start at 1 p.m.

The various activities at Art Mann Kin Park sponsored by the Duncan Kinsmen in co-operation with the Duncan Teen Town will be: Performances by the Serfs and the Mill Bay Squarenaders at 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. respectively; a show by the Victoria water ski club, at 2:30 p.m.

Other highlights of the afternoon and evening will be vocalist Murry McAlphine's performance at 6:30 p.m. and the Indian canoe races at 7 p.m.

A two-day horse show at the Cowichan Exhibition grounds, Friday and Saturday, will be another holiday feature at Duncan.

● Early risers in Campbell River this morning saw the start of the marathon canoe race near Strathcona Lodge.

Fishermen in the annual Jaycee salmon derby can enter anytime until 4 p.m.

● Seventeen-year-old beauty Jessie Nakatsu, Port Albion, reigns over Dominion Day celebrations at Ucluelet today.

Princesses are Ellen MacLeod, Tofino, and Roberta Cootes, Ucluelet East.

Hospital Costs Bring More Fire

DUNCAN — King's Daughters Hospital board learned at its Wednesday night meeting Colin Cameron, MP for Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands, will raise again in the House of Commons the problem of inadequate federal grants towards construction costs of hospitals.

Local hospital administrator Ken Noton said "Along with other hospital boards in British Columbia, King's Daughters Hospital is pressing for the revision of this federal grant owing to extraordinary increases of costs since the grant was last changed in 1959."

He said the grant of $2,000 a bed is inadequate now. With sincere regret the hospital board received the resignation of board vice-chairman Elaine Dobbyn. Board chairman Claude Green described her "as a pillar of the hospital board for many years."

The board also:

Received $1,500 from Duncan Rotary for the furnishing of the emergency department at the new hospital.

Learned Smith Bros. and Wilson will sponsor a day room in that hospital;

Was told of several other donations for the King's Daughters Hospital and the new Cowichan District Hospital including a projector and screen from the Cowichan Valley Film Council, $220 worth of equipment from the senior auxiliary, $200 from the Mesachie Lake Women's Club, $75 for a special rocking chair from Lake Cowichan Nurses' Association, and some furniture for the fathers' waiting room at the new hospital from the Looking Out Circle of King's Daughters.

Workers Win 40 Cents

PORT ALBERNI — A new wage agreement will give outside workers in the Twin Cities 40 cents more over two years.

Employees will get the first 20 cents retroactive to Feb. 16, and the second 20 cents next Feb. 16.

There were 65 workers involved.

BOARD CANCELLED

Tradesmen will have a base rate of $3.05.

A conciliation board was to hear both parties, but was cancelled when the cities and workers reached agreement.

Members voted 88.9 per cent in favor. Council approval is almost assured.

SICK LEAVE

The contract gives 60 days accumulative sick leave at full pay, and civic workers will have four weeks holiday after 15 years service, three weeks holiday after 5 years service. Retaining is offered in the event of technical change, with severance pay allotments if retraining is not feasible.

A clause will also be in effect assuring employees are not required to cross legal picket lines.

NO STRIKE

Settlement of the wage dispute will ease the minds of Valley residents who feared they might find themselves in a situation comparable to the recent garbage and maintenance difficulties experienced in Vancouver.

Ex-Mayor Loran Jordon, IWA president, Walter Allen, and retired Admiral R. Mainguy were to have served on the board, which was set up when it appeared no meeting ground was possible.

Morton Hopes:

New Hall This Year

NORTH COWICHAN — Reeve Donald Morton said he hopes construction of a new municipal hall will start this year.

He said the need for a new hall is constantly increasing.

Council has purchased 13 acres of land adjacent to the municipal shops, about three miles north of Duncan.

COST NOT KNOWN

The reeve did not disclose the estimated cost of the proposed municipal hall.

He said, "we will need, as soon as we have room, a full-time engineering staff and we could give much better service if we had room for maps, land records and files of every description."

The reeve stressed more clerical staff is also needed but it would be impossible to hire anyone now because the present municipal hall is already overcrowded.

POSTCARDS

He said, "I have received some printed postcards protesting the building of a municipal hall at the proposed site, but on the other hand we have two northern ratepayers associations approving it, even though it is three-quarters of the way from the northern boundary."

The reeve expressed his hope that "the majority of the ratepayers will go along with the council on the recreation program, municipal hall, improvement of zoning, sewer installation and other future projects, providing we give full explanation and information of what we are trying to do."

Water Board Expropriates Private Land

NANAIMO — Eight and a half acres of land belonging to Lantzville Holding Ltd. has been expropriated by the Greater Nanaimo Water Board.

An artesian well is situated on the land which supplies 250 gallons of water per minute to homes at Lantzville, 12 miles north of Nanaimo.

An official of the Public Utilities Commission in Victoria confirmed Thursday that expropriation has taken place.

He said the water board's lawyer had pointed out in a letter the PUC has no jurisdiction in the matter, and all that is required is for the board to pass a resolution to make the expropriation effective.

He refused further comment, but added "If Lantzville Holdings wanted to sell its water rights to anyone, the PUC must consider consumers at Lantzville."

Rudy Geissler, secretary treasurer of the Lantzville Fire Protection District, said district trustees "will probably issue a strong protest.

"If they take over the well, what about future development of Lantzville?"

Lantzville Holdings is a privately-owned company, not in the Greater Nanaimo Water District.

It supplies 94 Lantzville users, not including a new 23-lot subdivision presently under construction.

Water Board Chairman Rod Glen said the water would be used to supplement supplies for the Wellington and Departure Bay.

Both these districts have sprinkling regulations in effect.

Mr. Glen said "Indications are that Wellington and Departure Bay will likely be chronically short of water during the hot summer months."

Meanwhile Mr. Geissler maintained a $83,000 pipeline would be needed to take the water from the former Lantzville Holdings property to the two areas in need.

"This doesn't make sense for the number of users they have.

"The shortage is for a two-month period, and the board could use of other methods to increase the supply," he added.

Kushner Again Heads Nanaimo Symphony

NANAIMO — Maurice Kushner, Nanaimo, was named as the new director of Nanaimo Symphony Orchestra.

He replaces Dr. Heinz Kilian of Duncan. Mr. Kushner was director several years ago, preceding John Getgood and Dr. Kilian.

Malcolm Corey was elected president at the annual meeting of the symphony. He succeeds Dennis Taylor.

Vice-president is Norman Henderson; treasurer, Dave Stupich; and secretaries, Corrie Wildman and Marion Watkins.

It was announced two concerts will be held during the coming season instead of the single performance last year.

Building Totals Increase

NANAIMO — During June 36 building permits were issued by city building inspector Ben Boers, totalling $312,110.

Major items included $210,000 for an addition to Woodlands Junior High, $62,000 permit for apartments on Millstone Avenue, and $23,000 for modernization and additions to Northview Esso.

This brings the total value of permits for the year to $1,322,854.

In 1965 June permits totalled $123,800 and the total for the first six months in 1965 was $939,540.

● In planning region No. 6, the unorganized areas around the Nanaimo, 27 permits in June totalled $251,847; the year's total is $4,205,583. Two school additions and 12 new residences made up the bulk of the month's permits.

Last June permits totalled $441,566 and in the first six months of 1965 the total was $2,306,427.

MOSCOW — Mrs. Boris Pasternak, 69, widow of the Nobel Prize-winning author of the novel Dr. Zhivago, has been cremated. She died of lung cancer in hospital. Pasternak was awarded the Nobel prize in 1958 but had to reject it under pressure of Soviet authorities, who denounced the view of Soviet life given in the book.

Free Swim Class List Revised

Here is the schedule of classes for Victoria children enrolled in the Colonist's 14th annual free swim school.

This year, 377 city youngsters have signed up for the series of eight weekly lessons, in which Margie Naysmith and her volunteer instructors will put them on equal terms with the water.

Classes begin Monday.

A list of the Duncan swim classes will appear in the Colonist Wednesday, July 6.

Gentle Missionary

Papal Decree To Honor 'Lousy Bishop'

By ANNE MASON

ST. ALBERT, Alta. (CP)—In his lifetime, Vital Justin Grandin was known and loved throughout Western Canada as "the lousy bishop."

The gentle Roman Catholic missionary, whose virtues were approved in May by the Vatican Congregation of Rites, earned the nickname when he slept on the floors of native tents or huts during a three-year trip into the Mackenzie Valley to organize the vicariate of Athabasca-Mackenzie.

The bishop, who died in this Edmonton suburb in 1902 at the age of 73, will shortly be declared venerable by papal decree. If two miracles can be officially credited to him, he may be beatified.

HUGE DIOCESE

Born into a large, poor family in the French village of St. Pierre-sur Orthe, Bishop Grandin never enjoyed good health from his childhood although he grew to a height of six-foot-two and was ruggedly built.

He joined the Oblate Missionaries of Mary Immaculate and was ordained at Marseille in 1854. He arrived at St. Boniface, Man., a few months later to minister to a diocese that stretched from the Arctic to the United States border and from the Lakehead to the Rockies.

For the next half century, Bishop Grandin travelled ceaselessly, establishing missions, schools and hospitals and preaching to the Indians and Eskimos.

OFTEN SLEPT OUTDOORS

"You just don't realize what it was like," says Rev. Emile Tardif, archivist of the order.

The most comfortable modes of travel were by primitive Red River cart, on horseback or by dogsled. But some journeys of hundreds of miles were on foot, or by snowshoes in winter, with a native guide.

If no shelter was available, they would sleep in the bush or a snowbank, wrapped tightly in animal skins. Canoes were used where possible but the frail craft frequently capsized in rough water.

BISHOP AT 28

At 28, when he had been in the field three years, the young missionary was created bishop of Satala and coadjutor to the bishop of St. Boniface.

When the news reached him by slow prairie mail six months later, he was overwhelmed and wrote his superiors that he was unworthy of the honor. But he was ordered back to Marseille and consecrated in 1859. Two years later, he began his trip into the Mackenzie and became l'eveque pouilleux — the bishop covered with vermin.

In 1871 he was created bishop of St. Albert, responsible for Alberta and much of Saskatchewan.

CONVERTED CHIEFS

He encouraged the nomadic Indians and Metis to settle and farm the land and converted some of the hostile Blackfoot tribe, including two chiefs, to Christianity after building the tribe a hospital and three schools, including the first industrial school in the West.

The bishop made several trips to France to recruit missionaries, church workers and settler and to raise funds. Many missionaries died by massacre, were drowned in floods or were frozen to death. Supplies were lost in swollen rivers, posts were destroyed by fire and frequent crop failures caused food shortages.

ALL VIRTUES

But the diocese eventually prospered. During Bishop Grandin's 31 years in St. Albert, he established 30 parishes with priests, 25 missions, two seminaries, 31 elementary schools, eight boarding schools, five hospitals and two orphanages. of the settlers from nearby Fort Fifty-two priests, 24 lay brothers and 136 nuns came to the diocese.

During the Riel rebellion of 1884-5, the bishop sheltered most Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan. St. Albert itself was not attacked.

First steps toward Bishop Grandin's canonization were taken in 1930, 28 years after his death, when a diocesan tribunal appointed by the bishop of Edmonton found that he practised all the virtues to a heroic degree. His cause was officially accepted in Rome in 1938.

Human Valves Best

Aortic Transplant 'Most Promising' Field of Surgery

By CARMAN CUMMING

TORONTO (CP) Frances Simon, 57, walked to the front of the lecture hall in Toronto General Hospital, sat down and looked around curiously.

The audience of the Ontario Heart Foundation looked back curiously. They saw an ordinary middle-aged woman; ordinary except that her heart beats because of a valve transplanted from another human being.

Dr. Wilfred G. Bigelow, who performed the operation, outlined Mrs. Simon's case history. He told how her heart had stopped beating and had been massaged back to life just before her operation last July 13.

'YES, HAPPY'

Then he turned to his patient and asked how she was feeling.

Mrs. Simon, who speaks little English, hesitated.

Dr. Bigelow repeated the question and then added: "Are you happy about it?"

Mrs. Simon understood suddenly and seized the doctor's left hand, kissing it. "Happy, yes, happy," she said.

Mrs. Simon is one of 12 patients who have received human aortic valves at the hands of Dr. Bigelow, head of the hospital's division of cardiovascular surgery.

Not all have lived. Dr. Bigelow declines to say exactly how many survived but he finds the new technique promising and hopes for a survival rate of more than 90 per cent in future.

PREFER HUMAN VALVES

At present only three North American centres are known to be performing the difficult operation: a Seattle clinic, the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and Toronto General.

Dr. Bigelow explained that human valves, if successfully implanted, have a longer lifetime than the plastic valves more widely used.

The plastic valves have a tendency to harden and to produce blood clots. Human valves remain pliable.

The technique of "homograft" valve transplantation actually was pioneered in Toronto a dozen years ago by Dr. Gordon Murray. Other leaders in the field have been Dr. Donald Ross of Britain and Dr. Brian Barratt-Boyce of New Zealand, who performed two operations here last November.

Dr. Bigelow, who has been performing the operation for more than a year, called it one aspect of the great advances being made in heart surgery.

"I don't think there's any area of biological studies that has expanded so fast," he said.

Sea-Peace Fight Growing

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of British seamen Thursday tackled mounting opposition to their back-to-work order, while shipping companies worked non-stop to sort out their schedules.

Officials of the National Union of Seamen travelled to the country's most militant ports to explain why the union executive Wednesday called off the strike from midnight Friday night.

Several branches refused to wait for the official explanation and passed angry resolutions condemning the executive's decision as a sell-out.

Harold Shepheard

Ottawa Post

Former commanding officer of destroyer escort HMCS St. Croix, Commander John Hertzberg, 750 Richmond, has been transferred to Ottawa to administrative staff of director general plans. He will be employed in section devoted to NATO European planning. He served as captain of St. Croix for two years.

Funeral service will be held Saturday for Harold Shepheard, 52, well-known sportsman in Victoria all his life.

Mr. Shepheard, who died Wednesday in Royal Jubilee Hospital, had been a printer for the Queen's Printers from 1942 up to the time of his death.

TIMES PRINTER

His first job had been as a printer for The Daily Times.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Shepheard was well-known in local bowling circles, was a keen golfer and basketball coach.

He was a member of the International Typographical Union and the Caledonian Society.

SURVIVORS

He is survived by his wife, Mae, 3921 Scolton; two sons, Gary and Richard, at home, and two daughters, Gayle, at home, and Lynne, a nurse in New Westminster; his mother, Mrs. Martha Shepheard, and two sisters, Mrs. Elaine Maddaford and Mrs. Dorothy Rodd, all of Victoria.

Arrangements are being made for the funeral by Thompson and Irving Funeral Chapel.

Priests, Sisters Warned Of Unnecessary Barriers

Roman Catholic priests and sisters need to get rid of many unnecessary barriers that separate them from lay Catholics and even from diocesan clergy, Bishop Remi J. De Roo told a gathering of them in Victoria on Wednesday.

Some Catholics have difficulty in understanding the role of religion in the church, he said. It accounts, in part, for the shortage of candidates for the religious life.

A Jesuit from Toronto, Rev. Elliott Mac Guigan, told the group that the church's superiors should update their thinking and renew their community way of life.

SYMPTOMATIC

He said too many sisters identify their way of life with "false peace . . . nice people . . . yes-women . . . playing for safety . . . a cosy community life." He said such ideas are symptomatic of much that is wrong today in the life of religious communities.

A French-Canadain priest told the gathering of superiors of Roman Catholic priests and sisters from Western Canada that the Catholic Church is not a museum. "When we live in the Church we do not need to be a century behind," he said.

Father Jean Tillard, a Dominican from Ottawa, summed up the purpose for which the superiors gathered.

NEW THINKING

Their purpose is to bring about a renewal of religious life in their different communities, he said, in line with the new thinking of the Roman Catholic Church.

The meeting was held in French and English. Discussions and talks switched from one language to the other but anyone deficient in the language being spoken could plug in a tiny earphone that carried simultaneous translation of the proceedings.

At the end of the day's sessions, one priest read the Epistle in French, another read the Gospel in English and, while celebrating Mass, Bishop De Roo prayed in Latin.

Bible School Next Week

A two - week vacation Bible school at Hill Memorial Seventh - day Adventist School, 1462 Hillside, begins Monday and will continue through July 14.

Supervised games, craft and nature study will be included in the classes from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each weekday. Bible study will be held on the topic God's Noble Heroes.

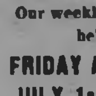

Primary and junior students will have a special work - book made up of puzzles, completion tests and other exercises. Certificates of achievement will be awarded to all youngsters completing the course.

ADDED FEATURE

Children between the ages of five and 13 are eligible and no charge will be made for instruction or handicraft materials. An added feature will be a choir of girls and boys aged seven to 14.

Mrs. Phyllis Berry and Mrs. Dorothy Spenst will conduct the choir and supervise the course.
